BULLETIN.

For county judge, 1,332 precincts out of 1,760 in Cook county give: Scully, 95,548; Northup, 78,323; Cunnea, 35,216; Prentiss, 16,669.

BULLETIN.

For president of the county board, 1,142 precincts out of 1,760 in Cook county, give: Reinberg, 88,304; McCormick, 52,963; Lloyd, 15,417; Gillespie, 642.

Incomplete returns at the hour of going to press indicate that the entire Democratic county ticket was elected yesterday by pluralities ranging from 25,000 to 65,000, with the exception of the county board members from the country towns.

It was a Democratic landslide, due to the division of the opposition vote. The Democrats apparently followed the slogan of their party chiefs and "voted her straight," while the other voters scratched their ballots.

Reinberg Leads Ticket.

Peter Reinberg for president of the county board leads his ticket, snowing under Alexander A. McCormick with an estimated plurality of 65,000.

Thomas F. Scully, candidate for County Judge, is low man on the ticket. He is the only Democratic candidate who appears to have been slashed in all sections of the city. His estimated plurality over John E. Northup is 25,000.

Incomplete returns indicate Democratic candidates for the offices for which women voted got twice as many women votes as the Republican candidates, their nearest opponents, and four times as many women votes as the Progressive party candidates.

The Progressive party ticket was a bad third, in some spots finishing way behind the Socialists in fourth place.

Division Aids Scully.

The division of the independent and Republican vote allowed Scully to slip through. He wins with a minority vote. The Northup, Prentiss, and Cunnea vote, if combined behind Northup, would have defeated Scully by several thousand.

As it was Prentiss, the Progressive candidate, was the worst beaten man on all the tickets of the three major parties, being outdistanced by Northup by a vote of five to one and by Scully with a vote of six to one.

Vote for Reinberg.

The big vote of Peter Reinberg for president of the county board is indicated in the following returns from 1,142 precincts out of 1,760 in the county:

Reinberg	88,304
McCormick	52,963
Lloyd	15,417
Gillespie	642

This ratio, if maintained throughout the missing precincts, would bring Reinberg's plurality up to about 65,000.

Vote for Judge.

For County judge 1,332 precincts out of 1,760 in the county give:

Scully	95,548
Northup	78,323
Cunnea	35,216
Prentiss	16,669

This ratio maintained to the end would give Scully about 25,000 plurality. Prentiss, the Progressive candidates, is shown running way behind Cunnea, the Socialist.

Vote Against Scully.

In the above table the Scully vote is shown as a minority of the total by 34,060. The total of the Scully and the opposition vote in these 1,332 precincts is:

Scully	95,548
Opposition	130,208

Early returns on the other candidates on the Democratic ticket disclosed an almost straight voting for the whole ticket, aside from Mr. Scully, who was slashed everywhere, and Roger Sullivan, who was boosted everywhere, along with Mr. Reinberg.

Six precincts, for instance, gave the

CUT MAJORITY OF DEMOCRATS IN CONGRESS

Elections Result in Reducing Control in the Lower House.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Although the Democrats retain control of congress by a small majority, the Republicans won a series of remarkable victories in the election throughout the country yesterday.

In the principal contests the Democrats were signally defeated. In many sections of the country the result represented a decided repudiation of the Democratic party.

In Illinois the Republicans regained control of the delegation in the house of representatives. Only half a dozen Democrats in the Illinois representation were crats of the present overwhelming majority reelected.

The contest over the senatorship is close with the Republicans claiming a victory for Sherman over Sullivan by a plurality of 20,000.

New York Routs Democrats.

In New York the Democrats were nearly snowed under. Whitman, Republican, defeated Glynn, Democrat, for the governorship by approximately 125,000. James W. Wadsworth Jr., Republican, defeated Ambassador Gerard, Democrat, for senator by 50,000.

In spite of the vigorous campaign made by Col. Roosevelt in behalf of the Progressive ticket, Bainbridge Colby, the Progressive senatorial candidate, polled only a fraction of the new party's vote in New York in 1912.

The Progressive candidate for governor, Davenport, also failed to command anywhere near the strength expected by the party leaders. Early returns put him in third place, with a prospect that the final figures will show his vote exceeded that cast for the "Same Old Bill" Sulzer who sought in an independent candidacy to regain the office from which he was ousted last year by the impeachment process.

Harding and Penrose Win.

There was an old-fashioned Republican victory in Ohio, where Warren G. Harding defeated Timothy Hogan, Democrat, for the senatorship.

Boies Penrose retains his seat in the senate by virtue of a Republican landslide in Pennsylvania. He rolled up a plurality of 100,000 over Gifford Pinchot, Progressive, and A. Mitchell Palmer, Democrat.

In Pennsylvania, as in New York, Ohio, and Illinois, the Republicans regained seats in the house which they lost in 1912.

One of the conspicuous Republican victories, according to the early returns, was the election of Samuel Platt over Senator Newlands of Nevada, a Democrat

SIX STATES IN THE WEST VOTE AGAINST SUFFRAGE.

Amendment Turned Down in Ohio, Missouri, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, and Nevada.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 3.—Partial returns from all parts of Ohio indicate that the amendment extending suffrage to women has been defeated.

Suffrage Loses in Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—Scattering returns from all parts of Missouri indicate that the woman's suffrage amendment was overwhelmingly defeated.

North Dakota Against Suffrage.

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 3.—Early returns indicated that woman's suffrage in the state was defeated by about three to two.

South Dakota Defeats Suffrage.

Nevada Bars Franchise.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 3.—The meager returns show that the woman's suffrage amendment has received 71 votes for and 77 against it.

Nebraska Limits Ballot.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The voters of Nebraska today defeated the constitutional amendment providing for woman's suffrage by a decisive majority.

WHIRLS BEDRIDDEN VOTER TO POLLS IN HER MOTOR.

The illness of a voter did not interfere one minute yesterday with the activities of Mrs. Annie Carlo-Blasi of 931 South State street, the so-called "Queen of Little Italy" and "woman boss" of the First ward.

While a physician waited, the "queen" carried the sick man off on a cot in an automobile to vote in the Tenth precinct. Then she returned him to the doctor who made an examination of the patient after the civic duty was performed.

On Monday the First ward "woman boss" visited the women and men of the ward. Her automobile stopped at every door. She tarried for a moment to make an appointment to call on election day and to urge the women to be ready and not keep her waiting.

At 5 yesterday morning she was up to keep her appointments which extended all over the ward. She whirled men and women with babies in their arms and shawls over their heads to the polls.

LATE BULLETINS OF THE ELECTION

CHICAGO VOTERS approved of all three bond propositions submitted, it was indicated early. The bonds are for the boulevard link, forest reserve district, and hard roads.

WET AND DRY ISSUE—Four states, Ohio, Arizona, California, and Washington, defeat prohibition; anti-rum amendment may carry in Colorado.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE—Indications are that woman's suffrage amendments have been defeated in Ohio, Missouri, the Dakotas, Nebraska, and Nevada.

DANVILLE, ILL.—Incomplete returns indicate that Joseph G. Cannon has been elected by 3,500 plurality.

INDIANA—Senator B. F. Shively, Democrat, re-elected by plurality estimated at 35,000. H. T. Miller, Republican, ran second and A. J. Beveridge, Progressive, third. Democrats may lose two to four seats in lower house.

MICHIGAN—Gov. W. N. Ferris, Democrat, according to partial returns, appears to be re-elected. Republican victory for rest of state ticket predicted.

WISCONSIN—E. L. Philipp, Republican, leads in race for Wisconsin governorship. McGovern appears to be elected United States senator. La Follette political rule in state at an end.

PENNSYLVANIA—Boies Penrose defeats Gifford Pinchot by 100,000, and Dr. Martin Brumbaugh is elected governor by 125,000. Republicans gain in lower house of congress.

OHIO—The race for governor between Willis, Republican, and Gov. Cox, Democrat, is close and yet undecisive. A Republican senator probably will be elected. The prohibition amendment apparently has been defeated. Suffrage also loses.

IOWA—Senator Cummins, Republican, probably will be re-elected by a plurality of 50,000 and Gov. Clarke, Republican, probably will be re-elected by a plurality of 15,000.

WOMEN VOTE IN COUNTY ALONG SAME LINES AS MEN.

Equal Suffrage Fails to Cut Much Figure in Political Division, Returns Show.

The first returns indicating the tendency of the woman's vote on those county offices for which they were allowed the suffrage, showed that they were divided politically along about the same lines as the men.

The Democratic candidates for board of review and assessors received support from the women proportionate to that given by the men. Here are the figures in the first fifty-nine precincts reported up to 2 a. m.

RUM WINS IN FOUR STATES IN MIDDLE AND FAR WEST.

Ohio, Arizona, California, and Washington Defeat Prohibition —"Dry" May Win in Colorado.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 3.—Partial returns from all parts of Ohio indicate that the amendment asking for state-wide prohibition has been defeated.

Arizona Stands by Rum.

Golden State for Liquor.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3.—At anti-prohibition headquarters tonight it was asserted that prohibition had been defeated more than 2 to 1.

"Dry" Hope in Colorado.

Washington Favors "Wets."

ELECTION OFFICERS LOSE NO TIME IN CALLING FOR PAY.

Detail of Police Is Required to Preserve Order When Judges and Clerks Rush Treasurer's Office.

Several hundred judges and clerks of election and polling place owners were paid off last night in the office of the city controller. This election being all over the county, the city is required to pay only the polling place owners, and they were given their money as fast as they appeared.

In the county treasurer's office judges and clerks received checks. The first appeared at 8:30 o'clock. Others appeared every few minutes until 11 o'clock. Then a rush started and twenty-five patrolmen and two sergeants were detailed to keep order.

WHITMAN WINS IN NEW YORK OVER GLYNN

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—By a change of more than 300,000 votes the electors of New York state today brought about these results:

Swept the Democratic party from control by electing Charles S. Whitman, the Republican candidate for governor, by a plurality of 125,000 over Gov. Martin H. Glynn, Democrat.

Elected James M. Wadsworth Jr., Republican, to the seat in the senate now held by Elihu Root, over James W. Gerard, Democrat, by a plurality of probably 50,000. Mr. Gerard, however, ran many thousands of votes ahead of Mr. Glynn, not only in the city of New York but in the outside districts. He received 132,000 plurality in New York City; Mr. Glynn, 55,000.

Turned over to the Republicans the control of both branches of the legislature, the senate probably containing thirty-six Republicans and fifteen Democrats, and the assembly ninety-eight Republicans, fifty-one Democrats, and one Progressive.

Lessens Democratic Congressmen.

Reduced the Democratic representation in the New York delegation to the house of representatives from thirty-one to twenty-three.

Gave a surprisingly large vote to William Sulzer, the Prohibition-Progressive-American candidate for governor, not only in the country districts but in the Tammany stronghold of Manhattan. He carried Steuber county by 300.

Showed a slump in the Progressive vote in every part of the state, in some instances the number of ballots cast for Mr. Davenport, the Progressive candidate for governor, being negligible. The total Progressive vote apparently was about one-fifth of the 393,183 given Mr. Straus two years ago.

After four years of control the Democrats are completely dislodged from the state government.

Tidal Wave for Whitman.

It was a Whitman tidal wave. His plurality is the largest ever attained by a Republican candidate in New York except that of Frank S. Black in 1896, which was 200,992. It surpasses the greatest calculations of the Republican managers, who claimed a plurality of 95,000. Whitman carried every big city upstate.

New York City fell woefully short of Democratic predictions.

The only upstate county carried by Glynn was Chemung.

Sulzer, who two years ago was elected governor by the record plurality of 205,464, running on the Prohibitionist and American party ticket this year, got about 115,000 votes. The total of Davenport, the Progressive candidate for governor, is only 60,000.

Defeat for Roosevelt.

The ferocious campaigning of Col. Roosevelt may be accounted a failure. The Progressive vote for Straus two years ago was 393,183. In Albany, the home county of Gov. Glynn and William Barnes, the Republicans piled up the unheard of total of 25,191 votes, giving Whitman a 11,885 lead over Glynn.

Wadsworth, long a protege of Barnes, ran ahead of Whitman, getting 26,380 to 13,126 for Gerard and 405 for Colby. Sulzer beat Davenport more than four to one in Albany, his total being 1,900. The Glynn campaigners had claimed Albany by 1,000.

Sulzer ran a little ahead of Glynn in Schenectady county. The vote was Whitman, 5,773; Sulzer, 3,280; Glynn, 3,314.

Sulzer did better than Glynn and was

SHERMAN VOTE IN STATE MAY DEFEAT ROGER

G. O. P. Head Claims 15,000 Plurality for Downstate Man.

DENIED BY DEMOCRAT

BULLETIN.

At 2 a. m. it appeared that Sullivan had carried Cook county by a plurality of about 60,000.

At the same hour 1,204 precincts out of 2,788 downstate gave Sherman 31,380 lead over Sullivan. If this ratio should be maintained Sherman's lead over Sullivan in the state as a whole would be 10,000 to 15,000.

On the other hand, the Associated Press from county estimates received (eighty-four counties) figures Sherman's plurality downstate at 40,000, in which case Sullivan wins.

Lawrence Y. Sherman's reelection to the United States senate was claimed confidently at 2 o'clock this morning by Garrett Kinney, chairman of the Republican state committee. The lowest estimate he would place upon Senator Sherman's net plurality is 15,000, with the expectation, he said, that it will amount to better than 35,000 with complete and official figures from the downstate counties.

Along with Senator Sherman's reelection Chairman Kinney asserts the entire Republican state ticket has been elected by figures of landslide proportions; that every Republican candidate for congress "north of the Vandalia" has been elected, excepting certain Chicago Democrats, and that the next Illinois house of representatives is probably Republican.

Sullivan Wins City by 58,000.

Roger C. Sullivan carried Cook county by a plurality over Senator Sherman estimated by the City News bureau from police returns from 1,300 out of 1,760 precincts in Cook county not to exceed 58,000.

Mr. Sullivan at 2 o'clock said he believed his plurality in Cook county sufficient to elect him, but he preferred to await returns from downstate which were more than estimates before making any formal statement one way or the other.

Robins Concedes Defeat.

Raymond Robins, through Medill McCormick, conceded his own defeat early in the evening upon the showing of the police returns that he had run third in Chicago.

The incoming downstate returns, drifting in slowly from the 101 counties outside of Cook, showed Mr. Robins had run strongly downstate and possibly has finished second in the race outside of Chicago. The continued insistence of this trend of the reports brought no satisfaction to the Sullivan camp.

Robins Carries Four Wards.

The Progressive vote was far behind the most pessimistic expectations of the new party leaders. In Chicago Robins carried four wards—the Sixth, the Seventh, in Hyde Park, the Thirty-third on the northwest side, and the Twenty-fifth in Lake View. Enough votes were cast for Robins in the wards usually Republican to split the anti-Democratic vote and to permit the big Sullivan plurality over Sherman.

Downstate there were all the earmarks on the returns, as far as they were compiled early this morning, of an old time Republican landslide. The Progressive vote given to Roosevelt in 1912 went to smash as far as Robins was concerned, and Sherman profited by the bust-up.

Anti-Chicago Spirit Unites.

Apparently the anti-Chicago sentiment went to Sherman almost solidly in the territory south of Joliet and permitted Sherman to come to the drainage canal with enough, as is claimed by the Republican managers, to offset Sullivan's big lead in the Chicago wards.

The Sullivan managers are conceding nothing, however, and at the same moment that Chairman Kinney was putting out a confident claim that Sherman had won, National Committeeman Charles Boschenstein was asserting with equal strenuosity that Sullivan had won and that the complete returns would show this fact.

Mr. Boeschenstein, taking the scattering and unsatisfactory returns as a basis, said Robins had been gaining with each of the later reports and that the Robins gains were cutting down the Sherman pluralities as had been indicated by the early figures. This, Mr. Boeschenstein argued, would tend to equalize the Sherman-Robins vote, decrease materially the claimed Sherman plurality downstate, and elect Sullivan on the strength of his plurality over Sherman in Chicago and Cook county.

Here Is Kinney's Statement.

Republican State Chairman Kinney's statement, made at 2 o'clock this morning, said:

"Our returns from downstate show the reëlection of Senator Sherman by at least 85,000. This in spite of notorious ballot box frauds in the city of Chicago, which will be investigated immediately after the returns are all in.

"The claim of the Progressives as usual were wild, as is evidenced by the great Republican victories throughout the eastern and western states. Practically complete returns from the 2,800 precincts outside of Cook county show Senator Sherman has carried the downstate by a plurality of 85,000 votes."

Mr. Sullivan's victory in Chicago was complete. Backed up by a perfectly working organization, he "cleaned up" nearly every one of the thirty-five wards. In the country towns he appears to have run second—no mean achievement for a Democratic candidate.

Sullivan Sweeps North Side.

With the Republican vote split between Sherman and Robins, Sullivan had little difficulty in getting a heavy lead in the north side wards, and he swept the south side, with the single exception of the Second ward, which was carried by Sherman.

The natural Progressive strength in Hyde Park was demonstrated by the way in which Robins carried the Sixth and Seventh. As had been expected by all concerned, Sullivan made a whirlwind finish in the west side and in the string of Democratic wards along the southwest side. Sullivan carried every ward in the town of Lake and every ward on the Northwest side with the exception of the new Thirty-third. The Twenty-fifth ward went to Robins, but the Twenty-sixth was Sullivan's.

According to the Associated Press estimates, as made at midnight, Robins carried two counties, Du Page and Kane, ran second only in Kendall, Knox, Logan, and Winnebago counties.

In the rest of the state, the race was a straightaway showdown between Sullivan and Sherman. Sullivan carried Adams by 500, Brown by 800, and Cass by 450, which was up to the usual Democratic standard. Clinton was his by 600 and Crawford and Edgar went to him by 200 each.

Sullivan Votes Downstate.

Effingham went heavily for Sullivan. Greene was a disappointment in the Rainey congressional district, registering only 200 for Roger C. Hancock marked up 500 and Hamilton showed 200 to the good from the Sullivan standpoint. Jackson—Kent E. Keller's county—"slipped" and showed only 300 for Sullivan. Macoupin turned in 500, Marion, Marshall and Mason had about 200 each for the biscuit man.

Montgomery had a scant 100, and Moultrie, usually strongly Democratic, had only 100. Perry, anti-Sullivan in the primaries, gave him 200 plurality. Randolph and Schuyler were 200 each to the good for Sullivan.

Shelby, lost by Sullivan in the primary, turned up a lead of 500 for him. Tazewell, a banner Democratic county, reports only 200 for him. Union turned in the biggest Sullivan plurality, 700. White, the home of State Chairman Charles, gave Sullivan 350.

Sherman Revives G. O. P.

Sherman, according to the midnight reports, pulled back into line most of the counties which "went wrong" in 1912, and most of them by the Republican pluralities rolled up in the old days.

He carries his home county of Sangamon by more than 2,000, taking along the entire Republican county ticket, and possibly electing Loren E. Wheeler to congress as against Congressman James M. Graham.

Sherman carried Bureau by 1,500, Boone by 1,500, Carroll by 500, Clay by 400, Douglas by 800, Fulton by 800, and Iroquois by 400. Kankakee went to Sherman by 1,600. Livingston rolled up an old time Republican lead of 1,500, and Macon, including Decatur, shot in a 3,500 plurality for Sherman. McDonough, former home of the senator, gave him 1,000 to the good. Ogle went to him by 1,600.

Captures Peoria Vote.

Peoria furnished one of the surprises of the night. The last report was that it had been carried by Sherman by 200. The same report said George Fitch had been defeated for reëlection to the Illinois house as a Progressive.

The Seventeenth congressional district seemed to have been in fine Republican fettle, McLean county giving Sherman 500. Menard, the home of Homer J. Tice, Sherman's campaign manager, usually Democratic, gave Sherman 100. Piatt, where Sullivan had much pre-primary trouble, went to Sherman by 200.

Dispute in St. Clair County.

Conflicting reports came from St. Clair county, the latest being that Sherman had carried it by 1,000. This is disputed by the Sullivan managers, who say Sullivan won it by the same figure.

Uncle Joe Cannon's county of Vermilion was a mop-up for the Republicans and Sherman's plurality is estimated at 2,000. Will contributed 1,100 to the Sherman plurality column, and Woodford came along with 100.

Complete figures from the downstate counties will not be available until late today, according to the reports, which indicated there had been an immense vote cast and that the official count was proceeding slowly.

RYE WINS IN TENNESSEE.

Governor..........THOMAS C. RYE
Railroad commissioner ....
..........GEORGE N. WELCH

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 3.—The election of Thomas C. Rye, Democratic candidate for governor of Tennessee, was conceded at 11 o'clock tonight by managers of the campaign of Gov. Ben W. Cooper, Republican-fusionist candidate for reëlection.

At that hour complete returns from sixty-three counties out of ninety-six gave Rye a lead of 14,185.

Indications are that all congressmen are reëlected and that Tennessee will have a Democratic legislature.

REPUBLICANS IN COUNTY GET FIVE CONGRESS SEATS

Mann Is Elected by 5,000 or More; Foss Defeats Thomson; Britten Wins.

James Eversman, chairman of the Republican national congressional committee, said two more competent Republican candidates for the national house of representatives were defeated by Progressives who took enough votes to insure the election of Democrats.

Mann Wins by Big Vote.

The Republicans of the Second congressional district returned James R. Mann, who has represented that district for eighteen years, to the house by a majority estimated to be between 5,000 and 8,000. The Republicans of the county concentrated their efforts to elect Mann, who has been the minority leader in the house since the Democrats obtained control of that branch of the nation's law making body.

In the event the house is Republican Mann is slated for the speaker's chair and has been mentioned frequently of late as a possible Republican candidate for president in 1916. His election was bitterly contested by Vaughan, the Progressive candidate. O'Leary, Democrat, however, ran ahead of the Bull Moose nominee.

Edwin W. Sims, Mann's campaign manager, announced that Mann would easily win by 5,000 and probably by a much larger majority. In 61 precincts out of 239 Mann received 5,572 votes while Vaughan, the Progressive candidate, who waged a severe campaign against Mann, polled only 2,101 votes. O'Leary, Mann's Democratic opponent, polled 2,551 votes in the same number of precincts.

Madden-Quinlan Fight Warm.

In the First district there was a keen contest between Martin B. Madden, who was a candidate for reëlection, and J. M. Quinlan, Democrat. The returns from a number of precincts early in the evening gave Quinlan a lead, which Madden overcame later. The Republican organization claimed his election by a good safe majority at midnight.

The Republicans removed Prendergast, the Democrat who has been in congress from the Third district for two years, and elected William W. Wilson, who formerly held the seat in the house. Wilson polled twice as many votes as his Democratic opponent. William C. Lewis, Progressive, was hopelessly defeated.

In the Seventh district incomplete returns indicated a close contest between Frank Buchanan, Democrat, the present congressman, and Niels Juul, Republican former state senator. Early in the evening the Republicans claimed Juul's election, but later returns indicated Buchanan had been elected.

Britten Outruns Rivals.

Fred A. Britten, Republican, present representative of the Ninth district in the house, was reëlected despite a determined campaign by R. T. Crane, Progressive, and Oscar F. Nelson, Democrat. Britten announced that his majority on the face of the returns from about half of the precincts would be close to 5,000. He beat Nelson two to one and ran far ahead of Crane.

Britten at 9 o'clock said he had been reëlected by a majority of 3,000 to 6,000. His reports on 33 precincts out of 125 give Britten 3,006; Nelson, Democrat, 1,907, and Crane, Progressive, 1,062.

"These are largely Democratic precincts," Congressman Britten said, "so it looks as if I would win by 3,000 to 4,000."

The Republicans also claimed the election of George Edmund Foss in the Tenth district. Foss was defeated for congress two years ago by Charles M. Thomson, Progressive. Thomson made a strenuous campaign before yesterday's election, but the early returns indicated Foss had beaten him. The Democrats claimed the election of John F. Waters in the Tenth also.

McDermott Returned.

The Democrats rallied to the support of "Pipes" McDermott in the Fourth district and evidently vindicated him for his part in the Mulhall schemes for the National Association of Manufacturers. McDermott escaped being expelled by resigning after an investigation committee had found him guilty of doubtful conduct on the part of a member of the house of representatives.

The Republicans said the Progressives took enough votes from their candidates to insure the reëlection of McDermott. In the Sixth district the Republicans again charged the defeat of a desirable legislator to the Progressives. Fredrick E. Coyne was the Republican candidate against James McAndrews, Democrat. Coyne pushed Andrews for the place, but returns early this morning practically insured the return of McAndrews.

Thomas Gallagher, Democratic candidate in the Eighth district, snowed his Republican and Progressive opponents under, defeating them by an overwhelming plurality. Twelve precincts out of ninety gave Gallagher 2,049 votes to 388 for Williams, Republican, and 110 for Harmon, Progressive.

Sabath Wins on Landslide.

With the Democratic landslide in the city several congressmen were carried back into office. A. J. Sabath, chairman of the H.-H. Democratic organization, whose record in the school lands deals was used against him in the campaign, asserted he would win by more than 5,000 in the Fifth district. Numerous reports of trouble at the polls in this district were reported to Commissioner Czarnecki during the day.

"The Progressives will be our strongest foe at the next election," Congressman Sabath said. "They have made a wonderful showing in spite of the weak candidates they have offered. The Democratic success is to be attributed largely to the strength of their candidates."

For congressman at large fourteen precincts out of 1,760 in Cook county show Williams and Sullivan, Democrats, leading Chiperfield and Davis, Republicans, by two to one.

Progressive Leaders Hope for Future Despite Their Defeat.

WE LOSE BATTLES, BUT WE WIN WAR: ROBINS.

Raymond Robins at 10:30 entered the Progressive club and addressed the gathering there. Girl workers about the headquarters were in tears. Women sat about the tea tables dabbing at dampened eyes with handkerchiefs.

"I have fought as good a fight as it was possible for me to make," said Robins. "No man ever had more loyal support than I.

"The tide that has swept over Illinois is not exceptional. It is the tide of reaction like the sweep of the pendulum.

"The real fight is the fight that is made when the tide is out and the game seems lost. This has been a real fight.

"I have spoken over all the state. In many places I have been asked to desert the county Progressives' tickets in trade for support for my candidacy. My reply uniformly was that I would rather lose with my friends than win with my enemies.

"I feel victory tonight.

"We lose battles, but we win the war."

Robins' Formal Statement.

Following his address before the gathering at the Progressive club Mr. Robins gave out a formal statement on his defeat, in which he said:

"To have had a share in this great campaign for the new order—for the people's rule and economic and social progress is its own reward.

"To all the faithful and courageous men and women who have helped to make this campaign a great education in Progressive principles I want to express my heartfelt appreciation. Temporary defeat in such a cause brings no lasting regrets. I have the consciousness of having done my utmost best. No man ever had more loyal support, not only from the Progressive leaders but from the rank and file of the party, and in all parts of the state.

"Let us hope that those who have won will give county, state, and nation the best service in their power. These are difficult times and every public officer is entitled to public support irrespective of party."

Charges Deneen Knifing.

Harold L. Ickes of the Progressive organization gave out a statement saying:

"The returns were so late it is difficult to make any intelligent comment on the results over the state. It is clear, however, that the Progressive party in Illinois has made a much stronger showing than in most other states. This is in large measure due to the candidacy of Mr. Robins.

"A new national figure has been produced. Mr. Robins will be heard from in the future.

"Results in Cook county are a disappointment. The Progressive county ticket deserved to win on any theory that the people want men and women of character in public office.

"The defeat of Alexander A. McCormick is a distinct loss to this community. Considering the fact that he was traded by practically all of the candidates and that the entire Deneen machine knifed him without mercy, he made a remarkable run.

"I have no doubt but that the people of this community will insist upon redrafting Mr. McCormick into service in some post that requires those splendid qualities he has shown himself to possess in the past two years as president of the board of county commissioners."

Reaction Against Democrats.

Medill McCormick, manager of the Progressive campaign in Illinois, gave out the following statement at 11 o'clock:

"The returns indicate a general reaction against the legislative program enacted under the leadership of the group known as progressive Democrats. This is none the less true because in Illinois the issue is still doubtful between Mr. Sherman and Mr. Sullivan. The vote in most states registers against the tariff and the anti-trust laws. Under the confusion of the war and the presence of general depression, the people did not consider the alternative presented by the Progressive program."

SABATH SEES MOOSE AS RIVAL OF FUTURE.

Congressman A. J. Sabath in a statement made on the basis of his view of the Democratic landslide, said:

"The Progressives will be our strongest foe in the next election. They have made a wonderful showing, in spite of the weak candidates they have offered. The Democratic success is largely to be attributed to the strength of their candidates.

"The Republicans and the Progressives can never combine and be honest men."

"It'll mean a lot to everybody, this Democratic landslide. It's great stuff. We have every reason to be proud of our candidates. It's the greatest thing in the history of Cook county, it is."

About the headquarters bosses, henchmen, and all were busy in the discussion of what they chose to term the "death of the Progressive party," foreseeing a big party fight with the Republicans "next time."

BITTER AGAINST MOOSE OVER REPUBLICAN DEFEAT.

State Representative E. I. Williams, Republican, admitted his defeat by Gallagher, Democrat, in bitter words.

Governor.....MARCUS H. HOLCOMB
Lieutenant governor..............
..........CLIFFORD B. WILSON
Secretary of state..........
..........CHARLES D. BURNES
State treasurer....................
FREDERICK S. CHAMBERLAIN

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 3.—Connecticut returned to the Republican fold today by making a clean sweep. Frank B. Brandegee was reëlected United States Senator over Gov. Simeon E. Baldwin by a safe majority.

With the vote nearly all counted, indications pointed to the election of a solid Republican congressional delegation. Among those probably elected to congress is former Representative Ebenezer J. Hill, who was a leading member of the ways and means committee.

One feature of the election was the slump in the Progressive vote. While the Progressives polled nearly 35,000 votes last year, only a few more than 5,000 voted the ticket today.

Judge Marcus H. Holcomb was elected governor by a majority of about 10,000.

CLOSE RACE IN NEW MEXICO.

Slow Returns Leave Election of Congressman and Corporation Commissioner in Doubt.

Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 3.—Slowness in returns from today's election in New Mexico for congressman and corporation commissioner gave no adequate basis for a prediction of the outcome at 10:30 tonight. Unofficial returns from three precincts in Albuquerque gave H. B. Ferguson, Democrat, for congress a plurality of 277, while seven precincts in Valencia county gave H. C. Hernandez, Republican, a plurality of 543. Indications point to a close race.

MOOSE ENABLE DEMOCRATS TO SWEEP COUNTY

following vote for other Democratic candidates, showing the slight variation in the totals, and practically no scratching of the ballots:

Walsh, Criminal court clerk...549
Horner, Probate judge........564
Cervenka, Probate clerk......529
Stuckart, treasurer..........568
Traeger, sheriff..............594

The closeness of the vote given these five Democratic candidates indicated after the top of the ticket was taken care of and Mr. Scully was "given his" the straight party ticket prevailed almost universally.

Democrats Stick to Ticket.

The story of the Democratic "landslide" is told in the division of the vote. Apparently the Democrats polled an almost solid party vote for their ticket, with the exception of the big slashing given Scully, while all the rest of the ballots were divided among the Republicans, Progressives, and Socialists.

Failure of the Progressive party to accomplish more than the defeat of the Republican candidates and the election of the Democrats by overwhelming majorities was considered last night by party leaders as the end of the movement in Chicago so far as a cohesive organization is concerned.

See No Future for Moose.

Political prognosticators saw no future for the Progressives in Chicago as a party other than as an aid to the Democrats by keeping up the internecine warfare among the Republicans. Unable to accomplish any direct results along the line of its own program, said the forecasters, the new party will now be considered for the most part as a "protest," and not as a constructive movement.

The surprising vote by which Alexander A. McCormick, president of the county board, was snowed under was cited as the best illustration of the weakness of the Progressive party locally.

McCormick, generally conceded to be the headliner in the Progressive county movement from whatever angle the situation was viewed, is buried beneath an avalanche of more than 60,000 plurality for Peter Reinberg.

Politicians were quick to express the opinion that McCormick made his fatal mistake in electing to run on the Moose ticket, in view of the large Republican vote he received in the primary. However, the Democratic lead would have been difficult to overcome, considering the divided opposition.

Made Party the Issue.

By electing the Progressive ticket he made the party designation the issue, after the Republicans had given him nearly 40,000 votes in the primary and the Progressives less than 10,000. An analysis of the incomplete returns makes it plain that Republicans resented this action and voted for Reinberg in large numbers.

This switch to Reinberg was in retaliation it was observed, for the persistent warfare the Progressive party leaders have maintained against the Republicans hereabouts.

Republican Chiefs Bitter.

From whichever side the situation was viewed at night the deduction was inevitable, the party chiefs said, that the Progressive party fight on the Republicans and their retaliation could accomplish nothing more in Chicago and Cook county than to permit the Democrats to slip into all the offices by a minority vote.

Republican chiefs at night were bitter and said the results showed the Progressive party locally has no other aim than to aid the Democrats, and that its activity, therefore, can be regarded only in the light of one of revenge on the Republicans.

Judge Prentiss, Moose candidate for County judge—the office considered the most important of all in the local fight—made a poor showing. Cunnea, the Socialist, outdistanced him, and he finished way back in the rear in fourth place.

Scully Slashed Badly.

Scully, who bore the brunt of the good citizenship fight, was slashed mercilessly in the big residence districts, but the division of the vote of the protesting elements was too serious to overcome his big vote in the river wards and the labor centers.

On the west and southwest sides he ran well up with his ticket, except where the precincts dovetailed into residence districts.

Scully also made a great run in the First ward.

The big vote given Roger C. Sullivan for United States senator in Cook county also had the effect of aiding Scully greatly in many districts where the voters, apparently concerned chiefly in Sullivan, put a cross in the circle at the top of the ballot and let it go at that.

Sullivan's vote and the division of the independent and good citizens' movement votes not only let Scully through but seems to have carried the entire Democratic ticket to victory by large pluralities.

Clark and Paullin Beaten?

Incomplete returns at the hour of going to press hold out no comfort to the Republicans anywhere in the county, even as to Clark and Paullin, the sanitary district trustees, whose records were counted on to return them winners in spite of the family rows among the Republicans.

Woman Charges Fraud.

Miss Marion Drake, who has been fighting commercialized vice in the district, made the direct charge that votes were bought right and left. She charged that both Republicans and Democrats indulged in corrupt practices, but she was satisfied, she said, that no Progressive party man had a hand in the crooked work.

Big Jobs to Be Filled.

The election of the Democratic county ticket creates two big vacancies to be filled at once.

Mr. Reinberg, who moves up to the presidency of the county board, will resign as president of the school board. The school trustees will have to elect his successor.

The election of Mr. Traeger as sheriff carries with it his resignation as city controller. Mayor Harrison has the naming of his successor.

Si Mayer, former alderman from the Third ward and now secretary of the police department, is the first candidate in the field for the controllership.

Figures on County Offices.

The returns came in slowly. Fifty-nine precincts out of 1,760 in the county gave for sheriff: Traeger [Dem.], 6,376; Schmidt [Rep.], 2,967; Oliver [Prog.], 933.

The same precincts gave for treasurer: Stuckart [Dem.], 6,141; Litzinger [Rep.], 3,262; Peterson [Prog.], 1,065.

For county clerk the 59 precincts gave: Sweitzer [Dem.], 6,431; Sitts [Rep.], 2,847; Thoms [Prog.], 954.

For judge of the Probate court the 59 precincts gave: Horner [Dem.], 5,892; Judah [Rep.], 3,156; Kales [Prog.], 750.

HARRISON TO RUN AGAIN? YES; NO!

County Chairman First Says Mayor Will Open the Fight Today.

THEN ASSERTS IT'S JOKE

"Now what will Mayor Harrison do?"

The question sprang to the lips of thousands last night. Some of them were in the Harrison organization headquarters at the Briggs house.

"No," said Congressman A. J. Sabath, chairman of the county committee, "we'll have to start Mayor Harrison's campaign for reëlection in the morning."

He Was Only Joking?

Passed from mouth to mouth, this statement became an official announcement that the mayor himself would begin his campaign today. In this form it was carried back to Congressman Sabath.

"Why, I was joking," he explained. "What I said wasn't in the nature of an announcement at all. We were all feeling good over the landslide and were talking in a light way that resulted in our saying things that shouldn't be taken as anything like official.

"I have no information about the mayor's intentions. You will have to ask the mayor himself what they are."

What Does Result Mean?

The question asked by the thousands was amplified into this:

"What effect will the returns have on Harrison's possible aspirations for another term? While it was a big Democratic victory, will he take it as a factional victory for Sullivan, placing control of a much increased following in Sullivan's hands? If he accepts that theory will it discourage his aspirations or will it lead him to a determination to run next spring to beat Sullivan?

"And, after all, does he want another term and think he can get it?"

Mayor Retires Early.

The answer from Mr. Harrison himself was not available. During the early evening it was said at his residence he was "downtown receiving the returns." A search failed to disclose his whereabouts, but showed he had been at his residence almost the entire evening.

A telephone at 10 o'clock brought an answer that Mr. Harrison had retired and that he would not be disturbed.

"See me the day after the county election," he said then.

Modifies His Promise.

Since then he has modified slightly the implied promise that he would announce his intentions today.

"I didn't mean," he said within the last week, "that the day after the election I would announce my plans. What I meant was that I would not discuss them until after the election."

CZARNECKI FINDS LITTLE FRAUD IN THE ELECTION.

Election Commissioner Anthony Czarnecki, discussing the election last night, said:

"Visits in precincts in the different wards throughout the city showed a condition of order, law, and peace which is most gratifying. The fact that the anticipations of trouble and fraud heralded before the election day did not materialize and that the realization was just the opposite to what all forecasts with reference to enforcement of the law and insuring a clean election would be was self-evident.

"If in any isolated precincts any fraud has been committed we trust that any one claiming to have evidence will come forth and will enable a thorough investigation and prosecution to be made.

"Two things as lessons are drawn from the various blunders, errors, and complaints. One the absolute need of instruction personally to the judges and clerks. The second that in many sections better polling places must be made and insisted upon if women are to be made to feel at home and be encouraged in exercising their right of suffrage."

NEW HAMPSHIRE RETURNS TO THE REPUBLICAN FOLD.

R. H. Spaulding Elected Governor and J. H. Gallinger Returns to the Senate—Pluralities Small.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 3.—New Hampshire today abandoned the Democratic régime of the last two years, electing a Republican governor, Rolland H. Spaulding, by a plurality estimated at 8,000 over Albert W. Noone, Democrat.

The Republican victory extended to the United States senatorial fight, Senator Jacob H. Gallinger defeating Congressman Raymond B. Stevens. Edward Wason, Republican candidate for Stevens' seat in congress, defeated Charles French, Democrat, by a close vote.

Cyrus A. Sulloway, former congressman, was reëlected to congress in the First district over Eugene E. Reed, Democrat, who defeated Sulloway in 1912.

REPEATERS BUSY; SCULLY WORKER IS THROWN OUT

The only serious trouble reported in the election yesterday came from the congressional district of Congressman Adolph J. Sabath and Morris Abrahams' precinct in the Twentieth ward.

As soon as the counting started at 4 o'clock Socialists started to call Commissioner Czarnecki at the election commissioners' office. They charged that the Democratic judges would not let the Socialist watchers in the polling places.

"If you fellows aren't trying to steal this election," Commissioner Czarnecki told several of them on the telephone, "you'll let the Socialist watchers in there. If you don't, there'll be a grand jury investigation of your precinct."

Repeaters at Work.

In the Tenth, Eleventh, and Twelfth wards, all in the Sabath district, complaints were received at the office of the election commissioners. In the Fifteenth ward repeaters were found at work. When Stanley Lowalski of 1076 North Marshfield avenue appeared to vote he was informed that some one already had voted under his name.

The workers for Scully started in to win the election for him in the First ward. No sooner had the counting started than Commissioner Czarnecki received a telephone call from Arthur Burrage Farwell.

"Harry Williams is reading the ballots off to the clerks in the Eighth precinct of the First ward," he said. "Can't that be stopped?"

Commissioner Czarnecki called the judges on the telephone and told them to throw Williams out of the polling place.

Election Generally Quiet.

The election was the quietest the city has had in years, the election commissioners asserted last night. There was little trouble at the polls during the day. When the counting started many of the judges and clerks did not know how to count the votes for the Republican candidates for county commissioners. It was explained to them that the votes in the Republican circle should be counted if the voter had voted for Reinberg or McCormick for president of the board.

Only three men were placed under arrest because of election day offenses in the three west side river wards, the Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth. In the Second precinct polling place of the Twentieth ward Michael Weinberg and Samuel Levin, workers for Congressman Sabath and A. J. Harris, respectively, were taken into custody early in the day, after they came to blows over a dispute over the merits of the two congressional candidates.

Saloonkeepers Arrested.

John McGiff, 449 North State street.
Maciyak, 900 West Randolph street.
August Weber, 412 East Illinois street.

It was reported at 6 o'clock last night that Morris Abrahams, with a squad of gunmen, was keeping the Republican and Socialist watchers from the polling places during the counting of the ballots. Commissioner Czarnecki and a [illegible] of detectives hurried to the polling places in an automobile.

WASHINGTON MOOSE AHEAD.

Ole Hanson Leads Senator Jones, Republican, but Latter's Party Claims Victory.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 3.—Votes on ten legislative proposals were counted ahead of candidates' returns in Washington tonight, making results unusually slow. In Seattle Ole Hanson, Prog., was leading for United States senator, Wesley L. Jones, incumbent, running second, but Republicans continued to claim Senator Jones' reëlection.

LIGHT VOTE AND DEFEAT A BLOW TO SUFFRAGISTS

Women Depressed at Failure of Misses McDowell and Vittum to Win.

There was a strong feeling of depression among suffragists last night when reports reached them indicating a light vote of women, together with the defeat of Miss Harriet Vittum and Miss Mary McDowell.

It was generally decided that many women were more interested in war than politics; that they were allowed to vote for too few offices; that they were not well enough organized, and that sufficient knowledge of the men for whom they could vote was not given them.

Democratic Women Happy.

Many of the women affiliated with the political parties received the returns at the political headquarters. The members of the Illinois Women's Democratic league appeared to be the only women elated over the result of the election. Officials of the organization said they had 2,000 women workers out instructing the women who came to the polls to vote the straight Democratic ticket.

Mrs. B. L. Engelke, chairman of the ward organizations of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, said that the women leaders depended chiefly upon the newspapers for their inspiration to go to the polls. She said she believed the amount of war news published had caused the women to forget some of their political duties.

Women Explain Defeat.

Miss McDowell and Miss Vittum considered the ruling of the Supreme court forbidding women to vote for county commissioners was the cause of their defeat.

"I believe there are a great number of women who would have voted for us," said Miss McDowell, "if they had been given the opportunity. The result would have been different if they had been allowed to vote. I believe the people have been enlightened as never before regarding the affairs of the county board, and I feel that conditions can never be as bad there again as they have been during the last few years."

Miss McDowell said that the vote of women in her ward—the Twenty-ninth—was considerably lighter than in the spring election.

Miss Vittum's Statement.

"I have nothing to say regarding my defeat," said Miss Vittum. "I carried on an educational campaign, and I am not surprised. But I have no words to express my regret over the defeat of Mr. McCormick. I believe he was defeated by party prejudice. It shows that no matter what a man does or how fine a record he has, his chance of election depends entirely on party affiliations. It is a pretty bitter experience."

"Women like Miss Vittum and Miss McDowell will be punished politically for the next four or five years," said Mrs. Antoinette Funk. "They are pioneers in this work and I feel sure they realize that and are willing to go down in defeat for the good they are doing for women. The pioneers in the suffrage field had even more bitter experiences. I don't think the women will really get out and vote as they should until there is a presidential campaign."

G. O. P. Women Work Hard.

"We worked with the men as the women did in pioneer days," said Mrs. William Severin of 5736 Kenmore avenue, president of the Woman's Republican league. "The men did not have the money to spend, so we women walked or rode street cars. I was in every ward in the city. There were perhaps 300 Republican women in each ward working at the polling places.

"They kept the babies while the mothers voted and visited in the precincts to get the women out. Each precinct was organized. In the Thirty-first ward there are more than 2,000 Republican women in the club, and they were out working yesterday. The Twenty-third ward has a membership of 1,000 women, and there are 800 women in the Twenty-fourth Ward Women's Republican league. In the Twenty-sixth ward there are 400. They did splendid work, although they have been organized only a few weeks. The negro women voted in large numbers.

Seeks to End Party Strife.

"With all this strength we Republicans realized that there must be peace in the party or we could do nothing. The Democrats were sweeping clean because of the split in the Republican party, and neither Republicans nor Progressives could win against them. If women can bring the divided factions together they will have accomplished much. We Republican women are going to concentrate our efforts to this end.

"I predicted that the women would be defeated," said Mrs. Severin, speaking of Miss Vittum and Miss McDowell.

"It is too early for women to seek office. Then the position was a man's. No woman could have been elected to it. That is why I refused to be a candidate for the office on the Republican ticket.

Vote Straight Ticket.

"More women voted the straight Democratic ticket than men—90 per cent of them did," asserted Mrs. Joanna E. Downes, 1401 Cuyler avenue, president of the Illinois Women's Democratic league and chairman of the county Democratic organization committee.

"More than 50 per cent of the registered women voters in Chicago are Democrats. Since the primaries we have been educating these women to vote the Democratic ticket. More than 1,200 women were instructed how to vote last Saturday in the Auditorium.

"In a precinct of the Twenty-sixth ward a woman drove up in her automobile with her ballot sealed in an envelope. She was indignant because the judges insisted that she break the seal."

"Sacrificial service is the great need in politics to break the apathy of men and women," said Mrs. B. L. Engelke. "The money used by candidates also defeats the idea of sacrificial service, but there is the aftermath of education. This morning I sent an automobile full of literature from the County Union to the Twenty-third ward on request. This showed that the women were thinking."

"In the Sixth ward the women cast a strong vote. About seventy-five girls from the University of Chicago voted in this ward. Most of them split their tickets.

POST MORTEM.

WETS AND DRYS SURE OF VICTORY

Both Sides Claim to Have Won the House, Senate, and Speaker.

RESULT STILL IN DOUBT

The alignment of the new legislature as to wetness and dryness was still in doubt early this morning, but leaders of both sides professed to have seen only encouragement in the returns.

"We will have a dry house of representatives, a dry senate, and a speaker who is a real 'dry,'" said E. J. Davis, superintendent of the Chicago district for the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois.

"This time we won't make the mistake we did in the last legislature. I mean there won't be another McKinley as speaker. If the last speaker had not violated his pledge our reform bills would be laws today."

Cermak Just as Sure.

"I can't see any possibility that either house or senate will be other than wet," said Anton J. Cermak, secretary of the United Societies. "The speaker won't be a dry, that's certain. But he will be fair. All the drys want is a roll call. That's all we want. We have strength in certain quarters that isn't suspected."

Both claims to control of the senate were based on the rival claimants' estimate of their strength in the ranks of the holdovers. Of the twenty-five holdovers Mr. Davis said the league was sure of the support of fifteen. Mr. Cermak said at least sixteen of them were with the wets.

Even by his own figures, however, it was conceded by the Anti-Saloon league official that failure to elect at least four of the sixteen candidates for the senate from Chicago would mean the loss of control in the upper house. Mr. Davis was confident the drys would elect their necessary four; Mr. Cermak was as sure they wouldn't. It was admitted, though, that the men on whose election the drys are counting had been regarded by the wets as dangerous.

Count on These Four.

The four on whom the drys counted most confidently were Hull in the Fifth senatorial district, Dellenbach in the Twenty-first, Austin in the Twenty-third, and Cornwell in the Thirty-first. The league also hoped to elect a senator pledged to support the dry propaganda in the Seventh, the Eleventh, the Thirteenth, and the Nineteenth.

Mr. Cermak was almost willing—almost—to concede the election of Hull. That was as far as his willingness to concede anything went.

For control in the lower house the drys rely on the retention of their strength of former years downstate. In Chicago, they assert, they have nothing to lose, no matter which way the wind blows. So many of the Chicago candidates have pledged themselves, Mr. Davis said, that at least seven avowed drys must win. There were only seven drys from Chicago districts in the last house. Beside the seven "certain" ones, the drys see fourteen possibilities in the city.

Davis Makes Statement.

Davis, after spending a half dozen hours with his ear glued to the telephone listening to the reports of more than 100 watchers and investigators, gave out the following statement:

"We are sure of at least seven new senators from downstate. Of the twenty-five holdover senators fifteen are with us. So that means we control the upper house if we get only four of the sixteen senators to be elected from Chicago.

"There are about 300 candidates in the field for seats in the lower house. Two-thirds of them have pledged themselves to support the league's measure in the legislature if they get there. Indications are that we shall almost certainly have a larger majority than in the last legislature.

"With such a majority—and with a good man in the speaker's chair—I believe we shall be able to make Illinois a county option state.

Favor Residence Option.

"Those who have pledged themselves also will stand for residence district option, for proper law enforcement measures, and for a bill to prevent the shipping of liquor intended for sale into dry territory; and they will fight against the extension of the Harkin ordinance into the state. We regard the ordinance as the agent through which saloons are given practically a perpetual franchise right."

Between telephone calls Mr. Davis had found interest in perusal of a letter sent out to the saloonkeepers of the state a few days ago by Ernest Kunde, president of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Protective Association of Illinois.

In the letter the saloonmen were urged to vote for Roger Sullivan for senator, for William E. Williams for congressman at large, and for "their friends, the enemies of the drys and suffrage," for the legislature.

"Get Out and Hustle."

"A popular saloonkeeper can control at least twenty-five votes," Kunde suggested. "So close your saloons in accordance with the law and get out and hustle."

"The saloon vote is a very powerful element, but not nearly so powerful as Mr. Kunde seems to think," was Mr. Davis' comment. "There are 7,000 saloons in Chicago, but the saloon vote is not more than 40,000 or 50,000.

"As a matter of fact, the saloonkeeper, on an average, controls about six or seven votes, instead of twenty-five."

Mr. Davis, in charge of the Anti-Saloon league office in the absence of State Supt. McBride, was at the telephone until midnight. A staff of 115 watchers, recruited mostly among university students in Evanston and on the Midway, kept him on the jump with their reports.

Outwardly, at any rate, the United Societies and the Liquor Dealers' association were not taking so active an interest in the organization of the legislature. The headquarters of both organizations were closed.

WOMEN BEYOND 60 YEARS CAST THEIR FIRST BALLOTS.

Wards of Old People's Home Go to Polls and Have New Experience on Election Day.

Several women, ranging in age from 68 to 95 years, residents of the Old People's home, 4724 Vincennes avenue, voted yesterday for the first time in their lives.

After the rush of the workers at the Third ward polling place in the Warwick building, at Forty-seventh street, near Forrestville avenue, the old women were taken there in carriages and assisted into the booths.

One woman was disappointed because sickness kept her in the home, while the others went to the voting place. She is Mrs. Jane Olcott, 98 years old, and she had hoped for months to be able to cast a ballot before she died.

"I guess this was my last chance," she said. "I probably won't be here the next election day."

Mrs. Alzina Johnson, 89 years old, and Mrs. Louise Norton, 90 years old, walked to the voting place and cast ballots.

MARYLAND RETURNS SMITH.

Democrats Elect Senator and Five of Six Congressmen—Progressive Vote Not More than 2,000.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 3.—Maryland today returned John Walter Smith, Democrat, to the United States senate by an estimated plurality of 20,000 over E. C. Carrington, Republican, formerly a Progressive. Five Democrats and one Republican were elected representatives in congress.

Sydney E. Mudd, son of the late Congressman Sydney E. Mudd, was elected from the Fifth district.

The Progressive vote did not exceed 2,000 in the state.

A constitutional amendment extending the term of future sheriffs of Baltimore from two to four years was approved.

WITHYCOMBE WINS OREGON.

Republicans Elect Governor—Democratic Candidate for United States Senate in Lead.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 3.—Republicans elected Dr. James Withycombe governor today, according to early returns, and sent William C. Hawley from the First district and N. J. Sinnot from the Second district back to congress today. Indications not so strong were for the election of C. N. McArthur [Rep.] in the Third district. Senator George E. Chamberlain [Dem.] was leading in the senatorial race over R. A. Booth [Rep.]. Women voted for the first time at a general election in Oregon.

WILSON, SILENT, HEARS RETURNS

HIS "MAN" IS BEATEN.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—President Wilson read the election returns tonight as they were received over a special wire at the White House, displaying keen interest in every contest, though he made no comment.

He spent most of the evening with his family, reading bulletins aloud as they were sent in. Once he went over to the executive offices and stood by the telegraph operator for a while. With him were Prof. and Mrs. Edward Elliot, the latter Mrs. Wilson's sister, who came to Washington with the president late this afternoon from Princeton, where the president went to vote.

Hears Whitman Has Won.

News of the election of Whitman, Republican, as governor of New York, was received by the president without show of surprise.

Mr. Wilson went to bed shortly after 10 o'clock without learning the outcome of the fight for the control of the next congress. Before retiring he was informed of Republican victories in New York, Connecticut, and some other eastern states. He made no comment for publication.

Other White House officials remained up until after midnight. Secretary Garrison, Postmaster General Burleson, Attorney General Gregory, and Thomas Pence of the Democratic national committee were in conference until late.

President "Loses Vote."

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 3.—President Wilson's home congressional district, the fourth of New Jersey, has elected Elijah C. Hutchinson, Republican, to succeed Congressman Allan B. Walsh, Democrat, for whom the president voted at Princeton today, by about 2,000 plurality.

Meager returns indicate strong Republican gains throughout the state and the Democrats probably will not have more than four or five of the twelve congressmen. The present delegation is ten Democrats and two Republicans.

Returns up to midnight indicate that the Democrats will retain control of the state senate by the same vote as last year, eleven to ten, and that the assembly which last year was Democratic will be Republican this year by about thirty-eight to twenty-two.

Wilson Votes at Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—President Wilson arrived in Princeton from Washington shortly after noon to vote. He was particularly anxious to support Allan Walsh, candidate to succeed himself in congress. In the president's party were several White House employés who vote in New Jersey.

"Number 89," called out the clerk as the president was voting.

After voting the president inspected the golf links. He and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott and the rest of the party caught a 2 o'clock train for Washington.

HARMONY AT THE POLLS.

Election Clerks Play Accordion and Keep Sixth Ward Voters in Good Humor.

Mike Wichlacz, clerk of election in the Nineteenth precinct of the Sixteenth ward, put harmony into politics yesterday. There was a time in the Sixteenth ward when sounds of battle, fast and furious, came from the polling places, but not so yesterday. As the voters approached the polls at the city bathhouse at 1444 Holt street jig time tunes and old melodies floated through the doorway from an accordion ably manipulated by Mike. The music kept every one good natured and there wasn't a cross word spoken in the place during the day. When Mike got tired Frank Moskel, another clerk, took the instrument and kept the place humming.

VOTERS APPROVE ALL BOND ISSUES FOR BETTER CITY

Three Little Ballot Propositions Carry, Early Returns Indicate.

Enthusiasts over city planning and good roads were almost as jubilant at midnight as the Democratic leaders who backed the successful candidates. The returns indicated all three propositions submitted to the voters on the little ballot had been carried.

Early indications were that the voters approved three great public improvements. They are:

Creation of a forest reserve district giving the county board $1,000,000 a year for the purchase of natural park land and the power to issue $10,000,000 in bonds for this purpose.

Issue of $2,000,000 in county bonds for the building of gravel, rock, macadam, or other hard roads.

Doubt on Road Bonds.

The only one of these propositions about which there was any serious doubt was the good roads bond issue. There is some question whether this proposition required the favorable vote of a majority of the voters who cast their ballots in the election. In connection with the other two propositions there is no such doubt. The law clearly provides that if they get more "Yes" than "No" votes they are carried.

Nothing like an organized campaign was conducted against any of the propositions except the boulevard link bond issue. The opposition to this centered around a northwest side business men's association, which contended the improvement was for the exclusive benefit of automobilists, who, therefore, should pay the expense of the work. This campaign proved unsuccessful.

Widening of Michigan Avenue.

Supporting this part of the Chicago plan was the Chicago plan commission and a score of other strong organizations. The city council had approved the ordinance for the improvement by an almost unanimous vote and it had the indorsement of the administration.

This ordinance provides for the widening of Michigan avenue north of Randolph street, and a similar widening of Pine street and Lincoln parkway north of the river as far as Chicago avenue and the connection of these two stretches of boulevard by a two level bridge. The total cost is estimated as approximately $8,000,000, the difference between that amount and the $3,800,000 to be provided by the sale of bonds being raised by special assessment throughout the district said to be specifically benefited by the connection between the north and south sides.

This district—a narrow one extending along the lake shore—reaches from Howard avenue, the northern city limits, as far south as Sixtieth street. The western boundary of the assessed district is Clark street above Lincoln park and south of that follows the line of Lincoln avenue, Halsted street, Larrabee street, the river, South Clark street, South State street, and Michigan avenue.

For Outer Park Belt.

With the creation of a forest reserve district, the boundaries of which coincide with those of Cook county, the county commissioners are authorized to select forest lands suitable for the outer park belt contemplated by the Chicago plan. Preliminary survey work has shown that there are about 25,000 acres of woodland in the county suitable for forest preserve.

The law gives the commissioners the power to levy a forest preserve tax of 1 mill on every dollar of value assessed on property in the county. This, it is estimated, would yield an annual income of more than $1,000,000. The commissioners also are given power to issue forest preserve bonds to the amount of 1 cent on each dollar of assessed valuation on property in the county. This, it is estimated, gives them authority to issue approximately $10,000,000 worth of bonds.

Cost May Reach $15,000,000.

The probable cost of the 25,000 acres of desirable land is about $15,000,000. As it is proposed to leave lands purchased in their natural state, it is believed the financing power of the commission will be sufficient to give it possession of the greater part of this land in a short time.

If the $2,000,000 worth of good road bonds were authorized in conformity with the law, it is not proposed to issue the entire amount at once. A large part of the issue will be kept in reserve and used as the construction of hard country roads progresses.

Under the provisions of the Tice good roads law the state appropriates an amount of money to be used in building roads in each county which is made available only on condition that the county itself appropriates a similar amount. In Cook county thirteen miles of concrete roadway built in accordance with this law are about completed. As other state appropriations for this purpose are made the Cook county bonds will be available for appropriations to meet them. It also is planned to hasten the road construction work, and if the county spends more than the state for this purpose the amounts thus expended will be used as "set-offs" for later state appropriations.

MISS DRAKE CHARGES FRAUD.

Tells Progressive Club Republicans and Democrats Bought First Ward Votes.

In an address before the Progressive club last night Miss Marion Drake reiterated a statement of appearances of corruption in the First ward, made to a TRIBUNE reporter a short time before.

"Votes were bought right and left in the First ward by Republicans and Democrats," she said. "No Progressives bought votes.

"I am convinced of fraud by what I saw of the work about the polls and what conversations I overheard there."

LOEB MAY GET REINBERG JOB

Supporter of Mrs. Young Mentioned as Education Board Head.

OTHERS IN THE RACE.

Jacob M. Loeb may take the place of Peter Reinberg as president of the board of education. It is expected that Mr. Reinberg will resign from the presidency at the meeting of the board a week from today.

Mr. Loeb has been vice president of the board since last July. His name has been mentioned as a possible successor of Mr. Reinberg, who was elected to the presidency of the county board yesterday. The latter's term as president expires Jan. 1. It is known that a supporter of Mrs. Ella Flagg Young for superintendent is desired as president by Mayor Harrison.

Mrs. Young will come up for reelection in December. Mr. Loeb has supported her throughout her conflict with one faction of the board. Robert J. Roulston is the only likely candidate of the faction opposing Mrs. Young, and it is thought there are not enough votes of that faction to elect him. Michael Collins, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, has also been mentioned as a possible candidate.

No member of the board has stated openly as yet that he is a candidate for the position which it is expected Mr. Reinberg will vacate.

CITY CLUB GETS ELECTION RETURNS; SEES CARTOONS.

The election returns were witnessed at the City club by a company of 300. About fifty of the number were women. Returns favorable to the election of Alexander A. McCormick as president of the county board and cartoons favoring nonpartisan politics were applauded.

One of the cartoons was by John T. McCutcheon showing Chicago as a woman chained while Progress was marching by. Another was a cartoon of former Senator William Lorimer on the run with THE TRIBUNE in pursuit bearing the inscription, "Let Your Home Paper Follow You on Your Vacation." Another pictured former County President Bartzen firing men out of the windows with the injunction, "You're fired."

Congressman Charles M. Thomson was an interested spectator. He expressed surprise over the showing made by Lawrence Y. Sherman in the returns. Allen B. Pond, president of the City club, circulated among the company, visiting in a social way with several men and women.

"We don't expect any speechmaking," he said, "but every one is free to make a speech if he or she wants to."

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 3.—Republicans scored a sweeping victory in North Dakota today, returns at midnight indicated.

United States Senator A. J. Gronna and Congressmen H. T. Helgesen, George M. Young, and P. D. Norton were reelected and the complete Republican state ticket, headed by Gov. L. B. Hanna, appears to have been successful. The woman suffrage amendment was defeated overwhelmingly.

The Democrats gained in the cities over the vote polled by their party two years ago, but the rural districts were strongly Republican.

SMALL BOYS SERENADE HOME OF JUDGE SCULLY.

Boys living in the vicinity of the home of Judge Thomas F. Scully at 1107 Ashland boulevard gave a serenade last night in front of the judge's home when they heard that he was leading other candidates in the race for judge of the County court. The boys were beating tin pans and waving red fire brands when Mrs. Scully opened the door.

Many of the boys left, but a few remained determined to repeat their song to the judge when he returned.

SENATOR OVERMAN RENAMED

Eight of Ten New Congressmen in North Carolina Democrats, Indications Are.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 3.—United States Senator Overman, Dem., is reelected. Early returns indicated that eight of the ten Democratic congressional nominees had been elected, with both Democrats and Republicans claiming success in the Eighth and Tenth districts.

50,000 GAZE AT VOTE BULLETINS

PHONE GIRLS ARE BUSY.

The faithful little army of war fans who have been gazing nightly at THE TRIBUNE'S war map for the last two months had plenty of company last night. In fact, they were almost lost in the shuffle, for both Madison and Dearborn streets were packed with persons watching THE TRIBUNE'S election bulletins.

It was one of the largest crowds that ever came to get the returns, and mounted policemen were busy for several hours keeping the streets open for the cars and vehicles. As much interest and enthusiasm was exhibited as at presidential elections.

A Bulletin a Minute.

The first bulletin was flashed on the screen at 5:45 o'clock, and for the next two hours fresh bulletins were shown on an average of one every sixty seconds. Within a few seconds of the time the returns came in by phone or wire those on the street were enabled to read the figures, and groans and cheers arose according to their significance. More than 300 bulletins were shown.

It was a shifting crowd and it was estimated that at least 50,000 persons read the bulletins at one time or another.

But the little knot of war fans was undismayed. They stood stolidly on Dearborn street and expounded their theories as strategists as usual. Sometimes the election fans would mingle with them, but it was seldom that a war fan evinced sufficient interest in the election to lose his point of vantage in the front rank by going around in Madison street to read the bulletins.

Plenty of Humor.

"Who'sh 'lected?" asked one man, keyed up by the rumor that Sullivan had won—and maybe by something else—as he edged his way into the midst of the war fans.

"Przemysl," shouted a war fan.

"What ticket wash he runnin' on?"

"Aw, gawn around on Madison street," shouted the fans in chorus. The man went and was still cheering at midnight.

An old man stopped and wiped his glasses with his handkerchief.

"They didn't have those new kind of score boards at the last election I was downtown to, and I can't make out what it means," he explained to a neighbor.

Phone Girls Busy.

Incidents of this kind kept the war fans in a good humor all evening and there were less heated arguments than usual. And as for the election fans, they shouted themselves hoarse.

Besides the thousands who read the bulletins, there were other thousands who obtained the news by phone. Several special telephone operators were kept on the jump all evening, and even in the early morning hours. A surprisingly large percentage of the calls came from women.

"How did Robins come out?" they would ask almost without exception, and when told the news would invariably hang up the receiver with an: "O, shoot!" "Is that—possible? O, shoot!"

NEW YORK VOTE JARS COLONEL; 'NOTHING TO SAY'

Roosevelt Refuses to Comment on the Election of Whitman.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Col. Theodore Roosevelt went to bed disgusted at 10 o'clock tonight. By that time word had come to him that Whitman, the Republican candidate, had been elected governor; that Davenport, Progressive, was running behind Sulzer, and that Colby and other Progressives were making a poor showing in the state.

"So Whitman has won," said the colonel, and he repeated the sentence musingly. "Was it the religious issue?"

Then suddenly he said: "I have nothing to say, absolutely nothing. What could I say?"

He didn't even think he would make any statement tomorrow, when he motors into New York to spend an hour at Progressive headquarters.

"Do you know, I had forgotten it was election night?" he said.

Sums Up Election.

When the outlined reports of the various state elections were read to the colonel, including Penrose's senatorial victory in Pennsylvania, he summed it up as follows:

"It seems to me that the Republicans are winning in the east and the Democrats in the west."

The streets of this village tonight, usually black and empty, were filled with townsfolk, who received the news of the Progressive downfall in the state with commiseration and spoke such sentences as these:

Oyster Bay for Glynn.

Oyster Bay, however, gave Davenport 100 votes to Sulzer's 17, and Glynn, Democrat, 248, to Whitman's 204. Earlier in the day, when the colonel came down from Sagamore Hill to vote the straight Progressive ticket, he said:

"The people of Oyster Bay always listen to me patiently, stand by me when running for office, but never follow my advice."

"I always go to bed early on election night," was the last thing the colonel said, "even when running for office myself. Tomorrow is time enough to know the final results."

OKLAHOMA PICKS DEMOCRAT SENATOR AND GOVERNOR?

Gore Far Ahead and R. L. Williams Leading in Gubernatorial Race in Early Returns.

Governor.....R. L. WILLIAMS
Lieutenant governor....M. E. TRAPP
Secretary of state.....J. L. LYON
State auditor.....E. B. HOWARD
Attorney general....S. P. FREELING
Treasurer.....W. L. ALEXANDER

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 3.—Incomplete and scattering returns received up to 10 o'clock tonight indicate that Robert L. Williams, Democrat, had a comfortable lead over John Fields, Republican, in the race for governor.

The majority of the early returns came from the southern counties. Fred W. Holt, Socialist, is running close to Fields, being ahead of the Republican ticket in a number of counties. The Socialist strength is mainly in the southern districts. John P. Hickam, Progressive, candidate for governor, is receiving a very light vote.

United States Senator Thomas P. Gore is running far ahead of the Democratic ticket and his reelection is assured by a plurality probably exceeding 30,000.

Later returns showed heavy Democratic losses in the southern counties, bringing with them the possibility of the election of Fields to the governorship. According to the available figures he was running far ahead of the rest of his ticket, while Williams was running somewhat behind his.

Indications pointed to a light Progressive vote, it being asserted that John Hickam, Progressive candidate for governor, had not received more than 5,000 votes.

KEYSTONE STATE GIVES PENROSE BIG PLURALITY

Governor..MARTIN G. BRUMBAUGH
Lieutenant governor.....
.....FRANK B. McCLAIN
Secretary of internal affairs.....
..... HENRY HOUCK

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Boies Penrose was elected to the United States senate by a plurality approximating 100,000. Dr. Martin Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for governor, was elected by more than 125,000, and the entire Republican state ticket was swept into office in the election today, according to latest unofficial returns from all parts of Pennsylvania.

This estimate is based on the heavy Republican vote in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and the sweep of the Republican column in such Democratic strongholds as Lehigh and Lycoming counties.

A. Mitchell Palmer, Democratic candidate for United States senator, ran second, with Gifford Pinchot, Progressive candidate, third.

Changes in Delegation.

The lead of the Republicans indicates that the Democratic delegation in the national house of representatives will be reduced from twelve to seven, the Progressives reduced from seven to two, and the Republicans increased from seventeen to twenty-seven.

The four Republican candidates for congressmen-at-large, T. S. Crago, Mahlon M. Garland, Daniel F. Leafean, and John R. K. Scott, were elected, and the full Philadelphia delegation of six congressmen, Vare, Gresham, Moore, Edmonds, Costello, and Darrow, were elected by the Republicans.

The Republicans in all probability have carried into office nineteen of the twenty-seven members of the state senate. They will have a majority in the lower house. At a late hour tonight Democratic state leaders still claimed the election of Vance McCormick, Democratic candidate for governor, by 135,000, but the Progressive state leaders admitted defeat.

Greater Vote than 1912.

Latest returns indicate that Brumbaugh carried Philadelphia by a majority of 115,000 and Penrose by 100,000.

The vote throughout Pennsylvania was exceptionally heavy, exceeding that cast for president in 1912. Factors favoring Penrose were the operation of the Democratic tariff, the liquor interests, and the disaffections existing in the Democratic party.

Sentiment was overwhelmingly against Penrose as a politician, but, paradoxically, it favored him strongly as an exponent of protection. Brumbaugh in view of his personal popularity ran far ahead of Penrose in many sections.

Claims by State Chairman.

Nevin Detrick, state chairman of the Progressive party, said tonight:

"Returns indicate an overwhelming victory for Penrose and Brumbaugh. I attribute this vote to a revulsion against the Democratic administration and the belief on the part of the electorate that the Republican party is the instrument through which there will be a revival of prosperity.

"State issues seem to have been lost sight of by the voters, and the entire results apparently are based on national traditions. Returns from over the state are too meager to predict the congressional and legislative results, but there is little doubt that the returns for the head of the ticket will prevail throughout the state."

SENATOR DILLINGHAM LEADS.

Vermont Republicans Claim Safe Majorities on State and Congressional Tickets.

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 3.—In the fight for the United States senate between the present senator, William P. Dillingham [Rep.] and the former interstate commerce commissioner, Charles A. Prouty, who had the indorsement of both Democrats and Progressives, complete returns from eleven out of fourteen counties gave Dillingham a majority of 6,559. Dillingham carried most of the small towns that reported early. The Republicans claimed safe majorities on the state ticket and in the congressional districts.

KENTUCKY TO DEMOCRATS.

Elect Two U. S. Senators, Nine of Eleven Congressmen, and Judge of State Court of Appeals.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—By large majorities, estimated to range up to 40,000, Kentucky today elected former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, Democrat, for the full term in the United States senate and Johnson N. Camden, Democrat, for the remainder of the late Senator W. O. Bradley's term. Nine Democratic and two Republican representatives in congress were chosen. Rollin Hurt, also a Democrat, was elected judge of the state court of appeals.

SHOT AT POLLS IN TERRE HAUTE

CANDIDATE ASSAULTED

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 3.—Deputy Sheriff Peter Feller was shot and seriously wounded this afternoon during a riot at a Seventh ward polling place by William A. Mitchell, a special election deputy.

Mitchell said he shot in self-defense when assaulted by a crowd of men, but others said the trouble arose when officers attempted to take from Mitchell a gun he was carrying. Mitchell was arrested.

Candidate Is Assaulted.

There were a number of cases of trouble at the polling places as the day wore on. George Klatt, Progressive candidate for sheriff, was assaulted in a Taylorville precinct and badly beaten with a billy.

William E. Horsley, Republican candidate for prosecutor, was arrested after an altercation and was sent to jail, but gave bond and was released.

Refuses to Vote; Is Shot.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—Hubert Satchwell was shot in one of the river precincts today. He said he was shot by a man who insisted that he vote, although he had not registered.

Fatally Stabbed Over Election.

Harrisburg, Ill., Nov. 3.—An argument over the election led to a fight here tonight in which Elmer Dooley was fatally stabbed by two negroes. The negroes escaped and have not been captured, though a posse is in pursuit.

SUFFRAGE BODY BEGINS MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN.

Illinois Association Hopes to Form New Organizations Throughout the State.

Rejuvenation of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association was started yesterday by Mrs. E. L. Stewart, corresponding secretary of the state organization. Mrs. Stewart has found that several of the organizations formerly associated with the state body have died out. Several more failed to send delegates to the convention last week. Letters were sent to these organizations yesterday urging them to renew their suffrage activities.

To Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. G. A. Soden, first vice president, has fallen the responsibility of placing a suffrage organization in every town in Illinois of more than 5,000 population. During the last year seventy-five new organizations were affiliated, making approximately 130 in all. The first efforts of the women will be turned upon Springfield, Bloomington, Rock Island, Moline, Galena, and Belvidere, none of which have suffrage associations affiliated with the state organization.

Bootblack Stabbed in Quarrel.

John Rutter, a colored bootblack living in the Douglas hotel, was stabbed yesterday during a quarrel with another negro, whose name is not known, in a hallway at 29 West Randolph street. His wound is serious.

second in Chenango, which Whitman carried.

Rochester gave Whitman a plurality of 15,508. Syracuse gave him 4,699, and Yonkers 691. Glynn carried Troy by 729 and Auburn by 2,000.

Sulzer Sees Vindication.

Sulzer appears to have run ahead of the Progressive candidate, Davenport. Sulzer was jubilant. He said:

"The verdict of the people speaks for itself. Without money, without newspaper support, and without organization, I have elected Whitman, beaten Glynn, and made Roosevelt look like 30 cents. This is all I can say now."

Mr. Whitman's only comment was: "The result speaks for itself."

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, late tonight said: "By their vote the electors of the state have signified their choice for governor. I hope that he may fill the great office as worthily as his predecessor, Gov. Glynn."

Gov. Glynn tonight sent this message to District Attorney Whitman: "I congratulate you upon your victory."

The governor did not make any comment upon the result. He received the returns at the executive mansion in Albany.

HONORS DIVIDED IN NEVADA.

Election of Republican Senator and Congressmen and of Democratic Governor Indicated.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 3.—Indications here are that a Republican United States senator has been elected and the Republican congressmen have been reElected. A Democratic governor seems to be elected. The vote count is progressing at the rate of twenty ballots an hour and will not be finished for twelve to twenty-four hours.

CUMMINS TO WIN BY 50,000 VOTES; CLARKE LEADING

Governor.....GEORGE W. CLARKE
Lieutenant governor..W. L. HARDING
Secretary of state.....WM. S. ALLEN
Auditor.....FRANK SHAW
Treasurer.....W. C. BROWN
Attorney general...GEORGE COSSON
Railroad commissioners....CLIFFORD THORNE, JAS. H. WILSON

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Scattered returns from today's election show Albert B. Cummins running far ahead of Connolly for United States senator and Gov. George W. Clarke leading J. T. Hamilton for governor.

Indications are that Cummins will carry the state by a plurality of 50,000. From precincts outside of Polk county, in which Des Moines is located, Clarke is running behind Cummins, but is leading Hamilton, the Democratic candidate for governor, in Polk county. Indications point to a victory for Clarke by a plurality of 15,000.

Cummins Leads Connolly.

In 122 precincts out of a total of 2,297 in the state, Senator Cummins had a lead of approximately 16,000 over Congressman Connolly at 11 o'clock. In the governorship race Clarke had a lead of slightly over 4,000 votes on Hamilton.

It was practically certain that Republican candidates for congress had been elected in all of the Iowa congressional districts, except the Second and Third, but no figures were available upon which to make a definite statement. Republican leaders claimed the Second district.

G. O. P. State Ticket Wins?

The Republican state ticket appears to have been elected and the state legislature seems certain to be Republican upon limited returns available.

Caspar Schenck, the Progressive candidate for senator, is far behind, and White, Progressive candidate for governor, has polled a small vote also, according to early returns.

LOSES THREE TEETH; CONVERTS CAMP BULLY.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 3.—Three of the front teeth of A. J. Drexel Biddle, the Philadelphia millionaire, recently went to convert the former bully of a Michigan lumber camp, who is now head of the Drexel Biddle mission in the northern wilds.

"I missed them, but it was worth it," said the Philadelphian, on his way through this city. He told the story of the juggler of Notre Dame, who consecrated to the Virgin Mary his only gift, his tricks of tumbling and of sleight of hand.

"I saw that opera not long before my conversion, and afterward it came back to me," said Mr. Drexel Biddle. "So I thought that it was all right for me to consecrate to my Master's service the only little talent I possess, my athletic skill.

"Until six years ago I was a bad man and a murderer of souls, leading others to be as wicked, profane, and violent as I am. I never stopped doing wrong. Just kept at it all the time; never allowed myself a vacation from wickedness. Six years ago I was converted; now I have to try to make up for the time I wasted."

GOULDS' RIGHT HAND MAN ILL; FIRST TIME IN LIFE.

New York, Nov. 3.—Edward T. Jeffery, railroad financier and right hand man of the Goulds, has been severely ill in his apartment in the Hotel Biltmore.

Mrs. Jeffery said tonight that her husband was recuperating and would be out in a few days. She said that her husband had been attacked with a catarrhal cold.

Except for the present illness he never has been away from business a day under the doctor's care. It was explained tonight that precaution rather than the severity of the attack compelled Jeffery to take a short respite from his office.

'TAFFY KISSES' GIVEN WOMEN IN FIRST WARD AS THEY VOTE

Marion Drake Hears Talk of "$1 or $2" Among Foreign Element as She Watches Polls, She Says.

"Down at the Fifth precinct of the First ward, at the Jones school, 607 Plymouth court, Pat O'Malley was at the head of the line with all the badges on. It looked like an old time polling place," Miss Drake said. "The Democratic workers were lined up and 'Pat' was at the head of the line with a basketful of 'taffy kisses,' inviting all the women to dip into the basket as they passed in.

"In the Twentieth precinct of the Twenty-second ward, where the polling place is in the Twenty-second street police station, commonly known as Colisimo's precinct, I saw a number of Italian women speaking with Democratic watchers and they were talking about whether something should be $1 or $2. I walked into the squadroom of the station, where the ballot boxes were, and saw a little girl go into the booth with an old Italian man and later with an Italian woman. Later I saw her talking to watchers wearing Sullivan and Scully badges."

"BILLIE" ENLIVENS VOTING.

Watchers Coddle Child While Mother Attends to Her Duties as a Citizen at Polls.

"Billie" Krell went to the polls yesterday, but "Billie" didn't vote. In fact, it will be something like nineteen or twenty years before "Billie" will be entitled to cast his first ballot, but he didn't care at all. All bundled up in his baby buggy and decorated with a badge almost as big as his chubby face, he sat outside of the polling place in the Fourteenth precinct of the Twenty-fifth ward and was entertained royally by two women watchers at the polls while his mother, Mrs. A. J. Krell, went inside to exercise her rights of citizenship. There was no one at home to care for the baby, but Mrs. Krell did not let this deter her from casting her ballot.

FUSIONIST LEADS WYOMING.

J. B. Kendrick, Democrat-Progressive Candidate for Governor, Ahead on Meager Returns.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 3.—Only meager returns from Wyoming's state election had been received at 10:30 tonight. Reports from twenty-four out of 582 precincts in the state gave:

For governor: H. S. Ridgeley [Rep.], 475; J. B. Kendrick [Dem. and Prog.], 947.

DEATH FOLLOWS DENIAL OF CANDIDATE'S DEMISE?

Julius Kespohl Calls Story Work of Politicians—Later Fresh Rumor Says He Is Dead.

"Quincy, Ill.

"The report being circulated by corrupt Republican politicians throughout the Fifteenth district that I died last night or that I am dead is a damnable lie and circulated only for the purpose of stealing votes from me. Contradict it with all the publicity you can. I denounce the story and appeal to the voters without regard to party for a square deal.

"JULIUS KESPOHL."

The telegram was received at 11 o'clock in the morning. During the afternoon a rumor reached the headquarters that Mr. Kespohl had actually died shortly after sending out a denial of the rumor of his death. At an early hour this morning the second report had not been verified.

R. I. REPUBLICANS LEAD.

Beeckman, for Governor, 5,000 Ahead, with One-third of the State Heard From.

Governor .....
....R. LIVINGSTON BEECKMAN
Lieutenant governor.....
.....EMORY J. SAN SOUCI
Secretary of state..J. FRED PARKER
Treasurer.....WALTER A. READ
Attorney general..HERBERT A. RICE

Providence, R. I., Nov. 3.—R. Livingston Beeckman, Republican candidate for governor, had a lead of nearly 5,000 votes over his Democratic opponent, Patrick H. Quinn, with returns from one-third of the state at hand tonight.

In the sixty-five of 186 voting districts reported the Republican vote showed a gain of 4,996 over the vote two years ago.

In the First congressional district the vote was very close, but in the Second and Third the Republican candidates had slight margins. The returns, however, were far from complete.

WILLIS GIVING GOV. COX HARD FIGHT IN OHIO

Republican Candidate Making Big Gains Over 1912 Vote; Harding to Senate.

Columbus, O., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Frank B. Willis, Republican candidate for governor, is making great gains over the 1912 vote for his party, and at a late hour tonight the election was considered in doubt.

The returns indicate the defeat of four proposed constitutional amendments, including anti-prohibition, prohibition, suffrage, and classification of property for taxation. Suffrage is beaten by an even greater majority than two years ago.

The Progressive vote throughout the state will be very light. It may not exceed six or seven votes to a precinct, as contrasted with forty in 1912.

Counties Turn Republican.

The returns are very incomplete. Those received contain many surprises. For instance, Willis stands a good chance of carrying Hamilton and Cuyahoga counties, two of the most populous in the state and counties which the Democrats have claimed confidently by substantial pluralities. In 1912 Cox had a margin of 9,600 in Cuyahoga county and 4,619 in Hamilton county.

To overcome the Cox lead of 166,000 in 1912, Willis must gain thirty-one to a precinct approximately. In the cities his gains seem to average seventeen to nineteen to a precinct. The greatest Cox strength admittedly has been in the cities. The large Willis vote in Cleveland and Cincinnati, however, has been a great surprise. Cox is running strong in Dayton, his home city, but in Youngstown the Republican margin is reported as very heavy.

Republican Gain Likely.

Advices from Sandusky county, which two years ago gave Cox 2,500, say the county may be carried by Willis by 800, a net Republican gain of 3,300.

Cox carried Huron county by 600 in 1912. Returns now indicate it has given Willis a plurality in excess of 2,000, a Republican gain of 2,600.

Both the state chairmen, Finley for the Democrats and Jones for the Republicans, claim the state by 60,000.

Late returns served to increase the lead of Warren G. Harding, Republican, over Timothy S. Hogan, Democrat, and Arthur L. Garford, Progressive, and indicated that Harding would be the next United States senator from Ohio, succeeding Theodore E. Burton, Republican.

Former Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Republican, turned the tables on his Democratic opponent, Stanley Bowdle, in the First Ohio congressional district, in which Cincinnati is located, by rolling up a substantial majority over the man who defeated him two years ago.

INSISTS ON 'SIGNING' BALLOT

In the Twenty-sixth ward a woman voter insisted upon signing her name at the bottom of her ballot. She would not believe the judge when he told her this was unnecessary and had quite an argument on the point. The judge won.

HOW GOOD THAT MUSTEROLE FEELS!

It Gets to That Sore Spot Like Magic

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard and other home simples.

It does the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster, minus the plaster and minus the blister!

You simply rub MUSTEROLE on the spot where the pain is—rub it on briskly—and the pain is gone.

No muss, no bother. Just comforting, soothing relief—first a gentle glow then a delightful sense of coolness. And best of all, no blisters like the old-fashioned mustard plaster used to make.

There is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsilitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chilblains, Frosted Feet and Colds of the Chest (it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggists, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size at $1.00.

RETURNS SHOW CANNON IN LEAD FOR CONGRESS

Incomplete Count Indicates His Election Over O'Hair by 3,500 Votes.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 3.—It is believed that the voters of the Eighteenth district have returned Joseph G. Cannon to congress for his twentieth term.

Incomplete returns indicate that the former speaker of the house, and perhaps its most picturesque figure, has defeated Congressman Frank T. O'Hair, who ousted Mr. Cannon two years ago, by 350 votes.

Scattered returns indicate Cannon is running behind his usual vote in Vermilion county, especially in this city. Reports from the other counties of this district are conflicting, but indicate Cannon will carry the northern ones with those in the south in doubt.

O'Hair Will Not Admit Defeat.

O'Hair will not admit his defeat. His managers insist he will be sent back to congress by 1,200 votes.

"Scattering reports from Edgar and Clark counties indicate I am running behind there from fifteen to twenty-five votes in each precinct from the vote two years ago," Congressman Frank T. O'Hair said at 11 p. m.

"However, it appears that I am gaining on Mr. Cannon in Vermilion county, his stronghold, and believe the same will obtain in Iroquois and Kankakee counties.

"If that proves to be the case I stand a good chance of being elected. I will not concede the election until the returns are all in."

Sees Return of Republicans.

Mr. Cannon tonight made the following statement:

"The returns from the election just closed give evidence of the intent of the people of the United States to return the Republicans to full control, and in 1916 the voters will have a Republican majority in the house and in the senate and a Republican president.

"From incomplete returns I gather we have made substantial gains throughout the country. While we may not have elected a majority in the house, the people of the United States have shown their desire to return to Republican policies and Republican prosperity."

Served Long in Congress.

"Uncle Joe," the familiar name by which he was known because of his long service, served in congress continuously from March 4, 1873, to March 3, 1913, except from 1891 to 1893.

He was defeated in 1890 for reelection to the Fifty-second congress. He was reelected to the Fifty-third congress and was speaker of the house during his last two terms. Mr. Cannon is 78 years old.

HE DOES THE HUMANE THING, THEN COMES TO DEEP GRIEF.

Shucks Coat and Helps Lift Horse Into Ambulance and Loses Garment for His Pains.

A crowd pushed about a fallen horse at 1304 Bauwans street yesterday. Joseph Bowers, owner, and his partner, S. Ostapa, 2241 West Nineteenth street, waited impatiently for an ambulance.

Then came George W. Miller of the Illinois Humane society with an ambulance.

Bystanders were requested by the humane agent to give the horse a lift into the wagon. A man was needed to hold on to each of the four uplifted legs. One man more accommodating and better dressed than the others stopped to look at the distressed animal on the ground. After the first glance he pulled off his coat. He was in such a hurry to aid in lifting the horse that he did not notice to whom he had handed his coat in the crowd.

The accommodating stranger grabbed a hoof and heaved. After the horse was comfortable in the ambulance the stranger looked about for his coat.

But while he was performing the humane act to the horse the person who held the coat had vanished with it. Then the crowd laughed at him.

WOMEN AUTOISTS HURT IN CRASH WITH WAGON.

Mrs. E. Lochen and Mrs. Anna Stanton Injured in Smashup on Sheridan Road.

Two women were injured when the automobile in which they were riding last night struck a grocery wagon at Leland avenue and Sheridan road. The injured:

Mrs. E. Lochen of 3715 North Marshfield avenue, right arm broken.

Mrs. Anna Stanton of 5044 North Lincoln street, bruised about the arms.

Mrs. Stanton was driving the car. The grocery wagon was owned by Henry Podolsky, 457 West North avenue. The women were taken to their homes, where they were attended by physicians.

"NOISY BURGLAR" ARRESTED.

Makes So Much Racket When Entering Hotel Guests Are Aroused and Summon Police.

Ralph Wells, 3908 Langley avenue, classed by the police as "a noisy burglar," was arrested early yesterday after he had gained entrance to the Maryland hotel, 732 Oakwood boulevard. He broke a first floor window to enter an unoccupied room, then created so much noise in opening and closing the door when he walked into the hallway that he aroused the guests and the owner, C. Holcomb. The latter called the police, who arrested him.

EMANUEL L. PHILLIP

HEADLESS BALLOT USED

Justice Supreme court	JOHN CAMPBELL
Governor	GEORGE A. CARLSON
Lieutenant governor	MOSES E. LEWIS
Secretary of state	JOHN E. RAMER
State auditor	H. E. MULNI
State treasurer	ALLISON STOCKER
Attorney general	W. B. GOBIN
State superintendent of public instruction	CATHERINE L. CRAIG
Regent state university
Short term	A. D. PARKER
Long term	C. C. PARKS

Denver, Colo., Nov. 3.—The headless ballot was used today by Colorado electors in balloting for United States senator, four congressmen, and a complete list of state and legislative officers.

As a result the count was slow, and at 12 o'clock tonight reports had been received from 220 precincts in twenty-two counties.

These meager returns, which included 80 of 193 election precincts in Denver, gave George A. Carlson, Republican, a lead of 11,082 in his race for governor over former United States Senator Thomas M. Patterson.

Vote for Governor.

Carlson [Rep.]	23,051
Patterson [Dem.]	11,969
Costigan [Prog.]	3,113

Estimates placed the total vote cast at between 200,000 and 240,000.

Sees Carlson by 25,000.

Philip Stewart, Republican state chairman, issued a statement claiming the election of Carlson by 25,000. He asserted the entire state ticket and probably the entire congressional ticket would be carried by the Republicans.

W. H. Gates, Democratic state chairman, issued a statement in which he said: "From our reports the election will be quite close. We are still very hopeful that Senator Thomas will be reelected."

Hubert Work, Republican, was in the lead for senator.

SMOOT LEADING IN UTAH.

First Returns Indicate Close Race for Senate Seat—Republicans and Democrats Gain.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 3.—First Utah returns on senatorial condidates give: Smoot, Rep., 1,908; Moyle, fusion, 1,725. A normal vote is indicated, with Republican and Democratic gains and Progressive losses over two years ago. A total vote in the state of about 100,000 is expected.

MINNESOTA GOES TO DEMOCRATS

Reports Indicate Election of Hammond as Governor By 25,000 to 40,000.

LANDSLIDE IN CITIES.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.—Minnesota, normally Republican by 50,000, apparently, on the basis of returns available at midnight, today elected Congressman Winfield Scott Hammond of St. James, Democrat, governor. Hammond's campaign managers claim his election over William E. Lee, Republican, by between 25,000 and 40,000.

Hammond is polling a phenomenal vote in St. Paul and Minneapolis. He will carry the city by about 10,000, and his plurality over Lee may reach the 12,000 mark.

Every ward and every precinct seems to have been won by the Second district congressman. Even the old standpat Republican Seventh has been swept by the St. James man, not one precinct in this district so far having reported a lead for Lee.

In Minneapolis, Hammond is running equally strong if the first returns can be taken as an indication of the general trend. Thirty-three precincts there out of 157 give Lee 1,359 to 2,054 for Hammond.

SEND CHEER TO WAR NURSES

Resolutions of greetings and good cheer were sent to the fourteen Chicago Red Cross nurses in the European war zone by the First District Illinois State Association of Graduate Nurses at a "Red Cross" meeting at the Auditorium hotel last night.

Miss Jane Delano of Washington, chief of the Red Cross Nursing Service of the United States, and John J. O'Connor, district superintendent of the National Red Cross for middle western states, reviewed the work done by the Red Cross in recent disasters in the United States and work required in the present European war.

Of the fourteen Chicago Red Cross nurses in the European war zone nine are at Petrograd, one each in England and France, and three in Austria. They are in charge of Miss Helen Scott Hay of Chicago and all were reported to have reached their destinations in good health and spirits.

Many Episcopalians Meet.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 3.—The American church congress, which opened its thirty-second annual session here today, brought together Episcopalians from all over the country. The meeting will last four days.

Bricklayer Found Dead.

PHILIPP LEADING WISCONSIN RACE; BLAINE IS IN REAR

Republican Nominee Spelling Death to La Follette's Political Rule.

Governor	EMANUEL L. PHILIPP
Lieutenant governor	EDWARD T. DITHMAR
Secretary of state	JOHN S. DONALD
Treasurer	HENRY JOHNSON
Attorney general	WALTER C. OWEN

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—With Emanuel L. Philipp, Republican candidate for governor, leading John C. Karel, Democrat, by good gains in Democratic territory, and J. J. Blaine, La Follette's candidate, running a weak third, the early returns from all parts of the state indicate Philipp will be elected by 25,000 plurality.

The Blaine candidacy, third in the field in votes polled, spells, apparently, the end of La Follette's domination in Wisconsin, and is added evidence that the verdict of the September primaries, when both Democrats and Republicans nominated standpat candidates, over Progressive opponents, that the days of the Wisconsin idea has passed.

The result in effect is an overthrow of La Follette as political ruler of Wisconsin, and means a new era in political affairs.

Plan to Trade Votes Fails.

The fight over the United States senatorship, analyzed, shows that the Wilson Democrats, who opposed Karel for governor, and nominated Paul Husting for United States senator, tried to work a trade for votes for Husting, giving La Follette men their gubernatorial votes in return for La Follette votes for Husting. In the Republican districts, however, the Republicans did not carry out the compact, and Gov. McGovern will be nearly even with Philipp in the race.

The whole contest has been one involving the progressive idea in Wisconsin. The Philipp argument that since La Follette came into control of state politics taxes have increased 400 per cent has swung the state away from its former progressive idol.

As far as heard from, Republicans have elected six congressmen, the Democrats one, leaving four districts in doubt. The Fourth and Fifth districts, which take in parts of Milwaukee, may possibly elect two Social Democrats in place of two Republican incumbents. The Sixth and Ninth districts are close between Democrats and Republicans.

Combination to Rule.

The new alignment of Republicans will be a combination of the McGovern progressives with the Philipp conservatives on a harmony platform as against the old radical La Follette policies.

Philipp's associates on the state ticket are McGovern progressives with the exception of one La Folletteite, H. A. Dithmar, for lieutenant governor.

Congressional election returns show that the state will send ten Republicans out of eleven congressmen to Washington, instead of the eight present representatives. J. H. Davidson, a veteran Republican, goes back in the Sixth. La Follette and Democratic fusion named Democrats two years ago in the Sixth and Ninth districts, but Republicans have regained control in these districts.

County returns indicate the Socialists may have carried the county and elected W. R. Gaylord, Socialist, over W. J. Cary, Republican, in the Fourth district.

The La Follette-Socialist fight for constitutional amendments providing for state fire insurance, initiative, referendum, and recall apparently has been beaten.

Railroad Hearing for Chicago.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—The interstate commerce commission announced today that a hearing beginning on Jan. 20 would be held in Chicago in course of its investigation of railroad embargoes on freight.

GOV. FERRIS WINS MICHIGAN RACE

ONE MOOSE IS BEATEN.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—At 11 o'clock tonight it was apparent that Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris, Democrat, had been reelected.

Outside of Wayne county Ferris has a lead over Chase S. Osborn, Republican, of 3,500. It is estimated that the Democratic candidate will carry Wayne county by 10,000.

Many of the big agricultural counties, where Osborn expected to receive a heavy vote, have returned Democratic pluralities on the governorship.

The liquor interests made a determined fight against Osborn and Luren D. Dickinson, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, but it is believed Dickinson and the remainder of the Republican state ticket will be elected.

Early returns indicate that Col. George Loud, Republican, has been returned to congress in the Tenth district in the place of Congressman Roy Woodruff (Progressive), the present incumbent.

From Republican headquarters tonight the prediction was made that Michigan would elect twelve Republicans and one Democrat to congress. The Democrats insist, however, that Frank E. Doremus in the First district and Samuel W. Beakes in the Second, the two Michigan Democratic congressmen seeking reelection, will be returned.

The state legislature will be overwhelmingly Republican.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 3.—Early returns from today's general election throughout the state show the election of Oscar Underwood as United States senator and the entire state and congressional Democratic ticket, including Congressman Burnett in the Seventh district, where the only formidable opposition was made against the Democratic nominees.

THIEVES POSE AS WATCHERS OVER SAFE THEY WRECKED.

Two burglars, after breaking into the office of Edinger & Speidel, 1301 Lake avenue, Wilmette, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, where they wrecked the safe and took $800, posed as watchmen investigating the burglary when house movers at work nearby became suspicious on seeing the men inside and the door broken. The burglars left behind a small amount of stamps and silver and $1,400 in checks.

"The burglars made a good haul and they got away before we discovered the broken door," said one of the burglars as his companion, standing in the doorway, coolly lighted a cigar. "I think they got about $600 or $700. It's all right boys; just go on with your house moving job."

As the alleged watchmen hurried away one of the house movers again becoming suspicious, notified the police, but the men had escaped.

SHIVELY CHOSEN; MOOSE BAD THIRD IN INDIANA RACE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Judging from the latest incomplete returns from the majority of Indiana's ninety-two counties the Democrats will return Senator B. F. Shively to Washington by a plurality close to 35,000 votes.

Hugh T. Miller, Republican, will run second and Albert J. Beveridge, Progressive, a weak third.

In spite of the senatorial victory for the Democrats it appears almost a certainty that they will lose at least two seats in congress, probably three, and possibly four of thirteen.

Two years ago the Democrats made a clean sweep of the state, sending Democrats to Washington in the thirteen districts.

Aside from winning the senatorial contest the Democrats were returned the victors in all of the state offices by approximately 10,000 plurality.

Marion County a Surprise.

One of the greatest surprises of the election came in Marion county, of which Indianapolis is a part. It proved a whitewash of all Democratic office-seekers and a complete victory for the Republicans.

Every county office went to the Republicans, and the district gave Merrill Moores, the Republican nominee, a plurality of 5,000 to supplant Charles A. Korbly, the present Democratic congressman. Two years ago the Republicans were swamped by 18,000 votes and the Progressives polled double their total.

Districts Now Republican.

The two districts in which the Republicans are conceded victory, so far as congress is concerned, are the Tenth, in the northwestern part of the state, and the Seventh, which includes Indianapolis. The Sixth, near the Ohio line, appears a close race between the Republicans and Democrats.

The real surprises of the election was the unexpected strength of Hugh Miller, the Republican candidate for senator, and the poor showing of the Progressive candidate. Politicians had figured the race was between Senator Shively and Albert J. Beveridge, the Progressive candidate, and Miller was not regarded seriously.

VICTORY FOR REPUBLICANS LIKELY IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Governor	ROLLAND H. SPAULDING

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 3.—Rolland H. Spaulding, Republican candidate for governor, and Jacob H. Gallinger, seeking reelection to the United States senate on the Republican ticket, had a margin over their opponents, according to early returns.

Their supporters claimed the lead was sufficient to assume them of winning, but other political observers were unwilling to forecast the result on the face of the early figures.

The vote for governor from eighty-one towns gave Spaulding [Rep.], 10,767; Noone [Dem.], 7,855; Allison [Prog.], 892. For United States senator in seventy towns Gallinger's vote was 7,207 and Stevens' 6,162.

CURTIS IN LEAD IN SENATE RACE

Capper, Republican, First in Gubernatorial Contest in Kansas.

HOPE FOR MURDOCK.

Governor	ARTHUR CAPPER
Lieutenant governor	WILLIAM Y. MORGAN
Secretary of state	J. T. BOTKIN
State auditor	W. E. DAVIS
State treasurer	EARL AKERS

Superintendent of public instruction	W. D. ROSS
Superintendent of insurance	CAREY J. WILSON
State printer	W. R. SMITH
Board of irrigation	J. B. HAMMOND, F. A. HINES, L. J. WILSON

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 3.—On incomplete returns from scattered precincts in every section of Kansas up to 11 o'clock tonight Charles Curtis, Republican, appeared to be leading Congressman George A. Neeley, Democrat, and Congressman Victor Murdock, Progressive, in the race for the United States senatorship.

Adherents of Congressman Murdock, however, were claiming their candidate would win with the aid of the votes from the western section of the state, which had just begun to be heard from at that hour. On the returns received Curtis has 2,614 votes; Neeley, 1,835, and Murdock, 1,438.

Capper Ahead for Governor.

Arthur Capper, Republican, was ahead for governor. On the count up to 11 o'clock Capper's vote was 2,986; Hodges', Democrat, 1,937; Allen, Progressive, 1,270, and Billard, Independent, 1,118.

Returns were coming in more slowly than ever before in the history of the state. This was due to the use of the Massachusetts ballot. Election officials declared it took two minutes to count one vote.

Democrat Succeeds Murdock.

A Democrat will succeed Congressman Murdock in the house of representatives. W. A. Ayres is the Progressive leader's successor.

Early indications were that Congressman D. R. Anthony of the First district and P. P. Campbell of the Third district would be returned to the house. In the Sixth district Mrs. E. M. Murphy, Progressive, seemed to be running third.

The vote of the women in the state was estimated to be about two-thirds that of the men.

If the People of Chicago Only Knew

"IF ALL the people of Chicago only knew what a remarkable clothing store this is—what superior values it gives in every item of men's and boys' wear—what complete and satisfactory service it renders to all its patrons—

"If all the people of this city could—and would—come here and see for themselves the cream of the world's twenty best clothes makers instead of only the product of two or three, and embodying every known style and pattern—I say if they only knew these things, they would understand precisely what we mean when we claim to be the largest and best clothing store in the world.

"If they knew the simple fact that every garment they buy here is much better than they can buy elsewhere for the same money—and that consequently their every purchase is the very essence of practical economy. I say they would know this store is their logical goal because it meets every demand they can possibly make in a way that no other store can do.

"If we could induce you all to come and see the great values we have in overcoats, suits and everything else in men's and boys' wear, this store would be far greater than it is, as great as it is."

DEMOCRATS LOSE CONGRESS SEATS · RETAIN CONTROL

Curtis May Win in Kansas.

While the Democrats claim the election of Neeley to the senate in Kansas, former Senator Curtis, Republican, appears to be in the lead and may be declared the victor. Murdock, the Progressive, ran a poor third.

Senator Shively apparently has won out in Indiana by a plurality estimated by the Democratic leaders at 35,000. But it is evident that there was a large slump in the Democratic vote and the Republicans claim that the final returns will give the victory to Hugh T. Miller.

Former Senator Beveridge scarcely had a "look in," so meager was the Progressive vote.

Progressive Vote Dwindles.

To cap the climax of Republican success in the election, the Progressive vote dwindled almost to the vanishing point. An overwhelming majority of the Progressives registered their return to the Republican ranks.

The house remains Democratic, but by a majority greatly reduced from the present margin of that party's control in the popular branch of congress. Instead of 145 votes in excess of the Republicans and Progressives, as in this congress, the Democrats will be fortunate if their majority in the house of the sixty-fourth congress exceeds twenty-five.

Underwood Goes to Senate.

Champ Clark will succeed himself as speaker of the next house without opposition. Majority Leader Underwood will take his seat in the senate, representing Alabama, leaving behind him the question of selecting a Democratic leader of the house, which may develop into a spirited contest.

Claude Kitchin of North Carolina, ranking Democratic member of the ways and means committee, claims the honor by right of seniority, but there are other candidates, among them Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, who ranks next to Kitchin on the revenue committee, and Robert Henry of Texas.

By President Wilson and other Democratic leaders the retention of their party in control of congress, even by the comparatively small margin indicated, is viewed as an enthusiastic popular indorsement of the administration. The leaders of the opposition parties dispute this interpretation, and contend that only the distraction of the public mind by the excitement over the European war saved the Democrats from disastrous repudiation.

Results of Popular Appeal.

Out of the balloting in this most remarkable of "off year" elections, these facts stand out as the salient features of the result of testing the sentiment of the country:

The Democrats received a qualified indorsement—so greatly qualified as to constitute a warning of future fate unless their performances between now and the 1916 election inspire a greater degree of confidence.

The Republicans regained much of the ground they lost in 1912 and are now confronted with the problem of finding a strong leader of their forces in the battle of 1916.

The Progressives retrograded from second to third place in national party strength and now are brought face to face with the question whether Col. Roosevelt and the turn of affairs political in the next two years will revive the pristine vigor of the party of protest against the old regime.

Some Old Guards Come Back.

In many parts of the country the predicted reaction from the demand for political reform which swept the nation in 1912 came to pass. A number of the marshals and privates of the Republican old guard, retired to private life for cause by the people in 1912, demonstrated their ability to "come back."

Uncle Joe Cannon, the most famous of all standpatters, has defeated his victorious opponent of 1912, Frank T. O'Hair, by a margin of 3,500 votes. Also listed among the winners in the incomplete Illinois returns are William B. McKinley, William A. Rodenberg, Charles Fuller, and John A. Sterling, all Republican standpatters who were swept out of office two years ago.

Uncle Joe, who begged the people of the Eighteenth district to give him "just one more term," will now compass his ambition to round out forty years in congress.

Other Results in Illinois.

As Illinois was the stronghold of the Republican old guard the reaction from the sentiment of 1912 is more conspicuous in this state. No other state figures so prominently in the election reports in the return to congress of standpatters who were retired two years ago.

Congressman McKenzie, Republican, in the Thirteenth district, is returned by a plurality of 1,500 over Frank M. Goodwin, Democrat.

Sterling, Republican, in the Seventeenth district, triumped over FitzHenry, Democrat, who defeated him two years ago, the Sterling plurality being estimated at 2,500.

Wheeler Beaten by Graham.

Congressman Graham, Democrat, defeated L. E. Wheeler, Republican, in the Twenty-first district by a plurality of from 1,200 to 1,500.

Representative Copley appears to have won out in the Eleventh district by about 2,000.

The fight in the Twenty-second district was close but the returns give Rodenberg the lead over Congressman Baltz. Congressmen Tavenner, Stone, Fowler, Foster, and Rainey have won, according to incomplete returns.

Results in Chicago Districts.

"Pipes" McDermott in the Fourth district has been sent back to the house, from which he resigned to avoid expulsion for participation in the lobby scandal.

Representative Thomson, Progressive, has been defeated in the Tenth district by former Congressman Foss, who was beaten by Thomson two years ago.

W. W. Wilson, a regular Republican, defeated in 1912, won in the Third district.

Cummins Victor in Iowa.

Senator Cummins of Iowa has been reelected by a plurality estimated at 40,000. Representative Maurice Connolly, backed by the national administration and for whom President Wilson wrote a special letter of commendation, polled practically the entire Democratic vote of the state, but was unable to come within hailing distance of Cummins.

The Republican disaffection which Col. Hepburn endeavored to develop through his attacks on the senator does not appear to have panned out. Reports from Iowa indicate that the vote of disgruntled Republicans, which was split between Connolly and Caspar Schenck, the Progressive candidate, was exceedingly small. The result seems to bear out Senator Cummins' prediction that the election would show a reunited Republican party in Iowa.

The triumph of Cummins in this contest makes him a more commanding figure than ever, and one of half a dozen leaders from whom the Republicans will choose a presidential candidate in 1916.

All of the Iowa congressmen who were candidates have been reëlected, according to incomplete returns. Hull, Republican, appears to have won in the Second district, Sweet, Republican, in the Third, Ramseyer, Republican, in the Sixth, and Dowell, Republican, in the Eighth. If these indicated results are not changed by the complete returns, Iowa, for the first time in many years, will have a solid Republican delegation in congress.

La Follette Man Is Beaten.

According to the latest returns from Wisconsin, Gov. McGovern has been elected United States senator over Paul U. Husting, the Democratic candidate. With the figures far from complete, however, the race appears to have been a close one and the Democrats are still claiming a victory.

In spite of the campaigning of Senator La Follette in behalf of the candidacy of John L. Blaine, Emanuel L. Philipp, Republican, has been elected governor over John C. Karel, the Democratic candidate.

The La Follette campaign against Philipp and indirectly against McGovern appears to have been totally ineffective and the result is regarded in Wisconsin as indicating the waning of the senator's political influence, if not the breakup of the La Follette organization.

All of the members of the present Wisconsin delegation in the house have been reëlected, according to incomplete returns, with the exception of Reilly, the Democratic candidate in the Sixth district, who appears to have been defeated by former Congressman Davidson, Republican, and Representative Cary, Republican, in the Fourth district, defeated by Francis Cannon, Democrat.

Behind Democratic Claims.

The achievement of the Democrats in the national plebiscite falls far short of the expectations of the party leaders, who predicted the return of a majority of 100 in the house.

Compared with the Democratic preelection claims, the result is far from impressive as an indorsement of the Wilson administration by the people.

If the result of an elecent unusually complicated with local issues may be interpreted as an expression of public opinion on the conduct of national affairs by the party in power, there is little gainsaying the conclusion that the voters who went to the polls yesterday gave only a qualified indorsement of the president and his party coadjutors in congress.

From Washington, however, comes the word that the president is delighted with the outcome of the balloting. He regards the return of a Democratic majority, however much reduced, to the national legislature as a vote of popular confidence in the revised tariff, the currency law, the anti-trust legislation, the policy of "watchful waiting" in Mexico, and the measures adopted to safeguard the American republic from economic disasters threatened by the European war.

The president views the result of the election as a response by the people to his appeal to retain the Democratic party in a position to carry out his program of reform legislation and to assure harmonious support in congress for administration policies dealing with the delicate problems arising from the great conflict in the eastern hemisphere.

Opponents Are Jubilant.

The Republicans and Progressives, however, do not concede that their failure to triumph at the polls is an indication of popular approval of the Wilson administration. In statements issued by the leaders of the two opposition parties the reduction of the Democratic majority in congress is pronounced tantamount to a repudiation of Jeffersonian control of the government. Had it not been for the popular excitement over the war which deflected the attention of voters from national issues. say these leaders, the Democratic control of the house would have been wipen out and the Democratic majority in the senate considerably lessened.

Inasmuch as the Democrats as well as the opposition leaders have admitted for some time that the psychological influence of the world war would result in advantage to the party in power, it would appear that the Jeffersonians had a narrow escape from defeat.

COMPOSITION OF NEXT ASSEMBLY RESTS IN DOUBT

Incomplete Returns on Vote Indicate No Party Will Control Legislature.

"The Tribune" is not publishing a list that purports to give the personnel of the Forty-ninth general assembly of Illinois for the reason that at midnight only the most vague returns had been received from the downstate districts and scattering figures only from the Cook county districts. In prior elections the make-up of the house of representatives was determined in most instances by the number of nominations. Yesterday the fact that three parties, Republican, Democratic, and Progressive, presented full legislative tickets precipitated a real fight all over the state and the result of the legislative election is not definitely indicated and probably will not be until late tonight.

The political make-up of the next Illinois house of representatives was "up in the air" at midnight, with no satisfactory set of returns to indicate who had been elected.

Scattering returns from downstate and from the Cook county districts tended to indicate that the preelection forecasts of all except the radical partisans had been borne out by the voting yesterday and that no party will hold enough house seats to elect the speaker without help from one or more of the other parties.

County Option Also in Balance.

The same situation is true as applies to the wet and dry issue, with county option hanging in the balance. The chances seemed to be against the drys having elected a working majority of the representatives-elect, although the headquarters staff of the Anti-Saloon league expressed confidence on the face of reports received there that the next speaker and the house organization will not be dictated by the wet interests.

The indications, as gathered from scattering figures are that the Progressives have elected about the same number of representatives as they had in the last house. The Progressive headquarters insisted that the number of Moosers elected is in excess of thirty-five, a net gain of eight over the 1913 total.

No Party Controls House.

Figures available at the Democratic state headquarters did not warrant a statement from State Chairman Arthur W. Charles that the Democrats had elected the necessary seventy-seven to elect the speaker.

The Republican state headquarters had no definite line on the legislative contests and the managers there were content with the assertion that substantially all of the downstate Republicans had won out and that if Cook county came along with its expected strength there will be enough Republicans to choose the speaker without any necessity of combination with either Democrats, Progressives, or Socialists.

It looked at midnight as if the Socialists had reelected the four men who represented the party in the last session.

Democrats to Control Senate.

The senate, lacking only six Democrats elected yesterday to combine with the holdover Democrats, appears to have gone Democratic, and the organization undoubtedly will be in the hands of the immediate friends and lieutenants of Gov. Dunne and the state administration. By the same token there is plenty of ground for the belief that the wets have an easy working majority in the upper branch of the legislature.

Pending news as to the real makeup of the house the speakership fight is expected to languish a bit. In the event of Republican supremacy the candidacies of Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo and Homer J. Tice of Greenview will be announced without delay.

Saloon Issue Important Factor.

Mr. Tice will be supported openly by all of the close friends of Senator Sherman. Mr. Shurtleff, who is now a dry and a pro-suffragist, will have much of the anti-saloon support, as well as of the state Republican organization men. If the house is dry and the determination is reached to attempt to organize it along wet and dry lines, George M. Wilson of Quincy will be a Republican candidate. Walter M. Provine of Taylorville also will be a Republican candidate.

Lee O'Neil Browne desires to be the wet Democratic candidate, it is reported. W. C. Kane of Harrisburg is likely to be the dry Democratic aspirant. There also will be a Cook county Democrat, who has not yet been picked, in the running.

HELD FOR STEALING BRASS.

John Buski Caught in Railroad Yards After Detective Pursues and Fires.

John Buski of 1742 North Park avenue was arrested by Detective Sergt. Murphy last night after he had stolen several brass journals from cars on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at the foot of Austin avenue.

Detective Murphy saw Buski walking on the tracks, and when he commanded him to halt Buski began running down the tracks. Murphy chased him and after firing three shots overtook him about three blocks away.

In a bag which he carried were found several brass journals, which he is alleged to have admitted stealing.

CHAUFFEUR SAVES GOLD FROM GERMAN ENEMIES.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Before the Bank of France left Paris for Bordeaux several of the provincial branches were given substantial supplies of the sinews of war.

A powerful motor car, heavily laden with gold and securities, was rushing along, with all lights out, on the road to A——, when a tire burst.

The chauffeur was busy repairing the damage when a patrol of ten uhlans and a captain came up and surrounded him and his companion.

Pointing a revolver at the chauffeur, the captain got up beside him and ordered him to take the road for M——. Half an hour later they came to cross roads.

"Which?" asked the chauffeur.

The captain hesitated, took out his map and looked at it. Just then an old peasant came up and the German officer, his eternal revolver in his hand, commanded him to tell him where they were or he would blow his head off.

While the peasant, trembling, was pointing out the direction of M——, the chauffeur, lifting the seat, seized his revolver, and, quick as lightning, blew the officer's brains out.

Then, sending the car headlong among the uhlans, he scattered them in all directions, while their shots went wide. The daring chauffeur eventually arrived at A—— with his precious cargo intact.

NEBRASKA GIVES MOREHEAD LEAD; REAVIS LEADING

Governor.....JOHN H. MOREHEAD
Lieutenant governor..JAS. PEARSON
Secretary of state....CHAS. W. POOL
Auditor.....WILLIAM H. SMITH
Treasurer.....GEORGE E. HALL
Attorney general...WILLIS E. REED
Superintendent of public instruction.....P. M. WHITEHEAD
Railroad commissioner.....
.....WILL M. MAUPIN
Regents of state university.....
G. W. NOBLE, JOHN E. MILLER
Commissioner of public lands and buildings.....W. B. EASTHAM

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Returns that are far from complete up to 11 o'clock indicate the following results in Nebraska:

Election of Morehead, Democrat, for governor by a plurality slightly reduced from that of two years ago, with the remainder of the state ticket in doubt.

A Republican gain of a congressman in the First district, where Reavis has probably defeated Maguire, Democrat, by a small plurality.

Results in Congress Fights.

Reavis appears to have carried his own county of Richardson, usually substantially Democratic, as well as the counties of Johnson, Pawnee, and Cass, while Maguire has fallen behind from his usual vote in his home county of Lancaster. The vote for Lyford, Progressive, is light.

The few returns from the Fourth district, compared with the vote of two years ago, show almost that Sloan, Republican, has won over Rhodes, Democrat. Sloan, who is also the Progressive and Prohibition nominee, appears to be polling the full vote of the three parties.

In the Fifth district Barton, Republican, the present congressman, is having a hard fight with Shallenberger, Democrat, and is not showing the strength he manifested two years ago.

Returns received in Lincoln from the Second, Third, and Sixth districts are too incomplete to forecast the result, but indications are favorable to Lobeck, Democrat, in the Second; Stephens, Democrat, in the Third, by a reduced plurality over two years ago, and Kinkaid, Republican, in the Sixth, whose election was virtually conceded by the Democrats from the time he was nominated by both Republicans and Progressives.

Returns on State Ticket.

Returns on the state ticket from the eastern tier of counties are favorable to Morehead, running for a second term. Howell, the Republican candidate, is doing well in the conutry districts of the First and Fourth congressional districts, but Sackett, Progressive, is cutting into what usually would be reliable Republican territory.

At the Republican state headquarters it was asserted that if Howell won even on a close vote there was no chance for doubt on the remainder of the state ticket and this claim was not disputed by Democrats, who asserted, however, their belief that Morehead's plurality would be so pronounced that chances were excellent for him pulling through the entire ticket with the possible exception of chief justice of the Supreme court, which is generally conceded to Justice Reese, Republican.

Results will not be known tonight on legislative candidates, but, with possibly one exception, the Republicans in Lancaster (Lincoln) county have elected their entire ticket for both senate and house.

INSIST CROWN PRINCE HAS BEEN SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Travelers to Switzerland from Strassburg Say He Is Being Cared For at Palace There.

GENEVA, Switzerland, via Paris, Nov. 3.—For several days rumors have drifted into Basel that Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany had been wounded in the fighting in France.

These reports could not be verified, but travelers who arrived here Monday from Strassburg insist that they are true.

They say that the prince is seriously though not mortally wounded and has been taken to the palace at Strassburg for treatment. Several specialists from Berlin, they declare, have arrived at Strassburg to take care of him.

PRIZES WON BY CHICAGOANS.

With the opening of Anna Pavlowa's American tour at Bridgeport, Conn., comes the announcement that two Chicagoans have won prizes offered by the dancer for modern ballroom music. One of them is Edward C. Moore, the music critic of an afternoon paper. Mr. Moore won a $500 prize with a dance to be called "Pavlowana." The other Chicagoan, Harry R. Auracher, divides a $500 prize with H. B. Ackley of Waukesha. The third prize of a similar amount was won by Philip I. Jacoby of San Francisco. Two hundred and eighty-three composers entered the competition.

BRITISH BUY HARNESS IN U. S.

Entire Order Given South Bend Firm Is for $6,500,000 Worth—Sublet on Contract.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—Contracts for an aggregate of $1,000,000 worth of harness for the British army—part of a $6,500,000 order placed with a firm in South Bend, Ind.—were sublet to five saddlery manufacturing companies of St. Louis yesterday. The entire order is for 20,000 sets of six horse harness. A saddle is required for every other horse. The equipment, therefore, will be comprised of 60,000 saddles and 120,000 harnesses.

Methodist Bishop Buried.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 3.—The funeral of Bishop Charles W. Smith of the Methodist Episcopal church, who died suddenly in Washington last week was held from Christ Methodist Episcopal church here today. Distinguished clergymen and a large concourse of friends attended the services.

He Will Be Boss of Sheriff's Office.

JOHN E. TRAEGER

John E. Traeger, city controller, will transfer himself to the county pay roll. He will be boss of the sheriff's office. His home is at 921 West Fifty-fourth place.

JOHNSON LEADS IN CALIFORNIA

VOTING GOES SLOWLY.

Governor.....HIRAM JOHNSON
Lieutenant governor.....
.....JOHN M. ESHLEMAN
Surveyor general.....
.....W. S. KINGSBURY
Secretary of state.....
.....FLORENCE J. O'BRIEN
State controller.....
.....JOHN S. CHAMBERS
State treasurer.....
.....FRIEND W. RICHARDSON
Attorney general.....U. S. WEBB

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3.—Scattered returns from all sections of the state indicate a landslide to Gov. Hiram Johnson, Progressive candidate for reelection, over John D. Fredericks, Republican, and John B. Curtin, Democrat. Every precinct reporting up to 9:45 o'clock gave a Johnson plurality. In Los Angeles, Fredricks' home county, Johnson was far in the lead.

Fifty Measures on Ballot.

Eight o'clock tonight, an hour after the legal time for closing the polls, found voters in scores of California precincts still wrestling with a ballot comprising a full state and congressional ticket and fifty initiative and referendum measures.

District attorneys generally ruled that any one in line at 7 p. m. was entitled to vote, and there were many of these, making it certain that little would be known even of approximate results until the morning hours.

Ballot Marking Slow.

The average male voter took ten minutes to mark his ballot. The slowest man reported took an hour and a half, and women generally needed about twenty minutes to look the huge sheet of paper over.

No information was expected tonight as to the fate of proposed prohibition, the anti-prize fight, and universal eight hour measures, or the other forty-seven propositions put before the voters.

SPEEDING AUTO THIEVES INJURE MAN AND WOMAN.

Knock Down Pedestrians at South Halsted and West Thirty-sixth Streets.

A man and a woman were knocked down and injured when they were struck by a stolen automobile at South Halsted and West Thirty-sixth streets last night. The two men said to have stolen the car were captured when the car ran into the curbing after knocking down the two pedestrians. Those hurt are:

Miss Minnie Krordaratec of 826 West Thirty-third place, cut on the leg and on the arm.

The alleged automobile thieves gave the names of John Kane, West Fifty-fifth street and Lowe avenue, and "Polock Frank." The car belonged to Dr. E. Fowler of 117 East Thirty-fourth street.

"POP" CONCERT TOMORROW.

First of Series of Six to Be Given by Symphony Orchestra This Season.

The first of the series of six "popular" concerts to be given by the Chicago Symphony orchestra will take place in Orchestra hall tomorrow evening. The program includes Weber's Overture to "Euryanthe," the Andante from Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, Godard's Adagio Pathetique, Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker" suite, opus 71a; Massenet's scenes "Neapolitan," the Bach-Gounod Ave Maria (the violin obbligato of which will be played by Mr. Harry Weisbach), Ries' Perpetuum Mobile (to be played by all the first violins), Voices of the Forest from Wagner's "Siegfried," and the Johann Strauss waltz, "Wine, Women, and Song."

TRIES TO PASS BAD CHECK?

Detectives Arrest Henry Behman in Milwaukee Avenue Clothing Store.

Henry Behman, who has no permanent address, was arrested yesterday by detectives after he is alleged to have attempted to pass a worthless check in the Benson & Rixon company's store, 1297 Milwaukee avenue.

At the station he is said to have admitted cashing twenty-five checks throughout the city.

STONE TO KEEP SEAT IN SENATE; WINS BY 50,000

Early Returns Assure Democratic Candidate Comfortable Majority.

Justice of Supreme court.....
.....JAMES T. BLAIR
Superintendent of education..
.....HOWARD A. GASS
Republican.
Judge of Supreme court.....
.....R. S. ROBERTSON
Superintendent of education..
.....WILLIAM P. EVANS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—Unofficial figures based on the returns complete at midnight from 41 out of 114 counties in Missouri show that Senator William J. Stone is elected over Thomas J. Akins, Republican, by 50,000 majority.

The remainder of the Democratic state ticket is elected by about 25,000.

Election of Stone Conceded.

Chairman J. L. Babler of the Republican state committee, with forty counties heard from at 9 o'clock, declared that the Republicans had gained 20 per cent over the vote of two years ago and that the Democratic losses had equaled 25 per cent. He virtually conceded the election of Stone, but said that Akins still was running a good race.

Republican strength is evident in the city, while the rural vote is strongly Democratic. The Republicans made their best showing in St. Louis and thus served to cast doubt on the city elections.

Congressional Contests.

The Democrats seem to have elected fourteen of sixteen congressmen. William L. Igoe, Democrat, of the Eleventh district [St. Louis], is the only incumbent whose defeat appears to be certain. Henry A. Hamilton, Republican, is probably elected.

Dyer, Republican, appears to be elected in the Twelfth district [St. Louis], and Meeker, Republican, in the Tenth [St. Louis]. Dyer was unseated in favor of Michael Gill early in the last session of congress.

Country Vote Democratic.

The country districts, partial returns indicate, piled up a big vote for the Democratic ticket, and it seemed assured on the face of the returns up to 10 o'clock that James T. Blair had been reelected to the Supreme court and Howard A. Gass reinstalled as superintendent of schools.

Incomplete returns indicate the Democrats will retain control of both branches of the legislature.

The Progressive vote in Missouri fell below the figures of two years ago, when Col Roosevelt carried the Progressive banner. Many former Moosers voted the Democratic senatorial and congressional tickets.

Champ Clark Re-elected.

Montgomery, Mo., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Incomplete returns from the Ninth district indicate the reelection of Speaker Champ Clark by between 3,000 and 5,000 majority. His Republican opponent, John C. Brown, concedes defeat by 2,000 or more.

This is the tenth time Clark has been elected. He says he will be reelected speaker if the house is Democratic.

WALSH IN FRONT IN BAY STATE

Democrats Lead for Governor, but Are Expected to Lose Other Offices.

MOOSE VOTE FALLS OFF.

Governor.....DAVID I. WALSH
Lieutenant governor..G. D. CUSHING
Secretary of state...A. P. LANGTRY
Treasurer...CHARLES L. BURRILL
Auditor.....ALONZO B. COOK
Attorney general....H. C. ATTWILL

Boston, Mass., Nov. 3.—David I. Walsh, Democrat, was leading, according to returns from more than three-quarters of the state in today's election, with the prospects of Republican victory for the rest of the state.

Progressive Vote Falls Off.

The smallness of the Progressive vote, which last year gave the party second place in the state, was a feature of the election.

In many small towns the Progressive vote for the head of the ticket fell off from 50 to 75 per cent, and in the first 886 election districts compiled the total for Joseph Walker, the party nominee for governor, was only 22,916, as against 92,510 for Charles S. Bird, who headed the ticket a year ago.

Republicans for Congress.

Congressional figures were slow in coming in. Early returns indicated little change in the complexion of the Massachusetts delegation.

Allen T. Treadway, in the First district, Frederick H. Gillett in the Second, Calvin D. Paige in the Third, A. P. Gardner, in the Sixth, and William S. Greene in the Fifteenth, all Republicans, were reelected by substantial majorities.

Early legislative returns indicated that the Republican majority would be considerably increased. A net gain of twenty Republicans in the house and four in the senate was shown at midnight.

Girl, Supposedly Poisoned, Rushed to Hospital—Then Admits Frolic at Cafe.

Miss Margaret Baird of Colfax, Ill., and a lobster took a hurried automobile trip early yesterday to St. Luke's hospital. The young woman, who is a nurse, told the physicians she was poisoned.

Detectives were called in to work on the "poison puzzle." The sleuths tried to find out whether a man who had accompanied Miss Baird at an after theater dinner in a loop café had administered the poison or whether the young woman had taken it herself.

When the physicians after an examination decided that there were no drugs in the young woman's system, she revived and explained that "it was the lobster."

Special style in trousers
Hart Schaffner & Marx

TROUSERS are designed now to carry out the general idea of the whole suit; to give the slender appearance sought for in the draping of the coat.

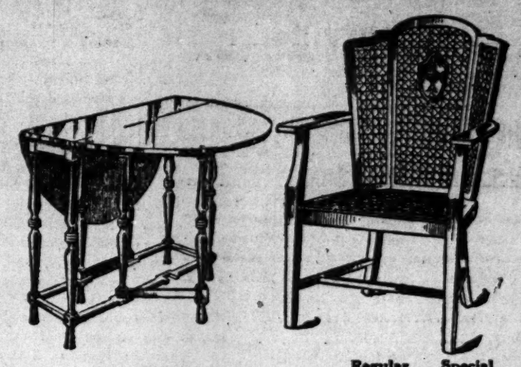

They hang straight from the hips, with no "break" at the instep; the bottom rather narrow; mostly with turnup.

In short, style in trousers is now as important a matter as style in coats. Our label in clothes is a small thing to look for, a big thing to find.

Scholle's Economy Ideas

	Regular Price	Special Price
All Solid Mahogany Gateleg Table, top 34 inches by 44 inches	$28.00	$19.00
"The Vassar" Brown Mahogany and Cane Fireside Chair & Rocker, each	$25.00	$15.75

THIS is real economy in furniture buying; buy first for quality, second for price; get the combination and you get the greatest possible value for your money.

You want your money to go far; don't buy on looks alone. The other day a customer came to us and priced an article we had marked "special"; she said she could buy the same thing elsewhere for $2.50 less. We sent out and bought one of the "just like Scholle" kind and put it side by side with the "real thing." They do look alike; we can't criticise the customer for saying so, but when examined they show a lot more than $2.50 difference. She realized it.

This store is full of big values; heirloom quality—Scholle quality, and it doesn't cost extra for this; it just requires good judgment.

	Regular Price	Special Price
Solid Mahogany Library Table, 30 inch x 50 inch top	$ 45.00	$29.00
William and Mary Writing Table, in brown mahogany	70.00	56.00

TURKEY TEMPTS FATE.

Turkey seems to have put all its fortunes in Europe to one touch of fate. After several days of provocative incident attended by insufficient explanation the entrance of the Ottoman empire into the Teutonic war appears to have been made definitely with purpose.

If the allies hereafter can dictate terms they will find another method of keeping a balance in the Balkans which will not require the presence of an Asiatic power at the entrance to the Black sea.

It need not be supposed that Germany has offered any hope of great territorial increase in Europe. A restitution of territory to the extent of the old Turkish empire in Europe might be in the prospectus, barring Albania, which Austria wants, but there is a north African empire which once belonged to Rome and which now belongs to Great Britain, France, and Italy. Egypt, which is British, may be sufficient reward for the Turks if the Germans win. French Africa would become German Africa.

If the allies win Turkey again will be an exclusively Asiatic government and the Ottomans will return to their cradle.

THE PAROLE.

Administration of the parole law has been through a fire of criticism lately. It has been assailed in various quarters for being addicted too much to what is termed "sentimental leniency." It is charged that many crooks and criminals, who should be behind prison bars for their own good as well as that of the community, have "put it over" on the parole officers and have gained freedom by masquerading as repentant sinners.

The difficulties in which the parole law finds itself are such as every worthy cause or movement is bound to experience. The weakness of all reform movements is that the wolf in the sheep's skin often gets the best of them. While the parole was designed primarily to help first offenders get back to a life of decency, it is often exploited by the crook to obtain freedom. The real criminal is frequently much more able to present a plausible case than the first offender. He is coached for his rôle. He has friends to plead. He can even use political pull in a roundabout way.

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Cook County Circuit court urges that the law be applied "conservatively and with skill." He would have the parole officers investigate the character and past history of every offender seeking release upon probation. With such testimony before him the judge would be in a position to discriminate between the offender whose repentance is real and the criminal whose release would be detrimental to the community.

This is an excellent suggestion. It would be a mistake to discredit the parole law because it is occasionally taken advantage of by a hardened criminal who is a good actor. The thing to do is, as Judge McGoorty suggests, to make it impossible for the seasoned criminal to pose as soft clay which is waiting for the hand of the reformer to remodel it.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAUS.

A recognized factor in the solution of the problem of unemployment is the state or municipally conducted free employment bureau. In Germany there is not an industrial city of importance that has not such a municipal labor exchange. The men in charge of these exchanges have a thorough familiarity with industrial conditions not only in their city but throughout the nation. Because of this expert knowledge of the labor market on municipal, state, and even national scale the jobless man is quickly brought in contact with the employer in need of help.

A number of states in this country have within recent years established free employment bureaus. Our own state is among them. The state employment bureaus in this country, however, are of no vital help to the community, according to investigations made by the United States commission on industrial relations. The report of the commission's investigator, Mr. C. B. Barnes, characterizes the free employment bureaus of this country as an "economic loss" to the community, rather than a gain, in most cases.

The curse of the free employment bureaus in the United States—and that holds good of the employment bureaus of Chicago—is their mismanagement, Mr. Barnes says. The men appointed to head these bureaus are not chosen for their fitness, but out of political considerations. Men without experience in the industrial field, without any interest, humanitarian or scientific, in the problems of labor, are given jobs in these offices as "political plums." The result is that no effort is made to place these employment bureaus on a scientific, efficient basis.

The investigator of the commission on industrial relations charges the state employment offices, in Chicago and elsewhere, though he does not specify, with being "loafing places for bums and hobos." A decent workman does not enter such a bureau, he alleges, because it is known to specialize only in "short jobs" for "down and outs." The bureaus are charged with issuing inaccurate statistics about their work. They are slipshod in the manner of recording information about employés and employers. They have failed to make themselves competitors of the private employment agencies—which they were intended to be—because of their utter incompetency. "Their superintendents are inactive," says Mr. Barnes, "and they have failed to arouse the slightest public interest in their work."

These are serious charges, and, coming as they do from expert sources, they should be given prompt consideration. If the state of Illinois thinks it worth while having free employment bureaus, it ought to see to it that these bureaus do not belie their name. The subject of worklessness in this country is especially keen now, in view of unsettled industrial conditions on account of the war. The employment bureaus in this city should be headed by men who have both training and character for the work.

NAVAL POWER IN THE BLACK SEA.

The mysterious activities of the Goeben and Breslau, now presumably Turkish, though manned by German officers and crew, bring up the question of the naval situation in the Mediterranean. The phase of immediate interest is the relative strength of Russia and Turkey in the Black sea. The Goeben, a battle cruiser of high speed and powerful battery, undoubtedly is the most formidable unit in those waters, where Russia has no ship of dreadnought rank. She has, however, 8 pre-dreadnoughts, 2 large cruisers, 18 destroyers, 16 torpedo boats, and 5 submarines, while Turkey has the dreadnought cruiser Goeben, renamed Sultan Yawus Selim (Sultan Selim the Grim), and the light cruiser Breslau, renamed Midellu (Mitylene), each with a complement of German sailors, which raises the efficiency of the ships considerably above Turkish naval standards. Besides these new units Turkey has the armored cruisers Medjidieh and Hamidieh, completed in 1904, each carrying two 6 inch and eight 4.7 inch guns, and three old battleships carrying 11 inch and 9 inch guns. She also has two or three torpedo cruisers.

The preponderance in metal and numbers and the advantage in age lies with the Russian fleet, but the discrepancy is not so great that the superior speed, weight, and efficiency of the Goeben might not turn the scale. Much greater odds have been overcome in naval history by the factor of tactical skill, marksmanship, or daring fighting spirit.

Unfortunately for the allies, their preponderance in the Mediterranean cannot be drawn on to insure a balance in their favor in the Black sea, since the running of the Dardanelles would be likely to be costly if not impossible.

At the beginning of the war the French naval power in the Mediterranean consisted of 4 dreadnoughts, 18 pre-dreadnoughts, 20 armored and protected cruisers, 84 destroyers, 70 submarines, and 153 torpedo boats—the last small and probably only available for use in harbor defense. Great Britain had 3 of the formidable battle cruisers, 4 armored cruisers, 16 destroyers, 6 submarines, 16 torpedo boats, and 2 gunboats.

Austria-Hungary has 3 dreadnoughts and 3 pre-dreadnoughts carrying 12 inch guns, and 9 pre-dreadnoughts carrying 9.4 inch guns, 2 armored and 9 light cruisers, 19 destroyers, and 11 submarines.

Thus the allies easily outweigh and outnumber their foes in Mediterranean waters. Italy is credited by Brassey with 9 battleships, including 1 dreadnought and 16 cruisers of first and second class. This force would not turn the scale against the allies in the Mediterranean in the unlikely event of Italy joining Germany, but it would be a welcome accretion to the allies' naval force if Turkey's action precipitates anything serious in the way of revolts in Egypt and French North Africa.

ANOTHER MARVEL.

An organization which is found ready to devote itself to the work of rescuing a nation more stupendously affects the imagination than an organization which is found ready to devote itself to the work of destroying one.

The ultimate necessity of destruction may have been anticipated and the method of meeting it worked out with precision. Germany built up a war machine in undisturbed hours of peace and built it to meet every imaginable exigency. The United States has found that it has an organization devoted to the alleviation of suffering which, without anticipating the particular necessity to which it now addresses itself, is able, with a slight readjustment of its methods, to meet that particular necessity.

The Rockefeller institute has undertaken the work of rescuing Belgium from its hardships, of which the chief is lack of food. Unorganized sympathies might have caused much scurrying about and raising of funds, but the Rockefeller foundation merely deflects its energies and is found almost equal to the task of lifting a nation out of distress. No agency anywhere nearly equal to this ever existed before.

FASHION NOTES.

[From Scribner's.]

All over the world national and class costumes are giving way to Paris styles. I don't believe this is so much due to the light mindedness of our modern civilization having penetrated to small communities, as it is to the sudden eagerness of these small communities to compete with the great social and industrial centers, and the increased opportunities among the lower classes, especially in our own country, for rising to a higher social level.

Whatever the economists may say about the high cost of living, the extravagance of women, and the inability of young men to marry, the badge of fashion is, in the eyes of the world, the emblem of prosperity and progress. All working men and women know that the more prosperous they appear the better positions they are able to ask for. Far from being ridiculous, I think the figure of the little shop girl or apprentice who, with aching back and smarting eyes, sits sewing beneath a gas jet far into the night in order that her scanty wardrobe may look "up to date," is very pitiable indeed.

We are all doing that in a great or less degree—straining to echo the dernier cri so we shall not be left behind. We hardly accustom ourselves to a style before it is out of style. We have come to regard the edicts of Paris as law.

But now, when the speed of the shifting fashions has taken on kaleidoscopic proportions; now, when the chase has never seemed so hot, I am sure I hear murmurs of revolt. An ever growing majority of our women are beginning to vindicate their reputation for independence and assert a will of their own. Already there is much talk about "American styles for American women." It is going further.

Had I the gift of organising I would venture on a crusade tomorrow. I would bend the efforts now expended on "making over" toward the creation of artistic, though not necessarily expensive, clothes, designed to show to advantage the wearer's best points. Each woman would be at liberty to follow her own inclination as to comfort, style, color, and fabric, and each would, as a result, be appropriately and individually gowned. The incentive toward self-expression would be greater than the anxiety to ape one's neighbor, and the style motive would automatically disappear. I cannot see that this would cripple any of the industries either; their products would simply take a different form.

INDEED, YOU CAN'T.

I shot a pome into the Tower,
It showed acumen, skill, and power;
Yet no ope grabbed me by the hand

But some one went to work and wrote:
"Dear Sir, You are a rotten pote."
Another said, "You have no style."
Another, "My, that verse is vile!"

And so I thought, "Why slave and strive
To be the greatest bard alive?
I'll write without the slightest care
For words and rhythm and rime—so there!"

Whereat I did a slipshod rime
And said, "To print it were a crime."
'Twas printed. . . . And the public swore
As roundly at me as before.

I learn from these two flights in rime

In fact, though earnest your endeavor,
It's difficult to please 'em ever. F. P. A.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.

AN epidemic of foot and mouth disease is at present prevailing in southwestern Michigan and northwestern Indiana. As this is a dairy district, and as foot and mouth disease can be transmitted to the human subject by milk, butter, and cheese, the disease is of interest to the readers of this column.

Foot and mouth disease is a malady of cloven footed animals. It belongs in Europe. Rosenau tells us that it has invaded this country on five occasions prior to this. The last invasion prior to this was in 1908, at which time it caused great loss around Philadelphia and Detroit.

When the disease was discovered the bureau of animal industry took active charge of the invaded districts, and within a few weeks the disease was under control. Its complete suppression necessitated the killing of a large number of cows and was done at great expense.

In this epidemic the same bureau assumed charge as soon as the diagnosis was made, and the situation is being handled in its usual masterly way. The disease will shortly be under control and before long it will be eradicated, but the expense to farmers and to governments will be great.

The cause of the disease is a microbe too small to be seen with any microscope. It passes through the pores of a porcelain filter, and therefore it is classed as a filterable virus. This was the first ultra-microscopic filterable virus to be discovered.

The virus can be transmitted to human beings by the milk. Although the disease in animals is violent and often fatal, in the human subject it is mild. It occasionally produces death.

Children sick with foot and mouth disease have fever and vomiting; small blisters appear in the mouth; swallowing is difficult; sometimes slight blisters appear on the fingers.

Rosenau says: "Man is infected through the ingestion of raw milk, buttermilk, butter, cheese, and whey from animals suffering with foot and mouth disease. It may also, though more rarely, be transmitted directly from the salivary secretions."

Rosenau also says that foot and mouth disease cannot be transmitted by vaccination or any other variety of skin wound.

The virus is easily killed by heat. Experiments made in Denmark and Germany have proved this. Milk pasteurized at 140 degrees for twenty minutes is safe.

There is no reason for alarm. So long as the disease continues all milk and milk products from the infected districts should be pasteurized. Any consumer of milk who is not certain of his supply should home pasteurize. Physicians in the district or near it should inquire carefully into their cases of stomatitis.

WEAKNESS OF ELDERLY PEOPLE.

S. writes: A man 74 years of age always in perfect health notices that he cannot walk as much as he should. He has a lameness or weakness in his legs. He would like answers to the following questions:

1. Will hot baths or cloths applied to the legs or lower limbs be beneficial?
2. Will a restricted diet, cutting out meats, sweets, pastries, etc., be helpful?
3. Are tea and coffee hurtful or beneficial, either or both?
4. What is the most beneficial course to help or benefit such weak limbs—to restore their vigor or vitality?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. Many old people suffer from cramps in the legs due to intestinal indigestion. The articles of diet usually at fault are those rich in starch and sugar. Such people should eat lightly of starches and sugars, especially at supper.
3. Harmful. Old people accustomed to their beverage should continue its use.
4. Have a physician examine for heart disease, kidney disease, and rheumatism. If these are eliminated, exercise in the open air is the proper plan. A proper use, under medical direction, of some of the internal glandular secretions is helpful to some.

MOTHER IS OVEREATING.

Mrs. C. F. writes: "What food should a mother eat who is nursing a baby 4 weeks old? My baby is growing and sleeps well at night, but has colic each afternoon and evening. Her bowels are in good condition. I give her a little water each day that has been boiled; also Castoria; once in a while a dose of Hand's colic cure. Have only had her out four times. Should she be taken out each day?"

REPLY.

You are probably overeating. Colic generally results from overfat milk. Eat plain, substantial food. Do not go on any diet except that you should eat rather freely of fruit. It is not a good plan to give Castoria every day and colic cure "once in a while." Take her out every fine day.

STOP THE HABIT.

E. R. writes: "[1] Has bromo seltzer taken in large quantities by a woman (say one 25 cent bottle every day or two habitually) any effect upon her physically and mentally? If so, what are the effects and consequences, physically and mentally? [2] Can you suggest any way to break the habit?"

REPLY.

1. Yes. The acetanalid in the mixture changes the blood cells in such a way as to produce headaches and induce general ill health.
2. The use of the drug should be stopped at once. A drink of carbonated water from time to time during the day will be helpful. If the person has not the determination to cure herself alone, rest in a sanitarium will help.

REPLY TO J. J. J.

As the condition persists, it is probable that you have a polyp or some other condition in your nose which serves to perpetuate it. You should have your nose examined.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1914: By the Brentwood Co.]

LORD FISHER'S resumption of the post of first sea lord of the admiralty, from which he retired four years ago with the rank of admiral of the fleet, a seat in the house of lords, and a special pension of $10,000 a year, in recognition of his services in the reorganization of the navy, is likely to have the result of the resignation of Winston Spencer Churchill from the head of the admiralty or, at any rate, his transfer to some other post in the cabinet. To any one who knows Lord Fisher and Winston Spencer Churchill it is difficult to see how the two can possibly work together.

Baron Fisher, like Earl Kitchener, is extremely impatient of nonprofessional interference in questions relating to his calling, and, like Lord Kitchener, too, he is very masterful and insists on having his own way.

When he was last at the admiralty as first sea lord its chiefs were, first, Lord Tweedmouth, who lost his reason and was obliged to be superseded, and then Reginald McKenna, now secretary of state for the home department. Both men were entirely dominated by Lord Fisher and relegated by him to the background.

Winston Spencer Churchill is far too aggressive, opinionated, and convinced of his own importance to submit to this, and a clash with Lord Fisher is certain to result, which will involve the withdrawal of Mr. Churchill from the admiralty.

Just as the appointment of Lord Kitchener as secretary of state for war was forced upon the extremely reluctant cabinet by overwhelming popular sentiment, so in the same way has public feeling been chiefly instrumental in compelling the appointment of Lord Fisher in the place of Prince Louis of Battenberg as first sea lord at the admiralty.

The nation looks upon him as just as much "the indispensable man" at the admiralty in this hour of peril to the empire as it looks upon Lord Kitchener as being indispensable at the war department.

Lord Fisher's return to the admiralty means much more of a lack of public confidence in Mr. Churchill than in Prince Louis of Battenberg, and, if there be any differences of opinion between Lord Fisher and Mr. Churchill—differences which are inevitable—the people in their present mood will sustain Lord Fisher, whereupon Mr. Churchill will have to go.

Lord Fisher was last in this country in 1910 to attend the wedding of his only son and heir to Miss Jane Morgan, daughter of Randall Morgan, at Philadelphia.

Some forty-five years of age, the Hon. Cecil Vavasseur Fisher is a rich man, indeed, not through his father, who has nothing but his pension, nor yet because he married an heiress, but through the will of the late Josiah Vavasseur, who was one of the directors of Armstrong, Whitworth & Co.

When Mr. Vavasseur died in 1907 it was found that he had bequeathed the greater portion of his large fortune—namely, $2,000,000 in cash and the manors of Thetford, Croxton, and Kilverstone hall—to Lord Fisher's son, on the condition that the beneficiary adopt the name and the arms of Vavasseur in addition to those of his father.

It is doubtful whether Lord Fisher, whose controversy with Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, originated by trouble between Lady Charles and Lady Fisher at Malta, set the entire British navy by the ears, would have been given a seat in the house of lords had it not been for this bequest to his son by old Josiah Vavasseur.

The crown is reluctant to bestow peerages upon those who cannot furnish a guarantee that not only they but also their successors in the honors will be able to maintain them in a fitting manner.

True, peerages are sometimes granted to statesmen and to public servants on their retirement, even when they have no large independent fortunes of their own. But this is only when they have no son to inherit the title and there is an assurance that it will become extinct on their death.

It may be just as well, in view of Lord Fisher's reappointment to the post of first sea lord at the admiralty, to state that there is no word of truth in the story current and repeatedly printed to the effect that his mother was a Cingalese woman and that he himself therefore is a Eurasian.

According to Lord Fisher's own explanation his mother was Miss Sophie Lambe, and she was born in London within the sound of the Bow bells. Her granduncle was Sir John Boydell, lord mayor of London in 1790. His niece and heiress, Anne Philpott, married Arthur Lambe of New Bond street, by whom she had a daughter, Sophie.

The fact that this Sophie Lambe became the wife of Capt. Fisher of the Seventy-eighth Highlanders at the time when he was aid de camp to Sir Robert Horton, the governor of Ceylon, is probably accountable for the tale that the wife of this officer was a Cingalese woman.

Capt. Fisher was killed one dark night by a fall from his horse, leaving his widow and her only boy, Jack, badly off. She managed, however, to get him into the royal navy at the age of 13, and, becoming a lieutenant before he was 20, he went through all those hard and bitter trials which fall to the share of a young officer of the royal navy who is entirely without private means and dependent upon his monthly pay, until he finally landed in the house of lords with the rank of admiral of the fleet, which is the naval equivalent of field marshal of the army.

Lord Ardee, the new colonel in command of the Irish guards, is the eldest son and heir of the Earl of Meath and is married to the only surviving daughter of Lord Dunraven. He has been a frequent visitor to the United States.

A veteran of the Boer war, he is associated with his parents in many of their philanthropic enterprises, which are extraordinarily numerous, and which include not only the creation and maintenance of all sorts of institutions for incurable, for the aged and for destitute and crippled children, but also the organization of the Young Men's Friendly society, the Girls' Friendly society, the Ministering Children's league.

Lord Ardee and, of course, his father, Lord Meath, are descended from Jacques le Brabazon, surnamed "The Great Warrior," who, as one of the principal lieutenants of William the Conqueror, had his name recorded on the roll of Battle abbey.

Killruddery is full of magnificent old paintings, including family portraits by Sir Peter Lely and Sir Godfrey Kneller, also a wonderful Rembrandt, a portrait by him of his own wife, which hangs in the dining room.

GOOD NIGHT!

[From the New York Sun.]

The Friend of the People.

WILL ELIMINATE UNNECESSARY NOISES.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—[To the Friend of the People.]—There is a continual blowing out of steam and use of engine bells on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad between Pratt and Waller avenues every night. Please help us in this matter and oblige OTTO DOHL, 1714 Waller avenue.

Assistant General Manager S. G. Strickland of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company says that it is the desire of the company that their locomotives make the least noise possible in operating within the city limits, especially during the night, and that they will not be content with any unnecessary blowing out of steam, use of whistles or engine bells. He has requested the general superintendent of motive power to renew his instruction in this regard. WILLIS O. NANCE,
Chairman City Council Anti-Noise Subcommittee.

CANNOT RIDE ON SIDEWALK.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Am I right in assuming that there is a city statute prohibiting the use of sidewalks for bicycles? If there is, what action, if any, is taken for its enforcement? INTERESTED.

No person shall drive, push, or draw any horse, wagon, cart, bicycle, or other vehicle over any public sidewalk, or use, ride, or drive any horse, wagon, sled, or sleigh thereon, unless it be in crossing the same to go into a yard or lot where no other suitable crossing or means of access is provided, under a penalty of not less than $1 nor more than $10 for each offense.
FRANCIS D. CONNERY, City Clerk.

COMPLAINS OF FUMES.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Permit me to make a vigorous complaint against the fumes and gases from the locomotives of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company under the station of the Northwestern elevated company. JUSTICE.

I have to advise that the matter has been given considerable attention in the past, and some effort has been made by the railroad company involved to abate the nuisance. A new notice has been issued, and the department will do all in its power to see that the matter receives proper attention. G. B. YOUNG,
Commissioner of Health.

MUST PAY FOR USE OF BUILDING.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is any public school building available for use by a sectarian religious body on Sunday? Has the board of education the right to lease or donate the use of public property for private uses?
H. E. BAKER, 4048 Greenview avenue.

It has been the custom of the board of education to permit religious organizations, irrespective of creed, the use of school halls temporarily during the time of construction or reconstruction of their churches in the vicinity of the school. The permits are granted on payment of the customary fees for the use of the building. ELLA FLAGG YOUNG,
Superintendent of Schools.

DECLARING HIS INTENTION.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly inform me how I can become naturalized. I was born in Italy in 1890 and came to this country in 1902 and have been living in Chicago and the same ward since. A READER.

The writer of this inquiry should apply before the clerk of either the Circuit court of the Superior court of Cook county, Illinois, or the United States District court, this city, and file a declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, and after the expiration of two years from the date thereof he may file a petition for naturalization.
MERTON A. STURGES,
Chief Naturalization Examiner.

AN IMMIGRANT'S FUNDS.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is it necessary for a wife coming by the steerage to have $25 in her possession in addition to her railway fare when she passes Ellis island customs in New York, her husband not being a United States citizen? A READER.

I will quote rule 16 of the immigration rules, applicable to the point in question: "In the absence of a statutory provision, no hard and fast rule can be laid down as to the amount of money an alien should have. This is only one element to be considered in each case, but generally he should have enough to provide for his reasonable wants and those of accompanying persons dependent upon him until such time as he is likely to find employment; also, when bound for an interior point, railroad ticket or funds with which to purchase the same. P. L. PRENTIS,
Inspector in Charge.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

JUSTICE TO FRIENDLESS POOR.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The state takes deliberate and painstaking care in selecting the best counsel available to prosecute all who transgress its laws, but is very lax in its responsibility toward those who are arrested and tried for crimes they do not commit.

This is unquestionably unfair. If the public deems it highly essential that an efficient prosecutor be retained to convict the guilty, it should show a like solicitude for the welfare of the destitute, the friendless, and the innocent by providing a qualified defender.

This is no longer a theory or an experiment. It has been tried in many places, notably Los Angeles, Cal., with gratifying success, and wherever it has been practiced the beneficent results achieved have given ample proof of its wisdom.

It has demonstrated most satisfactorily that the law can be administered equitably so that the helpless and deserving can get the consideration from the authorities that is their due; that there is no necessity for long and tedious trials that entail enormous expense when there is insufficient evidence to convict and, most important of all, it has given the common people confidence in the rectitude and impartiality of the law.

The obvious value of the public defender as an indispensable factor in the equitable dispensing of justice at a smaller cost to the taxpayer should be an incentive for making it a part of the court procedure of every community.
JOHN BUDEILENI, 36 East Oak street.

IS THERE A MIDDLE GROUND?

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your editorial, "Disarmament or Defense?" contains the sentence, "but their (the professional pacifists) position seems to be that an army and a navy are at least tolerable if they are only insufficient. Competent defense is 'militarism.'"

As between complete disarmament (all nations consenting) and "militarism," I believe in the former. In the absence of a disarmament concert of the nations "adequate" defense is necessary. Right here I am puzzled and turn to you for enlightenment. Is there a safe middle ground of adequate defense between the two extremes of absolute disarmament and "militarism"? I have a feeling that there is not, and it is the fear of one extreme that drives me to the other.
LUTHER H. BAKER.

UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE AND PEACE.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In that interesting and original feature of your admirable editorial page, "The Best Editorial of the Day," appeared on Oct. 22 an extract from the New York Post, saying: "What better time for a world language than following the world war?" The implied answer, "none," is one that proceeds from wisdom. An international language would go a long way to help preserve peace permanently among the nations. Wars are in the last analysis explainable on the theory of "economic determinism," that is to say, each nation is making an effort to keep what wealth it has or to get more.

Language is an essential and believed economic tool. Therefore, wars are often fought directly for language as well as with language. Even in the present war the desire to extend the use of a national language forms a good part of the war motive. Let national languages live and let live. Each person should have two languages—his mother tongue, to be used with others who speak it, and Esperanto for communicating and organizing with all who speak other tongues. Esperanto is the artificial international language which has made good and becomes a living language. T. HUSTED.

ITALIAN INNKEEPERS HELPED AMERICANS.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In THE TRIBUNE you printed a letter from your special correspondent, Miss Carolyn Wilson, dated at Rome, in which she says: "All Italy has a grouch. I know no other way of expressing the spirit of the country. They have taken the war as a personal insult to their trade and commerce, and to the profitable living they made overcharging American tourists."

I desire to say that this expression has hurt the feelings of a good many American tourists, so very unjust is it in spirit and in fact. Instead of overcharging American tourists, the shopkeepers and hotel managers from Naples to Venice were kind and fair to American tourists almost beyond expression. When Thomas Cook & Son, the American Express company, and all the banks refused to put out money on their checks or letters of credit, and thousands of Americans were in dire need and distress, many a shopkeeper voluntarily received payment for hotel bills in drafts upon letters of credit, and in hundreds of instances shopkeepers and hotel managers accepted travelers' personal checks upon their own home banks. JOHN STUART WOOD.

Every time you help a family up on its way to independence you help to make Chicago a better place in which to live. This Good Fellow work is a kind of city betterment.

Your Name Appear on This Honor Roll?

YESTERDAY'S cash contributions to the Good Fellow cause are listed here. A great deal of money is being directly expended by Good Fellows who have been put in touch with families and important material aid is being given which cannot be measured in terms of money.

A Good Fellow offered a suggestion yesterday for a plan of Good Fellow giving, offering the opportunity for a selection of a family with a minimum of effort.

"Let each reader of THE TRIBUNE once a month, at a time convenient to his finances, clip out one of the 'case stories' or one of the little sketches in the Good Fellow story and send it along to the Good Fellow department of THE TRIBUNE, with whatever small amount of money he may be able to afford to give," he said.

"This plan makes it easy to see that the money gets to just the family for which it is intended, and it makes the giving simple for the giver."

Good Fellows Adopt Plan.

Some of the givers of cash to the Good Fellow cause adopted this plan of designating the cases for which their remittances are intended.

Each of the inclosed clippings and the letters directing the disposal of the contributions are sent along with the money through the general office of the United Charities to the offices where district workers are coöperating in the administration of Good Fellow relief.

All money sent to the Good Fellow department of THE TRIBUNE goes directly into relief work. The United Charities devotes none of this money to the maintenance of offices or other "overhead" charges.

Public Has Little Idea of System.

"Many of the Good Fellows are getting interesting educational experiences out of their adventures, and in a manner to show the value of coöperation with our trained workers," Eugene T. Lies of the United Charities observed. "The average man or woman has little idea of the vast machinery of the philanthropic and semi-philanthropic institutions of the city until they get into contact with it. The average man does not know how to handle a case of poverty and its allied domestic problems.

"He does not know the steps necessary to set admission for a dependent at the Old People's home, or what is to be done with crippled children, or how the employment agencies may be used, or how to get in touch with any of the many specialized agencies. Few realize the extent of organized humanitarian work which is really a part of Chicago as a big business center.

SEEKS TO FREE STROSNIDER.

Attorney Files Petition Alleging Treaty Was Violated in Extraditing Prisoner.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of John Henry Strosnider, known as the "king of confidence men," was filed yesterday before Federal Judge Carpenter. Attorney Benjamin Bachrach alleged a treaty between the United States and Great Britain was violated in that Strosnider was extradited from Montreal, Can., on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses and was tried for operating a confidence game. Strosnider faces an indeterminate sentence for having swindled the late Dr. William T. Kirby of $20,000 by means of a fake horse race and "wiretapping" scheme.

SIX MEN ROBBED AT STATE AND DIVISION IN TWO MONTHS

Butler Kicked and Beaten by Five Holdup Men, Who Get Four Dollars and Escape.

Another holdup occurred at State and Division streets yesterday morning. According to police reports it is the sixth robbery in the immediate neighborhood within two months. Jens Mogensen, a butler at the home of C. A. Munroe, 1234 Lake Shore drive, is the latest victim. According to Mogensen five men attacked and robbed him. When ordered to throw up his hands Mogensen knocked one of the men down. Three other men joined the robbers. They beat and kicked him and took $4 and a pocket knife. The robbers escaped.

QUARANTINE NO BAR TO RECEIPTS

OUTLOOK IS BETTER.

The partial quarantine imposed at the Chicago Union stockyards to check the spread of the foot and mouth disease had little effect on yesterday's receipts of live stock for slaughter, according to M. F. Horine, statistician for the Union Stockyard and Transit company.

Receipts in cattle, hogs, and sheep were somewhat less than for the corresponding day a year ago, but much of this decrease is ascribed to the gradual decline noticeable all year.

	Nov. 3, 1914.	Nov. 3, 1913.
Cattle	4,500	6,489
Hogs	23,000	28,219
Sheep	10,000	27,380

Railways Take Shipments.

"Railways are receiving shipments of stock for Chicago for slaughter from all states except Indiana, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Ohio," explained Mr. Horine. "With the exception of the two counties in which the foot and mouth infection has been found Illinois farmers may send their fat stock to the Chicago stockyards for immediate slaughter.

"Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota, and other large stock raising states are not barred from shipping their cattle to the Chicago market for slaughter."

Mr. Horine explained the falling off in the day's receipts against those of a year ago is due more to conditions in the stock raising states than to the quarantine. He said there has been a gradual decrease in the number of animals shipped to this market for a year.

Outlook More Hopeful.

Developments in the epidemic were not as serious as had been expected, according to Dr. F. A. Ramsay, head field inspector for the federal bureau of animal industry. Six new cases were reported from Kane and Kendall counties in Illinois, but the disease has not been discovered in any other section of the state. Reports from Indiana and Michigan also show, according to Dr. Ramsay, the disease is not spreading to new territory.

Dr. G. E. Dyson, state veterinarian for Illinois, will start 135 assistants into the field this morning. These men will trace and inspect every herd of feeding cattle purchased at the Chicago yards since Sept. 1. It is the theory of Dr. Dyson and Dr. Ramsay the infection was taken to Kane and Kendall counties by feeder cattle bought in the Chicago market.

Wherever Dr. Dyson's assistants find suspicious symptoms rigid quarantine will be established. In case the symptoms develop into foot and mouth disease the infected herds will be killed.

Trace Herds Into Indiana.

Tracers also will be sent after 122 herds shipped into Indiana and Michigan from the Chicago yards since Sept. 1. This work will be conducted under Dr. U. J. Houck, who has been directing the activities of the bureau of animal industry in these states for the last three weeks.

A conference was held during the day at the Hotel La Salle between Gov. Dunne, Dr. Dyson, A. G. Leonard, president of the Chicago Stock Yard and Transit company, and H. L. Wyatt, president of the St. Louis National Stock Yards company. At this conference plans were made for coöperating with the government officials in stamping out the infection.

The work of government inspectors in fumigating the yards and pens of the feeder stock sections at the yards was rushed forward. Dr. S. E. Bennett, in charge of the stockyards branch office of the bureau of animal industry, said fumigation would not be completed for two or three days.

VARSITY HERD INFECTED.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Officials of the department of agriculture were notified today that the foot and mouth disease in the middle west had been discovered in the cattle herd of Notre Dame university. The entire herd of 300 blooded cattle will be destroyed immediately.

A corps of 107 inspectors traveling in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, and Pennsylvania to locate new outbreaks, reported none today in localities outside those previously affected.

As a precautionary measure, quarantine has been imposed at the Cleveland and Cincinnati stockyards.

New Cases in Indiana.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 3.—Eight new cases of the hoof and mouth disease were discovered today among the cattle of this (St. Joseph) county. To date cattle valued at more than $60,000 have been destroyed

"Why Are GOSSARD Corsets Better?"

DAILY this question is asked thousands of Gossard saleswomen and daily this answer is given:

"Because the best physicians, dressmakers and social leaders, and all classes of women say Gossard Corsets are better. They back their statements by recommending and wearing Gossards in preference to all other corsets."

Eleven years ago Gossard Corsets were given to the women of the world. No one will deny the fact that women are more beautiful today than they were 11 years ago. We feel that Gossard Corsets have done much for women in matters of comfort, health, beauty and in making their corset dollars go farther.

Why not try a Gossard today? They come in a multitude of models—at prices varying from $40, $25 down to $3.50 and $2.00.

ARREST MAN AS HE PENS HIS NOTE OF CONFESSION

Police Solve Mystery of Hotel Shooting in an Unexpected Manner.

WOUNDED MAN IS MUM

Persons in the office of the Commercial hotel at Wabash avenue and Harrison street heard the muffled reports of two revolver shots shortly after midnight. They investigated and found the door to room 154 open. Charles Sellers, one of the occupants of the room, was lying across the bed with a bullet in his abdomen. Fred Justmann, his roommate, was rendering first aid.

"Telegraph my mother and take me to a hospital," moaned the wounded man.

He was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where it was found that a .22 caliber bullet had lodged near the spine. Sellers did not lose consciousness.

Companion Locked Up.

"I don't know who shot me," he said, "but it was a man. I won't tell you any more. Ask Justmann; he knows all about it."

Justmann in the meantime had been taken to the South Clark street station.

"We were in bed," he said, "and were talking when some one in the next room pounded on the door. Sellers got up and said, 'Let's go in there.' He opened the door and stepped out into the hall. As soon as he did so there were two shots, one of which struck him. He staggered back into the room and I laid him on the bed. It was the fellow in the next room."

Pens His Confession.

Back the police went to the hotel and visited room 155. There they found E. L. Lynch writing at a table. They grabbed him and then looked at the paper on the table. He had written a confession of the shooting and told of his intention to commit suicide.

"They made so much noise I pounded on the wall and then that man started to come at me," he said. "I fired, because I thought he was going to beat me up."

TRAIL OF FUR OVERCOAT LEADS TO FEDERAL FUGITIVE.

Albert T. Wise Arrested on San Francisco Charge as He Dons Garment He Had Sent to Him.

Albert T. Wise received an express package yesterday at his rooms at 2156 Alice place. He opened it and found what he wanted. It was his last winter's fur overcoat, which he had written to his home in Toronto to have forwarded to him. Mr. Wise was shaking the moth ball odor from the garment when a man entered the room.

"Is that your coat?" said the man.

"It is," said Wise.

"Here's your man," said the spokesman, stepping aside and permitting two United States deputy marshals to enter the room.

Wise was placed under arrest on a charge of contempt of court in connection with the alleged violation of a San Francisco injunction which enjoined him from selling a certain kind of wire used in machines of the Elliott Machine company of Grand Rapids, Mich. Detectives started back to San Francisco with him last night.

Trace of Wise was gained through espionage of his home in Toronto. When the winter overcoat was shipped to the Chicago address an operative of the Pinkerton detective agency accompanied it.

JUDSON URGES EMULATION OF ROCKEFELLER WAR AID.

Midway President Says Even the Foundation's Millions Are Insufficient to Relieve Belgians.

The actin of the Rockefeller Foundation in voting several million dollars for the relief of refugees should encourage similar giving by men and women all over the United States, according to President Harry Pratt Judson of the University of Chicago. President Judson, a trustee of the Foundation, attended the recent meeting in New York to authorize the expenditure of a huge sum to feed and clothe war victims. Dr. Judson says the task of caring for the refugees will be too great for the resources of the foundation alone.

"The Rockefeller Foundation does not expect alone and unaided to be able to cope with the appalling situation," said Dr. Judson. "There is an immediate and terrible necessity for every possible dollar from every possible contributor."

Miss Torrey of Evanston Reported Missin, Then Found, Then Missing, Then 'Probably at Theater.'

Monday evening Mr. Torrey reported to the Chicago detective bureau that his daughter, Miss Yvonne, 19 years old, had disappeared. Then he told reporters it was "all a mistake."

Then again he admitted she was gone and "had had a little spat with her mother and left." Then, still later, the detective bureau was notified she had returned. Then when a reporter inquired at the Torrey home it was said Miss Yvonne was "not at home, probably out to the theater."

SNUBS WILTS PLAINS HERO

Spurred Prodigal Returns; ister Rose Now Is "Rosalie."

SHE DOESN'T KNOW HIM.

Whereupon "Al" Laments Spending $30 for His Boots.

When his mother died eighteen years ago Albert Uebersax left home. He wandered away with a circus and disappeared in the big "wild west." He left behind a sister, Rose. She was adopted into a north shore family, he heard.

He was resplendent in the garb of the plains. He had a flaming bandanna about his bronzed neck. There was broad wavy fringe on his buckskins. He had silver spurs that tinkled at the heels of embossed, fancifully stitched boots in Spanish leather. His sombrero was broad of tawny fawn color, and most expensive texture. His was an atmosphere of the wide outdoors.

Swings Up to the Door.

With that firm, swinging stride that the very best cowboys from New Rochelle so gracefully exhibit, Mr. Uebersax stepped up to the door of the residence of Samuel Topliff in Evanston.

"I am here to see my sister Rose that you adopted a long time ago. I'm her brother 'Al,' I am."

"Miss Rosalie is a nurse at St. Luke's and she is on a special case, so she cannot see you."

Some Name, Rosalie!

"Big Brother Al" prevailed on a reporter at the police station to call up "Sister Rosalie" at St. Luke's hospital since he "couldn't work the dern thing."

"Sister Rosalie" was not in the last interested. She could not be excited over any long lost brother story.

"I regret that I shall be unable to see this person"—just like that, very formally.

Last night "Brother Al" went to see his uncle, Edward Schadd of Winnetka, who declared the young man was the only genuine Albert Uebersax, the sister to the contrary notwithstanding, etc.

"An' to think I paid thirty bucks for these boots to come here for a turn down," Al lamented.

ROCKEFELLER'S FOOD SHIP OFF

GOES TO U. S. CONSUL.

New York, Nov. 3.—The American steamship, Massapequa, chartered and loaded by the Rockefeller Foundation to convey food to starving Belgians, sailed for Rotterdam this afternoon.

The Massapequa, with a cargo representing an expenditure of $300,000, is the first of several ships to sail for Belgian relief at the expense of the Rockefeller Foundation. Less than thirty-six hours were required for loading, the stevedores working night and day stowing away the supplies as fast as they arrived.

Dealers Boost Prices.

The original estimate of the cost of the cargo was increased, it is said, about $30,000 by reason of heavy purchases and a sudden advance in the market price when sellers learned that Rockefeller money was being spent.

The Massapequa was taken from its regular run, New York to the West Indies, and is expected to make the trip to Rotterdam in about sixteen days.

Consigned to U. S. Consul.

All supplies on board are consigned to the American consul at Rotterdam. By him and an organized relief committee the food will be distributed. Those who are able to pay will be charged actual cost price for the food and to others it will be distributed free.

MAN AND GIRL ARRESTED ON COMPLAINT OF WIFE.

Mrs. Osborne Stetler Asserts Husband Deserted Her for Miss Eleanor Keller.

Osborne Stetler of 6812 Loomis street, a former street car conductor, and Miss Eleanor Keller of 5910 Wentworth avenue, were arrested by the police of the Englewood station last night on serious charges preferred by the wife of Stetler.

Mrs. Stetler, who lives at 5546 Lowe avenue, told the police that her husband deserted her five weeks ago. They were taken into custody in West Sixty-third street and at the police station Mrs. Stetler alternately cried and laughed.

"Osborne deserted me after four years of married life, so you may expect the same treatment when he gets tired of you," Mrs. Stetler warned Miss Keller.

Joliet Husband Who Transferred Title in Helpmeet to Friend Jailed to Revise His Marriage Theories.

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Steve Bedare never knew until he appeared in police court here today that his wife was not a chattel, to be bought and sold at the whim of the male. So now he will spend twenty days in the county jail to think it over.

Steve decided yesterday he did not need his wife, and offered her to Alex Wadas for $1. Alex accepted the proposition; he considered it a good bargain. She is comely and strong and is a good helpmeet. Steve installed his successor in his rooms during the absence of the wife, and he moved out.

When Mrs. Bedare returned home Wadas said, "You belong to me; I bought you for a dollar." Mrs. Bedare could not see it that way.

Then Wadas showed her a message which said: "If you don't like, I'll come back and kill you." Mrs. Bedare slipped out of the house and informed the police, who arrested Steve.

Mrs. Bedare, who still believes in her husband, says: "Steve has always been good, and when he gets out of jail he will take me back."

KNOCKS A WOMAN DOWN; FIGHTS TILL SUBDUED.

Amos Geiger, Thought Demented, Dances Until Unconscious in Cell, Then Taken to Detention Hospital

Amos Geiger, a negro, of 709 South State street, believed to be demented, knocked down a young woman while in Grant park last night and then fought South Park Policeman Frank J. Donovan and two citizens for ten minutes before he was overpowered. When taken to the South Clark street station and locked in a cell he danced, with few periods of rest, for more than an hour until he fell to the floor unconscious. He was taken to the Detention hospital, where he will be held for examination. The name of the young woman was not learned.

STREET CAR TRAFFIC TIED UP

Derailed Truck on West Adams Street Line Causes Delay of Forty-five Minutes.

Traffic on West Adams street was delayed forty-five minutes last night when the rear truck of a Harrison street car left the rails at the west end of the bridge. The car traveled fifty feet before the motorman could stop it.

Woman Trips and Falls.

Mrs. M. A. Loring, 62 years old, of the Virginia hotel, Rush and East Ohio streets, yesterday tripped and fell when she alighted from a North State street car at Madison street. She was bruised.

RESORTS AND HOTELS. RESORTS AND HOTELS. RESORTS AND HOTELS

When your out-of-town acquaintances ask you about Chicago hotels, tell them—

—that Chicago's hotel facilities, as a whole, compare favorably with those offered by any other city in the world.

—but that for those who demand the highest possible standard in service, surroundings, cuisine and value, Hotel La Salle is the one logical selection.

Hotel La Salle has justly earned its right to be considered as "Chicago's Finest Hotel." Its efficient management is accepted as a standard by hotel men throughout the country.

The unfailing courtesy and deft, unobtrusive service which is evident the moment one enters its doors, are commented upon by practically every guest. The homelike atmosphere will be found as welcome and refreshing as it is unusual.

Five of the most famous and beautiful restaurants in the world are located in Hotel La Salle: The Blue Fountain Room, The Rookwood Room, The Louis XVI. Salon, The German Room and The Men's Cafe—each of which has a charming and distinctive atmosphere of its own.

Of the superiority of its cuisine, you can speak from personal knowledge. A visit to its wonderful kitchens would be an interesting experience—a guide will be furnished you at any time you may find convenient.

It is interesting to know that Hotel La Salle is the only hotel in Chicago offering individual floor service throughout, with floor clerks, serving kitchens and special waiter service on every floor.

A comparison of its rates gives conclusive proof of the oft repeated statement that Hotel La Salle offers more for the price you pay than any other hotel in Chicago.

CARRANZA SAYS HE WILL IGNORE NEW 'PRESIDENT'

Villa Troops Ordered to Move South Following Statement of Ruler.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 3.—Gen. Carranza in a message received here this afternoon declared he would not abide by the action of the Aguas Calientes convention in naming a provisional president. Carranza's statement, as received by officials of the Constitutionalist consul general's office here, was telegraphed from Puebla. It said:

"The convention having not complied with the conditions I fixed regarding my retirement from the duties I am performing as first chief, I have not taken into consideration the resolution of the said convention in regard to their appointment of a president who should take my place, and, therefore, I still continue to be in charge of my police.

"This resolution of mine has been supported by the governors of the states. Among the officials joining in this action are Gens. Coss, P. Sanchez, A. Gonzales, Ernesto Sentos Coy, Pablo Gonzales, and all leaders of the Division of the Northeast.

"I have no doubt that the balance of the leaders, when they know of this resolution of mine, will support my attitude and will ignore the convention.

"V. CARRANZA."

Troops Ordered South.

Without answering Gen. Carranza's refusal to accept his successor as provisional president of Mexico, the Aguas Calientes conference has ordered an extensive movement of Villa troops toward the south.

The convention voted to adjourn to Mexico City, but the delegates, it was said, would not be permitted to leave Aguas Calientes until Gen. Carranza had acted with regard to his resignation.

Never Sent Resignation.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 3.—Gen. Carranza never sent his resignation to the Aguas Calientes convention, the message to that effect received at Aguas Calientes being a telegraphic error, according to a telegram from Carranza to Gen. Benjamin Hill, his commander in Sonora.

In this telegram Carranza asserts he is still the head of the Constitutionalist army. He notified Hill that he would expect him to execute all orders issued by the first chief of the Constitutionalist army.

Gen. Carranza declares what he did say to the convention was that he was "willing to become an exile from Mexico providing the same treatment were accorded to Villa and Zapata."

Masons Urge War on U. S.

Mexico City, Nov. 3.—When it became generally known today that the Washington government had failed to comply with the request of the Mexican foreign office that the United States fix a definite date for the evacuation of Vera Cruz, Mexican Scottish Rite Masons printed thousands of proclamations calling upon the citizens to arm themselves and drive the invading foreigners from the shores of Mexico.

Villa Out for Gutierrez.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Gen. Villa has pledged his allegiance to Eulalio Gutierrez, who was selected as provisional president of Mexico at the national convention at Aguas Calientes, according to reports to the state department today by its special agents.

BLAZE ON LAKE SHORE DRIVE

Contractor's Shack in Rear of New Meeker Residence Burns and Draws Big Crowd.

Fire destroyed a large quantity of building material and a contractor's shack last evening on a lot on Barry avenue, between Sheridan road and Lake Shore drive, in the rear of Arthur Meeker's new residence. The blaze illuminated the entire neighborhood and drew a large crowd of spectators. Firemen worked more than an hour before the fire was under control.

THE marriage of Miss Marguerite Condon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Condon of 2623 Michigan avenue, to Ralph James Wright, son of Mrs. Helen Wright of 6821 North Ashland boulevard, Rogers Park, was a service of Monday night. Miss Alice Wright, the sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. Little Janeanne Smyth served as flower girl. Allen S. Rankin was best man, and the ceremony was performed by Father Dunn of St. James' Roman Catholic church. The bride's gown was of white satin and tulle with a short veil. She carried lilies of the valley. Miss Burroughs wore a gold and white gown and carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses and Miss Wright, in pink satin, carried pink roses.

ARMOURS HAVE $25,000 FIRE.

Crossed Wires Start Blaze in Fertilizer Plant—Firemen Narrowly Escape.

"Crossed electric wires" was the fire department's explanation of the fire which destroyed the fertilizer storage plant of Armour & Co. at West Forty-fifth and South Loomis streets at an estimated loss of $25,000 yesterday. Firemen escaped a falling wall by fleeing from under the toppling bricks, abandoning their hose lines as they ran. The collapse wrecked a string of freight cars.

Twelve families living in the Delaware apartments, a four story brick building at 434-436 East Forty-third street, were routed by a smoldering fire in the basement.

Defective wiring was blamed for the fire. The loss is estimated at $1,000.

OBITUARY.

JAMES HENRY OSGOOD, who died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Osgood Latham of 6063 Kenwood avenue, will be buried this morning at Rosehill. Mr. Osgood was 98 years old. A sister, Mrs. Jonathan Hunt of Oakland, Cal., lived to be 100. Mr. Osgood was one of the founders of the "underground railroad" by means of which slaves were assisted to escape north prior to the civil war. He had voted for eighteen presidents and was the founder of the Osgood Express company. He was a past master of Morning Star Masonic lodge of Worcester, Mass. Besides his daughter he is survived by two grandchildren, Paul H. Latham and Harry Osgood. Services will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Latham home.

EDWARD P. JUDD of New Haven, Conn., died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Allen A. Keene, 1117 Asbury avenue, Evanston, on Sunday. Services will be held this afternoon in the Keene home. The body will then be shipped to New Haven for burial. Mr. Judd, who was born in 1836, founded the Edward P. Judd Book company of New Haven and was known as one of the oldest book dealers in New England. He is survived by his widow and four children, three of the latter and the widow living at New Haven. They are Mrs. Allen A. Keene, Evanston; R. E. Judd, Mrs. Albert D. Sifield, and Mrs. E. L. Durfee, all of New Haven.

HOWARD H. HOYT, 57 years old, general agent of the National Life Insurance company, died yesterday at his residence in Evanston. He was a writer and lecturer on insurance. Mr. Hoyt was born in Madison, Wis., and was graduated from the university there with the class of 1881. He was for a number of years western manager of the Equitable Life Insurance company of New York, and since 1908 he has held his position of general agent with the National Life. He is survived by his wife and six children.

SEEK FOR STAR J. C. R. WITNESS

Man Who Saw Caldwell Assault Son Hunted by Investigators.

COLLECT OTHER DATA.

"Before it is concluded the case of 'J. C. R.' will be more replete with sensations than the Belle Guinnes case," was the statement made yesterday by James D. Greenebaum, real estate broker in the Ashland block, who has joined with Mrs. H. E. Pitkin in the fight to identify "the man who couldn't remember" as the son of a wealthy North Dakota rancher.

"There were two men who witnessed that assault by A. J. B. Caldwell on his son Jay Allen Caldwell, back in October, 1907," said the attorney. "They were Hungarians. As near as we can find, their names were Carl Grimm and Frank Lambing.

Father Hit Him with Spade.

"After his father had hit him on the head with a spade, young Caldwell was carried unconscious by the Hungarians to a little sod house where one of them lived. Some days later he was placed in a cattle car and thrown out at Watseca, Minn. He was found there by the police.

"We have tried to trace those men and the wife of one of them. We find that Grimm was reported dead in Dickinson in 1909, and that shortly afterward it was reported that his wife had committed suicide and her body was found in a river near Dickinson. There was no water in the lungs or stomach and no other indications of the cause of death.

"As near as our investigators have been able to ascertain, the last seen of Lambing was on July 4, 1909, when a party was held in Caldwell's house at the ranch. Lambing started home from the house, but returned later and was seen no more, as far as we can find. Nevertheless, we are keeping up the search.

People Fear Caldwell.

"There is only one man around Dickinson who refuses to admit that 'J. C. R.' is the son of Caldwell, the rancher. That man is Caldwell himself, and so great is the fear in which he is held that there are few people in the town who dare to approach him on the subject.

"Dozens of old friends and neighbors of the missing son identified 'J. C. R.' as Jay Allen Caldwell. He has been able by signs to recall to many of them little incidents which occurred just between them and Jay Allen Caldwell, things that no one else but the two of them could have known.

"The meeting between the sister and brother was a touching scene. 'J. C. R.' is unable to speak and he is paralyzed. The sister has changed greatly in the last six or seven years. They knew each other at once.

Sister Takes In Washing.

"The sister's name is Mrs. James Moran. Although her father is now worth $500,000, the daughter is doing day work and taking in washing to help support herself and her four children. She formerly owned a big hotel in Dickinson, but lost it shortly after borrowing some money and giving some notes to her father.

"The dismissal of the suit at the present time by no means halted the fight for the son's money. We are now investigating the records of the case at Watseca and at Rochester. The records at Watseca show that 'J. C. R.' was found there in June, 1907.

"We hope to be able to prove that date as a false and malicious entry on the books. 'J. C. R.' was not brought there until after October of that year. His entrance in the state insane asylum at Rochester is recorded as April 23, 1908. We hope to be able to prove that the man was not held at Watseca that long.

"J. C. R." in Hiding.

"Mrs. Pitkin's action in first identifying 'J. C. R.' as her son when she saw him at Oak Forest was done because she is familiar with the elder Caldwell and fears him. She realizes that the best way to get the man out of the institution was to make such an identification and later prove his real identity."

Mr. Greenebaum said that Mrs. Pitkin is in St. Louis and that 'J. C. R.' is being kept in hiding pending the investigation upon which his friends hope to renew their claims for the money, land, and stock which they allege the rancher obtained by fraud.

Mr. Greenebaum said that at the time of Caldwell Jr.'s disappearance he owned one-half of one township of land, two one-quarter sections of land, 400 head of cattle, 350 head of horses, and had $20,000 in the bank.

Salkeld Lowis, if he is alive and has not met with financial disaster, is a wealthy farmer residing in Illinois or Indiana not a half day's ride from Chicago. Mr. Lowis is sought by a cousin, Fred C. Atkinson of 446 East Forty-sixth street, Chicago, whom he has not seen in twenty years. The two men met last in England. Mr. Lowis was home on his first visit after coming to America. Mr. Atkinson recently emigrated from England and wishes to find his relative. Mr. Lowis was accompanied to America by a sister, Edith Lowis.

ALLIES BUY 10,000 HORSES IN TEXAS

One Thousand Rushed to Chicago En Route to Havre, France.

TOTAL COST $3,000,000.

Last Wednesday afternoon a freight train of forty-five cars left Fort Worth, Tex., for Chicago on passenger time schedule and with right of way over the fastest regular trains. More than a thousand horses were crowded in the cars and 9,000 more were gathered in the city ready for shipment. The trainmen knew nothing of the proposed trip, and the officials of the Rock Island lines refused to tell anything that they knew.

Train Slip Into Chicago.

Sunday morning the train quietly slipped into the Chicago stockyards district. Yesterday morning a reporter began making inquiries. Before the day was over it was discovered that the horses had been bought by the French government for cavalry use in the war, and that this shipment was soon to be followed by others.

It was learned that the French and British governments would spend more than a million and a half dollars each for Texas horses.

Officials' Lips Sealed.

Local railroad officials would offer nothing in solving the mystery, claiming their lips had been sealed by officials "higher up." They could not, however, deny the story.

"The horses are consigned to R. Lawrence Smith, Portland, Me., and were sent by Justin Butterfield," admitted one official who was questioned. "We will not talk about the French or British governments. If the shipments do belong to them you can understand why they would not want any publicity."

The finest ready clothes made

ONE of our ambitions is to have this store known as the store where the finest, highest grade clothing is sold.

There's no way to have it known as that kind of a store unless we first make it that kind of a store; and that is what we've done.

There are still a great many men who don't know yet how fine the best ready clothing is; how great the progress has been, in late years, in style designing, in fine tailoring, in the use of the finest fabrics, the richest silk linings; how perfectly the designers can fit the various shapes and dimensions of the human figure.

You will find here in suits and overcoats the richest fabrics woven, from all parts of the world where fine weaving is done. If you know about Isaac Carr & Sons meltons, Brooks kerseys, Crombie of Aberdeen; if you know of the wonderful Scotch and Irish and English weaves; the rich, silky, soft fabrics from Montagnac Freres, Sedan; the beautiful things Belgian and German weavers do; and the fine materials from our own American weavers; these are the things we offer.

M-L-R Special made Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes represent all of these fabrics; we feature these goods because they express our own ideas of what fine clothes ought to be.

Suits and overcoats of the finest qualities as high as $50 and $60; and good quality and extreme value for the man with $15, $20, $25.

Burberry and Other London made Overcoats for swell dressers who like individuality and "something different." Latest colors, patterns and weaves from London's most fashionable tailors, O'coats for sport, o'coats for dress, o'coats for business, one piece balmacaans, very ultra, and great coats—warmth without weight. $35, $40, $45, $50, $60.

Chicagoans Throng to See Art Exhibit.

THERE'S a deal of pleasure in going to the annual Art institute reception of recent years. They mark the opening of the exhibit of American oil painting and sculpture and the growth of art in America always is interesting to the Americans attracted to the beautiful. But the companies that gather at the Art institute now are so varied and so large and so worth while in every way that he who has longed for Chicago's recognition of her Art institute and her artists cannot suppress a smile of satisfaction.

Yesterday, the occasion of the twenty-seventh annual exhibit, all of the exhibition rooms were alive with people representing every walk of the city's life. It wasn't just a society crowd of an art gathering—the business men ran in for a look at the pictures and the suburban woman mingled with the members of the city organizations and circles who ever stand sponsor for big undertakings. There were artists and art students, art lovers and art purchasers (sometimes there is a distinction, you know), and in the crowd was almost every one from society who should be there to give society tone.

Mayor Harrison had not arrived at a late hour, but friends were looking for him, for he is an art lover and student. He had gone through the exhibit with an artist friend a week ago—"and I'll tell you he knows art, too," explained this friend, but he had promised to return for the opening afternoon.

Mrs. Harrison in black velvet, Miss Edith Harrison in brown, and Miss Charlotte Beattie of New Orleans, their cousin, in green velvet, came in late in the afternoon. Most of the clubs of the city had sent committees of women to serve tea at the several flower laden tea tables, and they were prettily gowned for the occasion.

Mrs. Secor Cunningham, still in black—a chiffon cloth, embroidered in black—was one of the first to serve at the Antiquarian table, and opposite her sat Mrs. J. J. Borland wearing a two-toned soft taffeta in brown and blue.

Two-toned silk appeared again in the gown of Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick—brown and deep purple, with purple threads run through in embroidery, and Mrs. J. B. Waller wore a gown of soft satin in dark blue combined with an embroidered chiffon in Alice blue and a kind of steel.

But it was Mrs. Waller's wrist watch which caught the eye in particular—a narrow black band on which was a thin oblong frame, an inch in depth, perhaps, set in wee diamonds with the tiniest face of a watch peering out of the frame.

Mrs. W. W. Kimball, who has just returned from the east and abroad, wore a deep cape of lace over her black velvet gown, and Mrs. Edward Blair, with her gown of smoke colored chiffon embroidered in steel, wore a sash of deep blue satin and a hat of the smoke color trimmed in great flaring velvet flowers of the same shade. Mrs. J. J. Mitchell, in a gown of alternating deep ruffles of black velvet and white lace, was another woman of distinction in costuming.

The society element was on the walls as well as in the audience. Mrs. Robert McGann and Lawton Parker both had portraits of Mrs. Ray Atherton, and in both portraits Mrs. Atherton wore the same dress of vivid green, with a touch of gold. Mrs. Atherton, who is tall and slender, is fond of vivid coloring and strong contrasts, and so with the green portrait dress she wears black earrings.

Childe Hassam in his sunlit and lovely "Morning Room" places a woman's figure among the flowers near the window. The subject may or may not have been Mrs. Edward Fechheimer of Winnetka, with her wonderful sun-red hair, but if it is not, Mrs. Fechheimer might secure it for a portrait.

Mrs. Cecil Clark Davis has a charming portrait of Mrs. Donald Cutler in riding togs, and Edward Butler, Frederic Clay Bartlett, Wallace De Wolf, and others of the well known men whose work usually has a place on the walls are represented.

Can You Figure It Out?

Mathematically inclined persons are asked to assist Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, in a problem in mathematics and school teachers.

Mrs. Young is trying to figure out how she can fix just two dates in the year for the automatic increases of teachers' salaries without loss either to the school teacher or the board of education. At present increases are made every month. The system makes the bookkeeping much more intricate than the desired plan of only two days in the year on which the regular increases shall be made.

The problem as set out by Mrs. Young follows:

"There are salary advances for from 25 to 3,000 persons from any point in the salary sobedule to any higher point during every school month in the year. What changes could be made by which the advances would be made on Jan. 1 or June 1 without serious loss to the teacher or to the board of education?"

Mrs. Young figures that if a teacher who is scheduled to have an increase in September is made to wait until Jan. 1 that teacher will object seriously, as she will lose the raise during four months. She believes the board will refuse to start the raise a month earlier than it is due by beginning it on June 1. If the natural increases in the salaries of 1,000 elementary school teachers became due in September it would cost the board $5,000 to start them June 1.

When the problem is solved Mrs. Young will make the recommendation to the board that the increases be made only on two days of the year.

Fashions from London

Negligees as Lovely as Evening Gowns.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—It is an undeniable fact that negligees are growing so fascinatingly lovely as to be often mistaken for evening gowns. Perhaps that is because the evening gown of this season has taken on some of the carelessness of the negligee. However, it gained its present resemblance to the evening gown, the likeness does exist. Witness the negligee which I have sketched.

A most charming little model displayed this fascinating bit of feminine apparel. She had black hair with a sheen of oriental splendor, and a lithe little body. The negligee could have had no better display. The softest of flesh pink crêpe de chine was used for the skirt. The waist and the sleeves were of the same shade of vaporous Georgette crêpe. Sleeves just to the elbow with a frill of the daintiest of lace edgings were so transparent as to seem almost not to exist.

A wonderful coat of a dull metal brocade on Japanese blue fell in the luxurious folds which brocades are wont to fall in this season. Surely this is a year of masterpieces in weaving. No matter how heavy the material may appear to be it is never stiff nor unpliable. A deep girdle of panne velvet in Japanese blue was in charming contrast with the pale pink and in perfect harmony with the brocaded coat. Panne velvet is another of the supple materials which this season's weavers have perfected.

A collar of black fox was the very bit of color and texture which the negligee needed. It is seldom that one sees anything from negligee to all enveloping coat that does not boast a touch of fur.

Crib Furnishings Wanted.

"I SHOULD like to get the address of some correspondent who would be likely to appreciate past issues of magazines. I have a collection of copies of one of the best published, which were given to me. I will gladly pass them on to another. I have other reading matter equally good also. I should like to ask if any one has offered crib furnishings or clothing for an infant a year old? I am in need of an old wool blanket to make my baby a sleeping garment. I can use anything useful for a crib—covers, such as sheets, etc. I should be grateful for anything in this line. I will gladly pay postage or call for articles. MRS. V. L. P."

An old and valued correspondent offers the magazines which were a present to her and asks for warm coverings for the baby of whom we have heard in former times. He belongs, in a way, to the Corner, and we cannot let him suffer from cold in the coming season. Anything which the babies have outgrown in other households that may be made over for his crib and precious little body would be well bestowed here. I hold the mother's address.

Would Join Woman's Organization.

"Three sisters wish to join the Daughters of Veterans of the Civil War. Will some one kindly tell me to whom to apply for information concerning the organization? Is there an old German or German-American woman, about 60 or 70 years of age, who would visit my mother a few times a week and help her pass the long, tedious days? There may be one such who is lonely and who would be glad of a place to visit. MRS. M. L. R."

Your query as to the Daughters of Veterans is referred to members of this or kindred organizations. Where are the headquarters of the order? The call for the elderly woman is echoed—with a difference—in your second inquiry. I shall give your address with pleasure to any one who can supply the "want."

Transfer Patterns Wanted.

"I have sent the ties to the woman mentioned and hope they will help her along. I have now several numbers of a popular magazine. I shall be glad to send to any one paying the postage or calling for them. I have not heard as yet from the woman who had some transfer patterns to give away. I should like to have several scallop patterns for Christmas presents. I regret my carelessness in omitting my address in my previous letter. MRS. W. P. E."

Now that we have the address we shall be glad to distribute the magazines to those who would like to get them. If the person who offered the patterns has not yet sent them to you, let us know, that we may ask for others to help on your Christmas work. As it may well be that you could use more than one set, I am referring your letter to our fancy workers in general. Who will spare a pattern or two to a fellow craftswoman?

Economical Housekeeping

Cauliflower.

IN some parts of the world, and in many cases of big buyers of the product, milk is analyzed and the buyer pays according to the amount of butter fat contained. Too few women realize that in adding butter to milk they are but restoring what has been taken out of it, if skimmed or separated.

The everlasting white sauce, rarely perfectly cooked, is one of the things that have not only made us a nation of dyspeptics but has given us a bad reputation as cooks. In a great number of cases where it is used we think we are employing an inexpensive substitute for pure cream, and we even call it a cream sauce, when we might use just a little milk and butter instead, not enough milk to be sloppy. When a vegetable has been cooked in a well seasoned water, the addition of milk and butter to this water—not much of it—gives great satisfaction.

Perhaps there is more excuse for using white sauce with cauliflower than with some other vegetables, yet why with cauliflower and not cabbage, of which it has been said that it is but cabbage with a college education? Browned bread crumbs are more wholesome, and if carefully used may be very attractive.

Preparation of Cauliflower for Cooking.—Cauliflower is often cooked whole, and in order that it shall not be discolored, from any scum arising, it is tied in a new and well scalded piece of not too thin cheesecloth. It may be broken up into flowerets, but is not likely to be as handsome cooked in this way. When cooking it whole, trim off all the leaves except one circle of young green ones before tying in cloth.

Boiled Cauliflower.—Experts in cookery disagree as to whether to put cauliflower to cook in boiling salted water or in cold water. Perhaps there is less of harshness in a cauliflower when fresh or overripe if it is boiled in cold water slightly salted. Use two quarts of water to one large head and cook twenty-five minutes. Add a little milk to the water. A tablespoon of sugar added to the water also improves the taste for some people. It must be carefully and thoroughly drained after it is cooked. None of the water in which it is cooked should be allowed to get cold with it or in its flowerets. If the head is broken into small pieces as soon as cool this will be avoided.

Fried Cauliflower.—Boiled cauliflower dipped in egg simply and then fried, or in a frying batter, is very good. Egg adds food value to the vegetable and gives it more of substance.

Boiled cauliflower may also be cooked with cheese, butter, and bread crumbs, "au gratin." Chopped up fine and added to an omelet, a little left over cauliflower is well used.

Several inquiries have come from localities where the celery cabbage is not obtainable as to where it is grown. One expert in the "Selection and Preparation of Food" writes for such information. The name of the sellers of the seed will be gladly given if stamped and addressed envelope is sent. This company says that it has been offered on the vegetable market with considerable success, and "is new to the public, although old to horticulturists." Their final statement is: "Boiled, minced, and seasoned with butter, it is especially delectable." Thank heaven, no white sauce!

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets

By Lillian Russell

Facial Gymnastics.

[Copyright: 1914: By Lillian Russell.]

DO not squint. Do not permit pride to keep you from the oculist. Your facial gymnastics may amuse others. They will not add to your appearance. The buffoon squints to make people laugh at his ridiculous face. The clown adopts the same tactics. Do you want to fill the function of a clown?

How many people, on account of pride, refuse to wear eyeglasses—and through squinting dissipate all their facial beauty? Of two evils, choose the lesser. The eye glasses will not mar the beauty of the face as much as squinting.

The best way to avoid the optician is—to visit the oculist. He may find means of giving you vigorous and adequate sight without the use of glasses. If he decides that you should have glasses, get them at once. Do not let your pride make you a buffoon. Do not allow it to make you foolish. Pride is noted for doing that sort of thing.

Deficient eyesight does not always necessitate the wearing of glasses. There are sometimes deepseated causes for impaired sight. That is an additional reason for a visit to a reputable oculist when the sight begins to fail and the eyes start to hurt.

Failing sight may be a symptom of organic or other serious disorder. A lifetime of squinting will not restore the sight. Every squint, on the contrary, means an additional strain, and each strain damages the eyes.

Squinting is productive of many undesirable and usually unexpected results. It wrinkles and marks the face with seams that are everlasting. It throws the nose, mouth, and every other part of the face out of place, thus distorting the whole countenance.

Remember: Do not let false pride distort your features. Look straight, even though it demands lenses to do so.

* *

ANXIOUS BLONDE: I don't understand why changing the style of wearing your hair should make the natural curl come out of your hair. I am sorry, but I know nothing that will restore it. Brushing does the hair a great deal of good.

Doris Blake Says

Pretending Love.

"DO you think it possible, Miss Blake, for a married couple to live together for any length of time without the exact state of the affection for each being plainly made known to the other? I ask this because my daughter, who has grown tired of business life, is planning to marry a man whom she does not love, but she says she will keep concealed from him the fact she does not love him and is marrying to escape work that is distasteful to her! MRS. I."

I cannot believe it possible for a man to live with a woman for six months without learning the exact state of her mind towards him. I have heard it said that the majority of husbands never know whether a woman marries them for love or for other resons. But I doubt it! As lovers the majority of men are convinced that the girl they mean to marry is in love with them, though she may not show her affection in any way that is visible to outsiders, or may make it apparent to outsiders that she is not at all in love.

A wife cannot keep up a pretense of love for the very reason that in marriage love calls for sacrifice which only love can make cheerfully, and in marriage love calls for service which only love can render without reluctance.

Her kisses may not tell him much, but a woman's attitude toward her housework duties is the book of revelation. There is a world of significance in the meal she serves him and in even so small a duty as darning his socks. Some one has said, and with much truth, "A woman in love with her husband would not let any one else darn his socks though his income were $5,000 a year, while a woman who has no love for her husband would neglect them on $10 a week."

I have realized fully since my marriage that love is the daily bread of married life. Without love I know I would not be willing to make the sacrifices my duties as a wife and manager of a home involve. Without love I would grudge my services. I would not willingly make any sacrifices. It's love alone that makes light woman's duties in the home.

Bright Sayings of Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The stories may be sent in either by children or their parents. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

Johnny, aged 6, was permitted to have his friend Teddy stay over night with him. On getting ready for bed they both knelt down to say their prayers and all went well, but in the morning I happened to arrive in the room as Teddy was again saying his prayers, just in time to hear Johnny say: "What are ya sayin' your prayers now for anyway, ya haven't done anythin' all night have ya?

One day I decided to visit one of my old friends and to take my little niece, 5 years old, with me. We were talking about dishes and my friend got one of her highly prized hand painted plates and was telling me how much she valued it, when the little girl broke in, "O, that's nuffin'. Why, we live in a hand painted house."

The Master Key
The Universal's Great New Serial
By JOHN FLEMING WILSON
To Begin Shortly in Chicago's Moving Picture Houses
This is believed to be the most ambitious moving picture serial that has ever been attempted. Certain it is that it is the most expensive one ever produced and unquestionably the most picturesque. The story itself is John Fleming Wilson's thrill-masterpiece and it is so full of excitement and sensation that Mr. Wilson doubted the capacity of any moving picture company to portray it faithfully.
The story begins in the gold camps of the San Jacinto mountains and deals with two prospectors who are sworn partners but who subsequently have a falling out and one leaves the other for dead. He recovers, however, and then begins a world-wide drama that leads the auditor into a maze of tangled situations which did seem impossible to picture when the attempt was first made. We confidently believe that this will prove the UNIVERSAL'S masterpiece, as well as Mr. Wilson's, and we predict for it far greater popularity than has been accorded "Lucille Love" or the "Trey O' Hearts."
Into this Picture the UNIVERSAL FILM MANUFACTURING COMPANY has thrust the best of its talent and it will begin in the best Chicago moving picture houses as soon as the "Trey O' Hearts" is done. We earnestly advise you moving picture fans to be on the lookout for it. We want your opinion of this stupendous production and we promise to amuse you to the last detail.
The story of THE MASTER KEY will run daily in The Chicago Daily News.

Music and the Theater

"THE LITTLE CAFE."

Vaucheau, an old café lounger.....Joseph Monehan
Colette, cashier in The Little Café.....Marjorie Gateson
Philbert, proprietor of The Little Café.....Harold Vizard
Gaby Gaufrette, queen of the night restaurants.....Edna G. Munsey
Louise Milledeurs, her friend.....Gabrille Grey
Louis, head waiter at the Restaurant Grand Oaks.....Albert Stuart
Baron Tombola, major domo of Prince Max.....Fred Graham
Prince Max of Galmania.....Colin Campbell
Col. Klink, his aid de camp.....F. Stanton Heck
Gaston, an artist.....H. P. Woodley
Yvonne, Philbert's daughter.....Alma Francis
Albert Lorifan, waiter in The Little Café.....John E. Young Katzelinka, a Hungarian singer.....Texas Guinan

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

MR. C. M. S. McCLELLAN, librettist of "The Little Café," is an American expatriate residing in England; Mr. Ivan Caryll, its composer, is an English expatriate residing in America. So they quarreled not long ago, each being envious of the other's glory and resolved to end their long collaboration. It may be that the corrosive influence of discord had entered their souls ere they began to write "The Little Café." Not that it isn't a gay thing, for it is, with a story, bright lyrics that scan and rhyme, and much merry music. But it lacks some of the dash and glamour that marked "Oh, Oh Delphine" and "The Pink Lady," other distinguished products of the association now severed.

That fact, and others like it, perhaps will add to the prosperity of "The Little Café" at the Illinois. If there is anything that this neighborhood abhors it is a musical comedy of high class. The cheapter the words and tunes the better we like them in these parts. "September Morns" are popular; "Midnight Girls" are not. The community's taste, in other ways, no doubt, impeccable, is in musical comedy incredibly bad.

Mr. John E. Young, once a favorite at the La Salle theater, is the leading figure in "The Little Café." He is a waiter who becomes the heir to a fortune and title, and upon whom is bestowed the amorous attentions of three beautiful ladies, eminent in the night life of the boulevards. Thus Mr. Young is handicapped. He may not adopt any of the grotesque and potent accessories of Mr. Cawthorne, Mr. Carle, or Mr. Bernard, but he must be attractive in appearance, romantic, and comic. The first two qualities he manages very well, and he gets by with the other without much assistance from his author. He is cleanly and vigorous, a competent actor, and, though scarcely of the Gallic type, produces the waiter of "The Little Café" plausibly enough.

Also engaged in the performance is Miss Texas Guinan, an exhibitor of imposing displacement appearing as a feverish Magyar addicted to the violin. Miss Guinan recently waged a profitable war against feminine obesity, and in that manifestation she advertised herself as "God's Masterpiece." A blonde then, she is now a husky brune, with mountainous shoulders, et cetera, and the voice of a siren, a steam siren, singing loudly and effectively, the softest song in the show, a variant of "The Pink Lady" tune, and called "Just Because It's You." Miss Guinan's dosages perhaps have been applied to the ladies of the chorus instead of to herself, for they are a slim bevy, in some cases almost peaked. They dance with agility, and are well tallored, if not freshly so.

Still other notables exist in the cast of "The Little Café." Miss Edna J. Munsey is there, a handsome young woman with a true, though somewhat metallic, voice, officiating as Gaby Gaufrette, a Parisian café celebrity. Miss Munsey reminds one of Miss Fanny Ward, except that she acts well. In fact, her impersonation is so good that it would fit in a comedy without music. Miss Munsey is proficient in the utterance of Mr. McClellan's clever verse—the song about "Happy Is the Woman with Seventeen Aigrettes" being particularly well delivered. She has another with the luscious title "Thy Mouth Is a Rose," which she does competently, though with more harmony than melody. Miss Alma Francis is also reminiscent, recalling Miss Julia Sanderson in manner and Miss Ina Claire in appearance. Yvonne, daughter of the café proprietor, is Miss Francis' assignment, performed pretty well. She is happiest when she does not sing.

If a stage manager told Mr. Colin Campbell to play Prince Max the way he plays it that stage manager deserves to have his neck wrung. Mr. Joseph Monehan makes a very funny type of an old café lounger, and he it is who speaks the play's prime joke—viz.: "If you called on a sick friend you would steal his grapes."

Notes.

Henry Arthur Jones' play for Miss Margaret Illington has had its name changed from "The Betrayal" to "The Lie."

After the run of "Today" is over the Princess will be occupied by "Kitty McKay," played by Miss Mollie McIntyre, who was the Bunty of "Bunty Pulls the Strings."

Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggins' story, "Mother Carey's Chickens," will be dramatized for Miss Edith Taliaferro, who was the star of the same author's "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

Music Library Attracts Public.

Unusual popular interest was shown in the new music library opened yesterday at the Chicago public library. Considerably over 100 special music cards were issued during the day, and about 200 volumes were taken from the room.

According to C. B. Roden, assistant librarian, the music is taken chiefly for home use rather than by professional musicians. There are 2,100 bound volumes of music and 1,000 copies of sheet music in flexible covers. A color system of binding is used for the advantage of those desiring the books. Vocal sacred music is bound in maroon; vocal secular in crimson; piano in dark blue; organ in light blue; violin in tan, and chamber music in green. Ragtime and popular songs are barred.

Special cards are issued only to those holding regular library cards. The bound volumes may be taken out for four weeks without being renewed and the sheet music for two weeks without renewal. Overdue fines have been placed at 3 cents for the bound books and 1 cent a day for the sheet music.

The first book taken from the library was Nevin's "Day in Venice." There were five calls for it during the morning. The next four books taken out were: Finck's "Fifty Master Songs," Schumann's "Fifty Songs," Gaul's "Passion Service," and Grieg's "Piano Lyrics."

About one-fourth of the volumes which it was intended to install have been omitted for the present because of the European war. The selections were made by Felix Borowski, Karleton Hackett, and Glenn Dillard Gunn. A "foreign room" was opened in the samae room with the music. There are 15,000 volumes written in foreign languages in the collection.

Letter Tells of Canada's Sorrow.

THE war is brought home to many even on this side of the Atlantic. When, now and then, one has a glimpse into a bereaved family the personal view makes the mighty conflict pitifully near.

A Chicago woman, who name is not important to the quotation, has received this letter from a Canadian relative:

"Dear Aunt M——: In case Uncle J—— has not had a cable from Aunt L——, I am writing to tell you that we have just received the following message from her: 'Nigel died 12th. Funeral here Monday.' Mother is down at Uncle H——'s. . . . seemed frightfully upset at the telephone."

"Poor Aunt L——! Her whole world and universe were simply wrapped up in those two boys, and Nigel was so much the finer of the two and the more attractive—and she was so proud of all the scholarships he has always been winning right through school and college.

"The war is coming home to Canada already. There are already many instances of cousins, sons-in-law, etc., who have fallen, and their relations out here are mourning for them, but O, what ever will it be like when it is our own brothers, and our friends, husbands, and sons whom we are looking for in the lists, as will be the case when our contingents begin getting to the front!

"I simply feel sick at the thought of it, and yet nowadays one can think of nothing else. A letter from D—— tonight announces that he expects to get off at Christmas, and one from H—— yesterday tells us he is getting a commission in the University regiment, which is also going in the next contingent. They are hard at work recruiting and drilling for it now.

H—— was absolutely determined in the summer to go in the first contingent, but he was examined by a very clever doctor, and (to mother's joy) was pronounced physically unfit, and on account of his bad heart this doctor emphatically advised him to give up all thought of going to the war, as it would be a physical impossibility for him ever to endure the hardships of a campaign, and he would be worse than useless as soon as he got there.

"However, notwithstanding this advice, he now writes with great glee that he has passed the medical examination in Montreal and has joined this regiment. Of course, mother has not heard this yet, and I am frightfully worried when I think of the shock it is going to be to her.

"It is bad enough to think of poor jolly big D—— going, but knowing as we all do how very delicate H—— is, even in the best of times, it will be even worse to part with him. You know mother has been having a very bad time with her heart for some time now.

"O, Aunt M——, how lucky you are to be an American! You just can't imagine what it is like here now. There is nothing going on. Our soldiers have all been taken away, and all the young men have gone, and people just wander about talking war, war, war, day in and day out. But I suppose it is nothing to what it must be like in England, judging from all accounts."

Ad Men Plan for Convention.

At a directors' meeting of the Advertising association of Chicago yesterday initial plans were made for the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to be held in Chicago next summer.

Plans were made for a big advertising parade containing over 1,000 floats, the largest procession of its kind ever held.

EDISON

"BUSTER BROWN PICKS OUT THE COSTUMES."
Edison.

Buster Brown	Norris Millington
Mary Jane	Helen Millington
Mrs. Brown	Helen Bauer
Annie	May Abbey
Bridget	Jessie Stevens
Tige	James Harris
The Goat	William Fables
The minister	Harry Eytinge

THE two small people, Buster Brown and his sister, Mary Jane, plus Tige and the goat, make life merry for observers and difficult for their family in these Outcault cartoons come to life.

In today's release the doting servants leave to their doubtful discretion the selection of the costumes which are to furnish them forth in glory at the plumbers' ball. Buster and Mary Jane, assisted by Tige, rise ably to the possibilities of the situation and present the ample Bridget and spiky Annie with tulle ruffles known chiefly to balletdom. Neither Annie nor Bridget mind at all; in fact, are heartily pleased, and they wriggle themselves into the unaccustomed garments in much merriment.

But they are good maids, most conscientious, and far be it from them to neglect their duties even for the sake of impending and absorbing amusement. So when the door bell rings Bridget flies, avoirdupois permitting, to answer it, and her cordiality to the ministerial presence on the doorstep is not lessened by the diminishment of her skirts.

She convoys him safely to the parlor while Annie announces his presence to the mistress, who in the ensuing few minutes tries to make it credible to his reverence why her respectable maids in her respectable home should be fluttering about in so light minded, not to mention abbreviated, attire.

Just when the situation begins to assume plausibility, Buster and Mary Jane's latent fount of mischief spurts forth with inundating effect. They think it would be nice to the goat to show him the familiars of the family in such strange garb and so they bring him into the house.

Now, the goat is not particularly house bred, and he has precious little regard for anybody anywhere, in or out, so he chases the maids, who run pellmell through the parlor and are precipitated into the midst of the clarifying explanation and the minister's arms and the mistress' furniture in a wild disorder.

Tige and the goat are very amusing in these pictures, with the children filling their roles most acceptably. The pictures seem always to me a bit short, and sometimes the incidents are too futile to deserve picturization at all, but the actors do their best for them, as does the director, Charles H. France, with results that are usually creditably funny.

What's the Reply, Mr. Exhibitor?

"The program department seems to get more unsatisfactory every week. What is the matter with the exhibitors? At the inauguration of that department we photo play fans could get a comprehensive idea of the bills for the week at our favorite theaters, but now the space seems to be given over principally to advertising the stars of the "legitimate" and we do not know where to find the favorites of the film world."

Film Notes.

The George Ade fable this week, "How Uncle Brewster Was Too Shifty for the Tempter," may give some useful pointers to the careful minded, for it shows just how Uncle Brewster succeeded in getting through a business trip to the city without spending more than his carfare and the price of his room at the hotel.

The Famous Players are constantly adding to their long list of promised productions. On the heel of their announcement in regard to the filming of "David Harum" and "The Old Homestead" comes word that the company has obtained the film rights to "Zaza," once the starring vehicle of Mme. Rejane and Mrs. Leslie Carter. Pauline Frederick is to extract histrionic honors from the celluloid.

Odd Egg Facts

Owing to local prejudices, the people of New York pay a premium of a few cents a dozen for light shelled eggs, while the people of Boston pay a similar premium for dark shelled eggs. Scientific analysis has never been able to discover any difference between the two.

But these whims of New Yorkers and Bostonians are not as foolish as the prejudices of people who discriminate against cold storage eggs.

For the distinguishing feature of cold storage eggs is that they have been taken care of by scientific business men with up-to-date refrigerating facilities.

Cold Storage Eggs have been earnestly defended by Former Secretary of Agriculture James H. Wilson, by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, by Dr. Mary E. Pennington, Chief of the Food Research Laboratory of the Federal Government and by many others who know.

Don't let the sins of the egg which has been held in a farmer's barn be cast upon cold storage eggs. Insist on getting real, high grade refrigerated eggs.

The best candled cold storage eggs are selling to grocers at 24c to 26c a dozen, much lower than last November. It is both healthful and economical to eat lots of eggs.

How a Candidate's Wife Lost Him 2 Votes

THIS is not a story of society, but of woman and politics and questions which bear upon both woman and politics. Therefore it may take place in this column—particularly on the day after election.

The woman in the adjusting bureau of one of the large stores in the city had grown accustomed to complaints. That was why she was employed in the adjusting bureau. But now and then some aggrieved person wandered in who received the store's rules as a personal affront and always this was difficult.

A fortnight ago a portly woman arrived at the window and thrust an obviously worn garment in at the adjusting clerk. "I am sorry, madam," said the clerk, "but this garment has been worn and we cannot take it back."

"But you must take it back," shouted the woman. "I am Mrs. Blank and a lady. You are only a shop girl. What right has a woman in your position to sit in judgment on a lady? I'll take this up with the heads and I'll get your job, too."

The "shop girl" recognized the name. Mr. Blank was a candidate for office in the ward.

Mrs. Blank flounced away from the window and started for the office floor. It happened that the adjusting clerk was taking the elevator also. She found her nearest neighbor on the lift to be her irate complainant, who reopened the subject of ladyhood and shop-girlism.

"Where do you live, Mrs. Blank?" inquired the "shop girl," anxious to divert the subject. "Why," she went on, when the address was given, "you are a neighbor of mine."

Now it happens also that the "shop girl" lives with a friend who can afford to live in a fashionable district.

"A neighbor of mine?" queried the lady, "are—are you—a—voter?"

"Yes," answered the girl.

"My dear, my dear," replied the lady. "Let's think no more about this little accident. Won't you vote for my husband?"

And the girl was not reported, but yesterday morning two women—the "shop girl" and the friend with whom she lives—took great pleasure in going out and not voting for Mr. Blank.

"You see," they explained, "we couldn't imagine how a man could make a good public servant with such an influence at home."

After all, perhaps, woman's suffrage may be more far reaching in its influence than the antis dream.

A number of interesting small events are on schedule for the week. Mrs. Carter H. Harrison will give a small luncheon tomorrow for Mrs. Marshall Field, and yesterday Mrs. Samuel Chase gave a luncheon for Mrs. Frederic Delano, who will leave in a fortnight for Washington to live.

Mrs. George Isham was hostess to a large party at luncheon on Monday and on Friday afternoon following the Symphony concert Mrs. George Ingalls of Walton place will give a tea for her mother, Mrs. Hinkle of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Ogden Armour is to give a luncheon on Saturday for Miss Condon, fiancée of Philip D. Armour III.

Mrs. Armour returns from the east tomorrow after a visit with Miss Lolita, who is in school in Connecticut. Mr. and Mrs. John Borden will give a dinner on Friday night for Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Dyrenforth announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie, to G. D. R. Tucker of London and Howard house, Harrow-on-the-Hill, M. A. Cantab., of the staff of the British museum. The wedding will take place in the spring. Mr. and Mrs. Dyrenforth and Miss Dyrenforth have just returned from Europe, where they have spent some time and are at the Virginia temporarily.

Mrs. John D. Gloecker of 1016 Dempster street, Evanston, announces the engagement of her daughter, Mabel Margret, to Chester N. Benjamin of West Chicago.

The marriage of Miss Daisy Stevenson and Earl Kennedy Stitt took place last night in the First Methodist church, Englewood, the Rev. James A. Beebe officiating. The bride, who is a daughter of Mrs. Alma Dodd Stevenson, for the last year has lived with her brother Charles J. Stevenson, at Longwood-on-the-Ridge. Mr. Stitt, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Stitt of 516 West Sixty-sixth street, is the assistant cashier of the Englewood State bank and a director of the Englewood club. Mr. and Mrs. Stitt will be at home after Dec. 15 in the new Fulton apartments, Sixty-fourth street and Stewart avenue.

Mrs. B. A. Eckhart and Mrs. Cyrus McCormick each will be hostesses to small parties at the tea dance to be given at the Midway Gardens this afternoon for the benefit of the United Charities.

JENNINGS MUST ANSWER TO MOGULS FOR WAIVER LEAK

A. L. MAGNATES FRAME REBUKE FOR JENNINGS

Hugh to Be Disciplined for Violating Waiver Secrecy Rule.

MEETING TOMORROW.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Disciplining Hugh Jennings, manager of the Detroit team, for talking too much will be one of the matters discussed by American league club owners tomorrow when they convene in their annual business meeting here.

Jennings' offense consists of betraying Connie Mack's first move to shake up the Philadelphia Athletics by asking waivers on Bender, Plank, and Coombs. Absolute secrecy is supposed to surround the asking of waivers until the club which asks them is ready to make that fact known, and the rule enforcing such secrecy was violated by the Tiger pilot in divulging Mack's business.

A fine heavy enough to make Jennings behave in future is part of the probable penalty, and the Detroit manager also may be excluded from the confidence of the American league owners in future by withholding the waiver requests from him. President Navin of the Detroit club, in a letter to President Johnson of the American league, admitted that Jennings' bad faith had no justification.

National League Wants Men.

In this connection it was learned that no American league club had put in a claim for Bender or Plank, but that two National league clubs had refused to waive claim to them, thereby preventing their unconditional releases. Jack Coombs probably will become a free agent within a few days, as his baseball career was terminated by his illness of last year.

The American league session will begin at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Congress hotel and will be preceded by a meeting of the board of directors at the American league's offices. The gathering here is expected to last two days, according to President Johnson, who would not go into details as to the affairs which will occupy the attention of the club owners for that length of time.

Consideration of plans for settling the tangle between organized baseball and the Federal league probably will command considerable attention, and the future ownership of the New York team is another question that will be discussed in all probability. Resolutions on the death of John Sheridan, dean of umpires, will be passed.

Fielder Jones in Chicago.

Fielder Jones, manager of the St. Louis Federal league team, stopped in the city yesterday for a conference with President Gilmore of the league and to pay a brief visit to his old college chum, Billy Sullivan of the White Sox. Jones left last night for his home in Portland, Ore.

Jones took occasion to deny the reports that he had declared Walter Johnson demanded too high a salary for jumping to the St. Louis Federals.

"The signing of Johnson is in the hands of the president of the St. Louis club," the former White Sox manager said. "I have been quoted as saying a lot of things I never did say. I believe a ball player is entitled to all the salary he can get, and Walter Johnson is a great pitcher."

Lee Magee, outfielder of the St. Louis National league team, accompanied Manager Jones to the city and was reported to be in secret conference with President Weeghman of the Tinx all day with a view to signing to play with the north side team next season. This was denied in toto by Mr. Weeghman, who offered to substantiate it an alibi that he had been playing golf nearly all day. He declared that he had not seen Lee Magee and did not know he was in town.

Players' Status in Doubt.

Rumor did not state whether Mr. Weeghman was to sign Magee for the Chifeds or the Cubs, and incidentally raised the question what is to happen to the ball players who jumped contracts or reservations last season in case a settlement with the Federal leaguers is reached this winter.

As nearly as can be ascertained, this matter has not been discussed as yet, which would indicate that Messrs. Herrmann and Weeghman in their recent conference here hit only the high spots without attempting to solve any of the real tangles which must be tackled before a settlement can be reached.

MACK TO DROP PITCHERS; NO CHANCE TO COME BACK.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Fans who believe that Connie Mack does not want to get rid of Plank, Bender, and Coombs, but was merely trying to scare them so that he could sign them at his own terms, are mistaken. Mack said today that the three pitchers would never again appear in Athletic uniforms. Mack didn't give the full secret away for his sudden feeling of displeasure toward the three veterans, but he did say that the reasons for his action were different in each case.

The tall tutor declared emphatically that he did not believe that either pitcher had outlived his usefulness. Mack, in closing, made a significant remark when he said:

"I don't want one man on the team who is not for the club. That goes for the whole bunch."

CENTRAL MEETING IN OMAHA.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 3.—Owners and managers of the baseball clubs composing the Central league will hold their annual meeting in Omaha, Neb., next week. It has been the custom for the Central league owners to meet in the same city with the National association. The magnates will gather in Chicago Sunday and leave that night in a special car for Omaha.

The meeting will be important. The vacancy caused by the dropping of the Springfield, O., club during the season will be filled. Two cities have filed applications for the charter and it may be that the league will be enlarged to an eight club circuit. It is probable that the league salary and players' limits will be changed.

Louis Heilbroner of this city probably will be reëlected president for this third term.

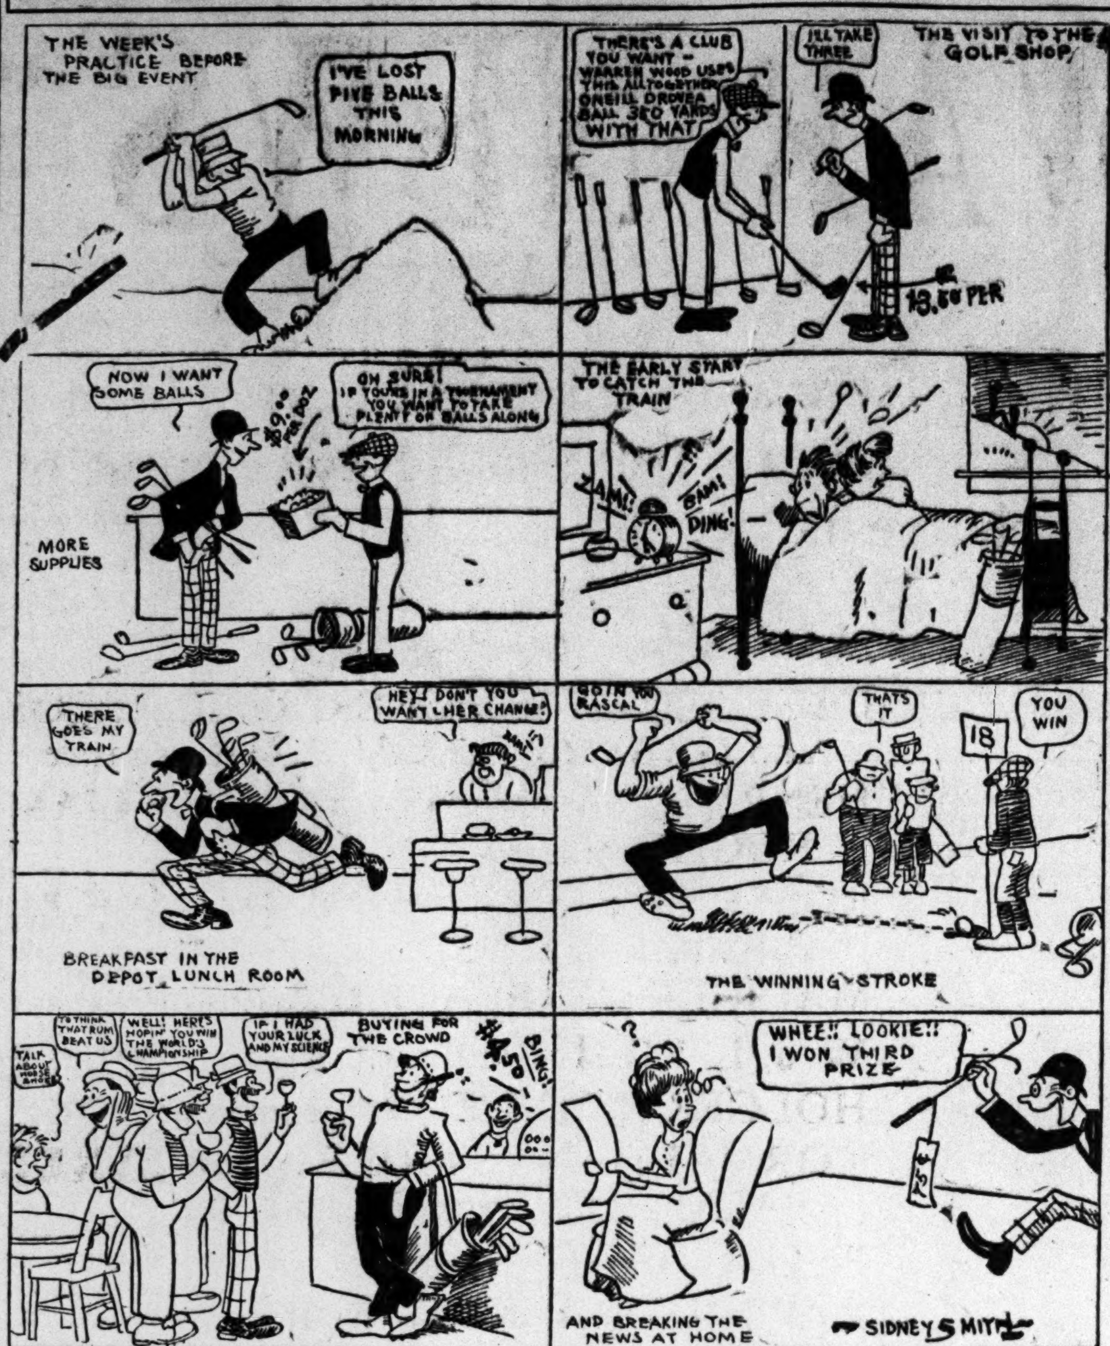

STARS DRAW RECORD CROWD.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3.—Big league baseball drew to Ewing field today one of the largest crowds in its history. The All-National team, with Big Bill James on the slab, defeated the All-Americans, 4 to 2. Carey broke up the game in the fourth frame, scoring James ahead of him with a long home run to right field. Score:

All-Nationals	4	10	1
All-Americans	2	0	2

Batteries—James and Killifer; Bush and Henry.

WINNING A GOLF PRIZE.

CHICAGO PLAYER KEEPS CUE LEAD

Lean Defeats Cullen of Buffalo, 50 to 39, in Three Cushion League.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Jess Lean retained first place in the Interstate Three Cushion league by defeating William Cullen of Buffalo, 50 to 39, in their match at Flenner's room last night. The home player went out in 74 innings. Each man had a high run of 6.

Points came hard in the opening stages, Lean leading, 13 to 10, at the end of the twentieth inning. From the twenty-fifth inning Lean ran into a row of ten ciphers. After getting a single in the thirty-sixth inning, Cullen made a pretty run of six on his next trial, and a two in the next inning put him in the lead, 26 to 23, at the end of the fortieth inning. Lean picked off a number of singles, but at the end of the fiftieth inning Cullen was leading, 31 to 28.

The Buffalo man ran into several kisses, and Lean, profiting by the openings, began to score fast. Starting with a six in the fifty-sixtn inning, he followed with a brace of threes and two singles in succession, taking his total to 44 at the sixtieth session, Cullen having 33.

CULLEN—4, 1, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 1, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 1, 1, 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 1, 0, 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 1, 1, 0, 1, 0, 1, 6, 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 3, 0, 0, 0, 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 2, 0, 0, 0, 1, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 1, 2, 0, 1, 0, 1—39. Innings, 74; high run, 6.

MORNINGSTAR CUE VICTOR OVER COCHRAN, 400 TO 217.

Scoring double figures in eight of his innings Ora Morningstar, former national champion, defeated Welker Cochran, the young Chicago player, 400 to 217, in their match in the Champion Billiard Players' league at Haight's room, 320 Michigan avenue, last night. The veteran averaged 17 9-23, with high run of 99, the young expert notching 9 10-23, with 35 as his top count. Scores:

COCHRAN—35, 1, 0, 0, 7, 9, 3, 27, 0, 1, 2, 14, 13, 32, 0, 0, 16, 15, 0, 4, 3, 24, 11—217. Average, 9 10-23.

MORNINGSTAR—1, 3, 5, 3, 1, 9, 44, 41, 56, 8, 9, 1, 83, 2, 22, 2, 36, 6, 0, 2, 6, 99, 11—400 Average, 17 9-23.

Hoppe Victor Over Inman.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 3.—With the balkline American game figuring as the first stage of the last match in the international billiard series and of the third match for the Canadian billiard championship, Willie Hoppe, the American expert, had all the better of the two sessions today, when he outpointed Melbourne Inman, the English cueist, 1,000 to 309.

Milwaukee Cueist Victor.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Kieckhefer of Milwaukee tonight defeated Benson of St. Louis in a billiard game in the interstate three cushion billiard league, 50 to 40, in 70 innings.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

In the three cushion tournament at Conklin & Burdick's Hine [40] defeated Prince [35], 40 to 27.

Atwood won the rapid fire three cushion tournament at Bensinger's Monroe street rooms last night. Grimm was second, Zeitler third, and Grits fourth.

Lundgren defeated Lamsus, 50 to 35, in the three cushion tournament at Roberts' Logan square rooms. Lew Shaw gave an exhibition of fancy shots.

Goelitz Captain at Kewatin.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Harry Goelitz of Oak Park today was elected captain of the Kewatin academy football team, which has scored 254 points to its opponents' 9 this season.

Murray Tops Election Night Bowlers.

SAM MURRAY, a veteran of many a tough bowling match, celebrated the election of many of his brothers by anchoring a 221 2-3 average for the Commodore Barry council while they were winning a whole series from the St. James' council of the Knights of Columbus league. Murray had a count of 253 for his final game, which gave his average a big boost and also ran the team total to 1,041 for their final victory.

"Si" Hawkoette set a 208 pace for the Roedigers when they were traveling at a 962 gait, winning three straight from the Utah Braus of the Schall league. The Gretlers and the Monograms staged a tight series in the Kiowa league, the former team winning the odd after a tough argument. Zipperle was the top man for the Gretlers with an average of 205 flat, while Bushfeld of the Monograms led his team with 203.

Sinai Social Center swimmers won the opening tank meet of the season last night, defeating the Central Y. M. C. A. team, 24 to 17, in the victors' pool. In a previous contest for the A. A. F. championship last summer, Sinai placed first, with Central second. Slams in the plunge for distance and 100 yard swim and first three places in the fancy diving contest decided the meet in favor of Sinai. Fish, true to his name, performed brilliantly in the plunge, setting a new A. A. F. record of :39 for the sixty foot tank. The former mark was :47. Summaries:

Plunge for distance—Won by Fish, S.; Sievers, S., second; Lewy, S., third. Distance, 60 ft., time, :39.

Forty yard back stroke—Won by Bron, S.; Rudloff, C., second; S. Siegel, S., third; Bauer, C., fourth. Time, :32.

Forty yard swim—Won by A. Siegel, S.; Kovenick, S., second; Peterson, C., third; Waddell, C., fourth. Time, :21 3-5.

220 yard swim—Won by A. Siegel, S.; Peterson, C., second; Komie, S., third. Time, 3:15.

RENAME GOLF BODY HEADS.

So successful was the administration of the original officers of the Chicago District Golf association that the nomination committee, of which R. J. Collins is chairman, has named the whole board, headed by Frank S. Peabody, to succeed itself. The annual election is to be held Dec. 8. The big success of the year was the caddy tournament, and while the open and amateur events were fairly successful as starters, the delegates believe they can be improved. In the open event only amateurs and professionals affiliated with C. D. G. A. clubs were allowed to play, and a move to open the competition to all Chicago players will be made. Also it is probable the event will be held later in the year when the professionals can get away from their work. The ticket announced by Chairman Collins is as follows: President, Frank S. Peabody; vice president, D. F. Kelly; treasurer, C. N. Stevens; secretary, A. H. Cleaves. Executive committee, A. H. Revell, Abel Davis, Irving T. Hartz, Marquis Easton, Thomas Taylor Jr., F. B. Eells, Louis A. Ferguson, D. F. Kelly, F. S. Peabody.

EICHENLAUB TO PLAY HERE.

Comiskey park will be fitted up for the football game between Notre Dame and Carlisle within a few days. Notre Dame authorities have been primping for this occasion, for they want to show Chicago at least as good work as they unfolded here two years ago Thanksgiving day, when the Hoosiers ran over Marquette. Eichenlaub will play against the Indians unless he loses an appendix or breaks a leg before then. Cofall, Pliska, and a few more sterling Hibernians also will take part.

WELSH ARRIVES TODAY TO START WORK FOR SCRAP

Champion to Train at Forbes' During Stay; White Boxes Seven Rounds.

BY RAY C. PEARSON.

Lightweight Champion Freddie Welsh will arrive in Chicago this morning to pass a few days in training here before he tackles Charley White in Milwaukee Monday night. Welsh, with Manager Harry Pollock and two trainers, left New York at noon yesterday on the Broadway Limited, which is due to reach here shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

Forbes' gymnasium will be the champion's headquarters during his stay in Chicago. It is probable that the lightweight king will begin light work immediately on his arrival. He may don the big mitts this afternoon for a brief session of boxing, but after the long ride from Gotham he undoubtedly will take things easy for one day.

Welsh in Good Shape.

That Welsh is in perfect physical condition was demonstrated in his battle with Ad Wolgast Monday night. Early in the fight Ad landed some hard blows in the champion's midsection, but Welsh's condition was such that the effects of the punches wore off in a moment. Thereafter the former title holder was like a novice before the wonderfully skilled Briton.

About all Welsh will have to do here is to keep himself limbered up. The Wolgast bout proved he is ready now for an encounter of any duration, and his cheif business prior to his clash with White will be to keep on edge. With this end in view he will take only the lightest sort of work every day, with a few rounds of sparring in the afternoon to top off his training.

Seven Rounds for White.

Charley White put in another strenuous day at O'Connell's gymnasium. The challenger for the title wound up his labors with seven rounds of boxing against fighters of assorted varieties. Benny Yanger, the "Tipton Slasher" of the old days, stepped two rounds with White. Benny has been in training recently and he gave Charley a lively time. Frankie Lynn took Yanger's place for two rounds, then followed a one round set-to with Danny McMahon, Bill O'Connell's latest protégé. McMahon set out to demonstrate his cleverness, and a fair exhibition of scientific fisticuffs rewarded the big crowd that appeared to see White work. Two rounds of slugging with Mickey Sheridan finished the practice drill for White.

While Welsh is operating in another part of the loop White plans to entertain the fans with nine rounds of sparring today. Jimmy Travers, Mickey Sheridan, and Frankie Lynn will furnish the opposition.

Advance Sale Large.

Nate Lewis, White's manager, reported that the advance sale of tickets in Chicago has exceeded the expectations of the promoters, and indications are that a record crowd of local ring followers will journey to Milwaukee to see Charley pit his skill against the champion.

Eddie McGoorty and Jack Dillon probably will be matched for the next big fight show at the Brewery city. Promoter Mulkern is trying to line up the middleweights and the match seems likely to go through.

Jimmy Anderson and "Goats" Doig have been matched to battle ten rounds at La Salle, Ill., on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day. They will make 135 pounds for the bout.

No Coin; No Fight.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 3.—Joe Hastings of Chicago ran against some frenzied finance tonight and refused to enter the ring for his bout with Gus Bezenah of Cincinnati, who had agreed to substitute for "Sailor" Einert. The promoters refused to pay Hastings the sum he had been guaranteed.

Dillon to Fight Gilbert.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis middleweight, and "Fighting Dick" Gilbert, the Denver light heavyweight, have been matched for a twenty round fight at the Colorado Athletic club on Nov. 24. Gilbert has a long list of knockouts to his credit.

CATLETT SHOWS HIS SPEED.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Michigan's hopes for the Pennsylvania game took a boost today, when "Buzz" Catlett, who probably will replace Lyons at right half, ran wild over the scrubs, scoring three of four touchdowns in a short scrimmage. Quail, the guard recently shifted to right end, made the other score on a forward pass from Huebel.

Catlett, who has not been used since the Syracuse game, dodged and fought through the scrubs for more than 200 yards, getting away almost every time he was called on for runs around the end of from fifteen to seventy-five yards.

The first team was used in signal drill only, Yost standing pat on his predicted shakeup. Bastian was at right half with the big fellows, but Catlett's showing would indicate that the latter had a better chance of getting Lyons' berth.

A ray of hope for the Cornell game came today with the announcement that Galt, the veteran right half back, might be able to play. He began attending classes on Monday and was on the field today, although not in a suit.

WALTER JOSEPH WRITES HOME.

"ST. Edward's Hall, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Indiana. Oct. 15 1914 My dear Mother and Father How are you. I hope you are well and happy. Mother was here Sunday and brought me some cake and Pea nut butter and peanuts and other good thing. She bought me some chest nut. She bought me some fruit and a tablet of paper. We went down town and a nail brush. She brought me my tennes racket. The meals are fine now. I sleep fine. How is Henry Jr. and Jane? are they as cute as ever? Saint Edward day was the 13th of Oct. We had backward races and Sack races and 100 yard races and apple races and I won a cake and we had three leged races two. Some boys won boxs of candy two. We had lots and lots and lots of fun. I wish you were here. I received Father letter Wednesday and was pleased to here that Mary is back from Ireland. It is fine out here now and the meals are fine two and the weather is fine. I have six gold nots now. We go swimming about once a week now. How is Dorothy Dale is she well and happy. I hope she is. How is Fred Bender and how is Alfred Frankstian and Ruth. How is Cyril and Winfred Hagan. How is Junner Hardin and how is Marion and Harold My best friend are Jimmie Barry and Harold Powers and A. Witterbirg and S Nelson. Lots of love and kisses to all, your loving son.

"WALTER JOSEPH ——."

YOST WINS AN ARGUMENT.

"No team of mine ever lost a game," said Mr. Yost, "by a failure to kick goal from touchdown."

"No," said we, "but Michigan lost one that way two years before you came. Penn beat 'em in 1899, 11 to 10."

"No," replied Mr. Yost. "It was either 12 to 10 or 12 to 11."

"No, it wasn't," said we. "It was 11 to 10."

"No," said Mr. Yost, "it must have been either 12 to 11 or 12 to 10."

"Well," we suggested, "let's look it up."

So we looked it up, and there it was in the book—11 to 10.

"See!" we gloated.

"Sure," said Mr. Yost, "11 to 10—just as I was tellin' you."

TO HARVARD.

No wonder you have winners
When such delicious dinners
Are served to athletes at your training board.
What team that's daily eaten
Such victuals could be beaten!
Who wouldn't win for such a rich reward!

I b'lieve it's for those lunches
That men come out in bunches
To play the game that hurts, that sometimes kills;
I b'lieve it's for that foodstuff
That men endure the rude stuff
The mauling and the maiming of the drills.

No wonder Charley Brickley
Got well so doggone quickly;
While he stayed sick, he couldn't have that grub.
I'm fond of my position;
Can't kick on my condition,
But—Harvard, could you use another Scrub?

WHERE SOME CREDIT IS DUE.

On Saturday last a line composed of green men, with one exception, played Harvard's veteran forward wall to a standstill. The green line was Michigan and its showing was creditable, to say the least. In passing credit around, one shouldn't forget Germany Schulz and King Cole, who certainly deserve a lot of it.

MAROONS GIVEN SECRET DRILL

BY MAROON.

Maroon football players went through an afternoon of drill on new formations behind closed gates on Stagg field yesterday. None but athletes in uniform was allowed to watch the varsity men in action, the field being closed by order of Coach Stagg to all except the bearers of special permits. Scrimmage was passed up, the Midway coaches deciding to eliminate the flaws in the Maroon style from the ground up in the two weeks allowed to prepare for the Illinois game.

Gray Not in Practice.

The X ray examination of Dolly Gray's injured right ankle showed no bones were broken. The star half back still does not expect to play in the game at Urbana, as tendons in the ankle have been sprained. Gray did not participate in the practice, although he was on the field.

Neither the regulars, scrubs, nor freshmen took part in any regular contest. All the players were raced through a program of tackling, wind sprints, blocking, checking, drill on signals and new formations, and running under kicks.

Maroon Fans Pessimistic.

The pessimism which has been rife at the Midway since the announcement of Gray's injury has led the students to congregate in gloomy groups about the outside of the field. The rooters are watching the condition of the players with foreboding. Many of the Chicago stars were badly used up by the game at Madison last week.

COACH ZUPPKE GUARDS PRACTICE AT ILLINOIS.

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Secrecy is the watchword on Illinois field. Tonight Zuppke took added precautions against unwelcome visitors by causing all student managers and reporters to wear identification tags. Capt. Chapman's Illini were given a spirited signal drill and Zuppke produced several new plays designed to confuse the Maroons.

Reservations for seats were made today, breaking all records. One fraternity ordered 100 seats for alumni. The Illini Rooters' club was formed today and will occupy a special section, while the "I" club will have another.

With no game scheduled Saturday, the Illini probably will play the annual practice game with the varsity freshmen. Zuppke may decide to bar spectators from the game.

Gossip of the Gridiron.

THE annual football game between Amherst and Williams has for years been one of the most important athletic events for both colleges. Since 1905 each team has won four games. One contest resulted in a tie. The game this year will be played at Amherst on Nov. 14. Practically the entire student body of both institutions will see the battle.

Cornell university is following the rules committee's suggestion of numbering the players. Coach Sharpe of the "Big Red" team is a firm believer in the system and his eleven will be numbered in its remaining games.

Aside from the many upsets which have featured the 1914 season, the poor showing of the Carlisle Indians, who always have been a factor in eastern football, is one of the surprises of the season.

Even eastern football critics give Michigan credit for outplaying Harvard. The only criticism of the Wolverines' play was that they did not have the final punch to score when they were within the shadow of the Crimson goal posts.

When Harvard takes the field against the Tigers on Saturday Coach Haughton will send his strongest eleven on the field. Half Back Mahan and Pennock, the giant guard, will be in the game. The only man who possibly could strengthen the team is Capt. Brickley, who is just recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

An eastern statistician, in summing up the yards gained in the Michigan-Harvard game states Michigan gained 127 yards by straight rushing in the first half and eighty yards in the second period. The total yardage gained was 207 yards, ten first downs. Harvard gained fifty-seven yards by straight rushing in the first half and ninety-five yards in the second. The total yardage was 152 yards.

CATHOLIC PREPS ARRANGE INDOOR BASEBALL CHART.

Catholic High school leaguers will waste little time this season between sports, for the day following the last football game the indoor baseball league season will open with two games. Managers, coaches, and faculty representatives drafted the schedule last night at their meeting at the Great Northern hotel.

Five teams have entered the league with the inaugural contests set for Nov. 27. Each school will play the others twice, and the team securing the largest percentage will be awarded the championship. Following is the schedule:

Nov. 27—St. Patricks at De La Salle; Holy Trinity at St. Philip's.

Nov. 30—St. Ignatius at St. Patrick's; De La Salle at Holy Trinity.

Dec. 2—St. Philips at De La Salle; St. Patricks at St. Ignatius'.

Dec. 5—De La Salle at St. Patrick's; St. Philips at Holy Trinity.

Dec. 9—St. Patricks at St. Ignatius'; Holy Trinity at De La Salle.

Dec. 12—De La Salle at St. Philip's; St. Ignatius at St. Patrick's.

Arrangements also were completed for the three game football schedule, two teams having dropped out of the strenuous sport. Following are the games:

Nov. 12—St. Ignatius at De Paul.

Nov. 21—De Paul at St. Rita's.

Nov. 26—St. Ritas at St. Ignatius'.

EQUALIZE RULES TO HELP OFFENSE SAYS ECKERSALL

More Assistance Should Be Given Man with Ball to Improve Game.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Although more interest is being shown in football this season than in any year since the adoption of the forward pass and ten yard rule in 1906, the rules committee still has a task on its hand to solve the problem of equalizing the offense and defense.

As the present rules prohibit the man with the ball to be pulled or pushed, but allow the defense to pit its strength of eleven men against this player, it is hard to gain ground continuously by means of concentrated attacks. If a half back carries the ball on an off tackle drive, three or four players of the defending team stop him and carry him yards back of the point where his forward progress was stopped.

Fail to Heed Whistle.

The rules specifically state that the ball is dead as soon as its forward progress is stopped, but how many teams pay attention to the referee's whistle? As a result the man with the ball is picked up and thrown back five or ten yards with at least three of the defending team on top of him. This inequality of offense and defense has been the main cause of eleven deaths in football this season.

The player who carries the ball should be given more protection than the interference which precedes him in his efforts to make ground. Either the distance to be gained in four downs should be lessened or else the man carrying the ball should be supported by at least one of his teammates.

Ways to Equalize Game.

There are many ways in which the problem of equalizing the offense and defense can be solved. It is a well known fact that the closer a team approaches the other's goal the harder it is to gain ground, for the simple reason the secondary defense is drawn closer to reinforce the forward wall. In midfield the secondary players are stationed from five to fifteen yards back of the forward wall. In such positions it is comparatively easy for the offensive eleven to make headway before checked by the secondary wall.

Inside of the twenty-five yard lines the defensive elevens generally draw up the secondary players closer, with the result it is much harder to make ground than in midfield. Therefore it would be a good plan to allow the runner to be pushed or pulled by one of his teammates when the ball is inside of an opponent's twenty-five or twenty yard line. This is only one of the many ways in which the offense and defense can be equalized, and unless the element of luck enters into the contests consistent headway cannot be made.

Example at Madison.

The Wisconsin-Chicago game at Madison last Saturday was a good example. With two exceptions, when both teams had chances to score on football tactics and two other times when each was in position to score by the field goal route, the battle was fought between the two twenty-five yard lines. The defense of both teams was stronger than the offense, and this is the reason the contest resulted in a scoreless tie. The Michigan-Harvard game also was another example of this situation.

There is a loophole in the rules which may cause a lot of trouble in important games unless the officials have an understanding with the coaches before the contests in regard to the strict interpretation. The rule deals with a punted ball striking an offside player. The play always has been ruled that as soon as a punted ball hits one of the kicker's side the ball shall go to the opposing team at that point.

Under rule 6, section 13, which covers all points of the ball being declared dead, nothing is said about the ball being dead when striking an offside player on a punt. Supposing a kicked ball strikes a player of the kicker's side and then is picked up by a member of the defending team, who runs for a touchdown.

Case May Come Up.

Under the strict interpretation of the rule the team making the touchdown can decline the penalty, but such has not been the case in former years. This is a mere technicality, but the time may come when the point may arise in a championship struggle and the ruling of the officials may decide a hard fought contest.

If such understandings are had before the games then the games can be decided upon their merits and no blame can be placed on the officials, who this year must be acknowledged to be the best who have acted in contests in the last decade.

TWO REMAIN IN PREP PLAY.

As a result of the disbanding of the Proviso minor team, the race in the Suburban league lightweight section has narrowed so that the only likely candidates for the title are Morgan Park and Oak Park. Both elevens have a clean slate, although the west siders have won three games against two for their rival. Morgan Park and Oak Park will clash at Morgan Park field Nov. 14 in what promises to be the deciding game for the lightweight championship. Proviso found that too many of its best players would be unable to meet the weight regulation of 135 pounds. As a result Coach Brinkerhoff called off all games and the squad has disbanded.

THE BEST WAR NEWS

The paid circulation of The Daily News last month averaged 406,090 a day—the largest circulation in the 38 years' history of the paper. The average for October last year was 354,044. There has, therefore been a gain of 52,046 per day within the year—a notable achievement in American journalism.

This gain of 52,046 in the daily sales means that over 150,000 more people in Chicago are now regularly reading The Daily News than a year ago—following the usual computation of three readers to each copy of a daily newspaper sold.

It goes without saying that this unprecedented growth is due to the European war, but its full significance will be recognized only when it is remembered that it has been accomplished under conditions of the most exacting demand on the part of the public for the best possible war news service, and the most intense competition among newspapers to meet that demand. That The Daily News has successfully met this public demand for the best war news is convincingly attested by the gain of 52,046 daily circulation.

The reason for The Daily News' pre-eminence in its war news is that, in addition to the always reliable Associated Press service, it has the advantage of its own complete and exclusive news-gathering organization throughout Europe, an organization which has been built up during the past twenty-odd years, and that it has supplemented this service by sending its own special staff men to the front.

Here are the men who have been cabling war news to The Daily News—most of it exclusive news:

EDWARD P. BELL, England.
PAUL SCOTT MOWRER, RENE ARCOS and GABRIEL DELAGARDE, France.
HENRY C. A. MEAD and WILLIAM ROGHE, Germany.
ROBERT ATTER and M. H. DZIEWICKI, Austria.
MAURICE GERBEAULT, Belgium.
W. J. L. KIEHL, Holland.
HOLGER R. ANGELO, Denmark.
TORVALD NYSTROM, and AXEL PALMGREN, Sweden.
PETER DAAE, Norway.
RAPINET MACKENZIE, Italy.
LEO. J. FRANKENTHAL, Switzerland.
W. TCHERKESOFF, Russia.
E. CHRISTITCH, Servia.
CONSTANTINE STEPHANOVE, Bulgaria.
J. K. M. SHIRAZI, Turkey.
WILLIAM R. GILES and G. BURTON SAYER, China.
ERNEST W. CLEMENT and W. A. CURTIS, Japan.
EDGAR A. MOWRER and JACQUES OBELS, with the Belgian army.
RAYMOND E. SWING, with the German army on the French border.
RICHARD HARDING DAVIS, with the French army.
JOHN F. BASS, with the Russian army.
HARRY HANSEN, on the Italo-Austrian frontier.
E. PERCY NOEL, with the Military Aviators in France.

The Daily News makes no claim of infallibility in its war news service, but it does claim that every effort is made to print all the news, completely and impartially, and to discriminate as far as possible between fact and mere rumor and sensational exaggeration.

This Special Blouse Occasion Presents Unusual Values in These

500 New Blouses at $5.75

All the new colorings are represented, the suit shades of blue, green and brown—the soft pastel shades of pink, flesh, cream. Sleeves show the new close lines, the cuffs are of lingerie or satin in contrasting colors, and the collars have all the delightfully different features from the high-strapped military variety to the soft, rolling collar in the new oblong shape.

Four of these blouses are sketched to represent this very attractive assortment—

But neither description nor illustration can do full justice to these lovely blouses which bear no resemblance to those usually found priced as low as $5.75.

5,000 Yards of New and Attractive Imported Cretonnes at 25c Yard

Through a Splendid Purchase This Quantity Has Come to Be Sold at Far Less Than Their Usual Prices.

THEY comprised the remainders of two prominent foreign cretonne manufacturers' stocks on hand. Most of them are of recently discontinued patterns—in the majority of cases discontinued only because a new line had to be created, not because the new patterns were any more attractive than those then being shown.

But nevertheless this is the reason for this sale of cretonnes so much below the customary price—and the reason most of the patterns are in full-bolt pieces, enough for the complete furnishing of rooms, window and door-hangings, bed spreads, for covering draft-screens and utility-boxes, or slip coverings for the furniture.

Not a single pattern in this assortment has ever before been shown by this store in a sale of this kind—and most of the designs will lend themselves admirably to the making of articles for Christmas gifts, such as

Handkerchief Bags	Skirt Bags	Slipper Bags
Glove Bags	Skirt Boxes	Work Boxes
Darning Bags	Shirtwaist Boxes	Candle Shades
Laundry Bags	Sewing Boxes	Lamp Shades
Hand Bags	Hat Boxes	Doilies
Needle Bags	Handkerchief Boxes	Cushions
Opera Bags	Glove Boxes	Pillows
Sewing Bags	Darning Boxes	Book Covers
Shoe Bags	Shoe Boxes	Picture Frames

Table Covers
Dresser Scarfs
Waste Paper Baskets

These cretonnes usually sell all the way from 40c to 75c a yard, but these 5,000 yards will be offered at 25c yard.

Special—Many bolts of figured linen taffeta, mostly in foreign patterns which are especially adaptable for slip covering furniture, will be offered in connection with this sale at about half price—35c yard.

Albatross Negligees at $2.95

The negligee illustrated has the elastic waist, and the scallops and dots are embroidered in white. Pink, Copenhagen, and light blue offer choice of colors. Special, $2.95.

The other two styles are developed in the same splendid quality of albatross, and are cut in straight, simple lines—making these negligees particularly desirable for travel.

BIG SEA BATTLE WON BY GERMANS

CARS CRASH IN TUNNEL; ONE DEAD; 30 HURT

Crew of Disabled Trolley Fails to Guard the Rear.

WOMEN IN A PANIC

A conductor failed to obey the rules and run back to signal the street car behind when his car became stalled in the Van Buren street tunnel last evening. As a result a car coming at top speed along the bottom of the bore tore into the darkened car before the passengers had time to leap to their feet.

One man was crushed to death. The motorman of the rear car, who stuck to his controller handle in a vain effort to avert the accident, may die.

Thirty passengers were more or less seriously injured.

THE DEAD.

FRED COLE of 2303 Warren avenue; bruised.

EARL WALL of 2304 Fulton street; bruised.

Trolley Jumps Off Wire.

Car No. 720, containing about ten passengers, was going down the incline from Franklin street when the trolley jumped off the wire and snapped the rope attached to the pole. J. V. Keating of 422 South Claremont avenue, the motorman, stopped the car just as it was starting up the west incline. Patrick Brady of 848 North Kedvale avenue, the conductor, got out and climbed on to the roof of the car, leaving the passengers sitting in darkness.

The second car, No. 702, entered the tunnel about three minutes later. Some of the passengers in the front car said it was fully five minutes. The disabled trolley could not be seen by Kunes, motorman of the second car, until he was part way down the incline on account of the curve in the roof of the tunnel.

Says Air Failed to Work.

When he did see it he threw on the brakes, but the car had gained such momentum that he was unable to stop it. According to J. R. Keeler, a night superintendent for the John R. Thompson company, the air refused to work, possibly because of slippery rails caused by water dripping from the roof of the tunnel.

Keeler and Kellis were standing on the front platform with Kunes. When they saw that a collision was unavoidable they shouted a warning to the passengers and Keeler threw open the door into the car in order to leap to safety. Two panic stricken girls had rushed to the front of the car instead of the rear, and they and Keeler went down in a heap on the floor when the smash came.

Kellis also attempted to dive through the door, but before he could get past those on the floor the front platform had telescope the rear platform of the first car and he was pinioned in the wreckage. Both legs were cut off at the thighs and he was dead before he could be dragged from the debris.

Kunes was hurled against the partition behind him and that was all that prevented him from being killed. As it was he was unconscious when the first passengers reached him and pulled him from among the splintered boards. Kellis' body was wedged so tight that the car had to be jacked up by members of truck company No. 1 before it could be taken out.

Conductor Brady shouted a warning to the passengers in the front car and attempted to climb down from the roof, but had only reached the edge when he was hurled sixteen feet to the pavement.

The noise of the collision roared and reverberated through the tunnel. Of the twenty passengers in the rear car most were women. All of the passengers were thrown from their seats and shot sprawling along the floor.

Saw Smash Coming.

"I was on the front platform with the motorman and a fellow passenger when I saw that our car was going to smash into the first one," said Keeler. "I opened the door leading back into the car just as two girls tried to rush out on the platform. We all fell back in a heap on the floor except the other passenger, who was killed, and the motorman. They were caught in the wreckage and crushed. We had no difficulty after getting away from the cars, as the tunnel fortunately was lighted. Many of the women were hysterical and they were assisted to the surface by the cooler headed men."

Miss Florence McGee of 412 South Lincoln street, riding on the second car, said that she saw the one ahead just as they struck the bottom of the tunnel.

Auto Speeds Into Bore.

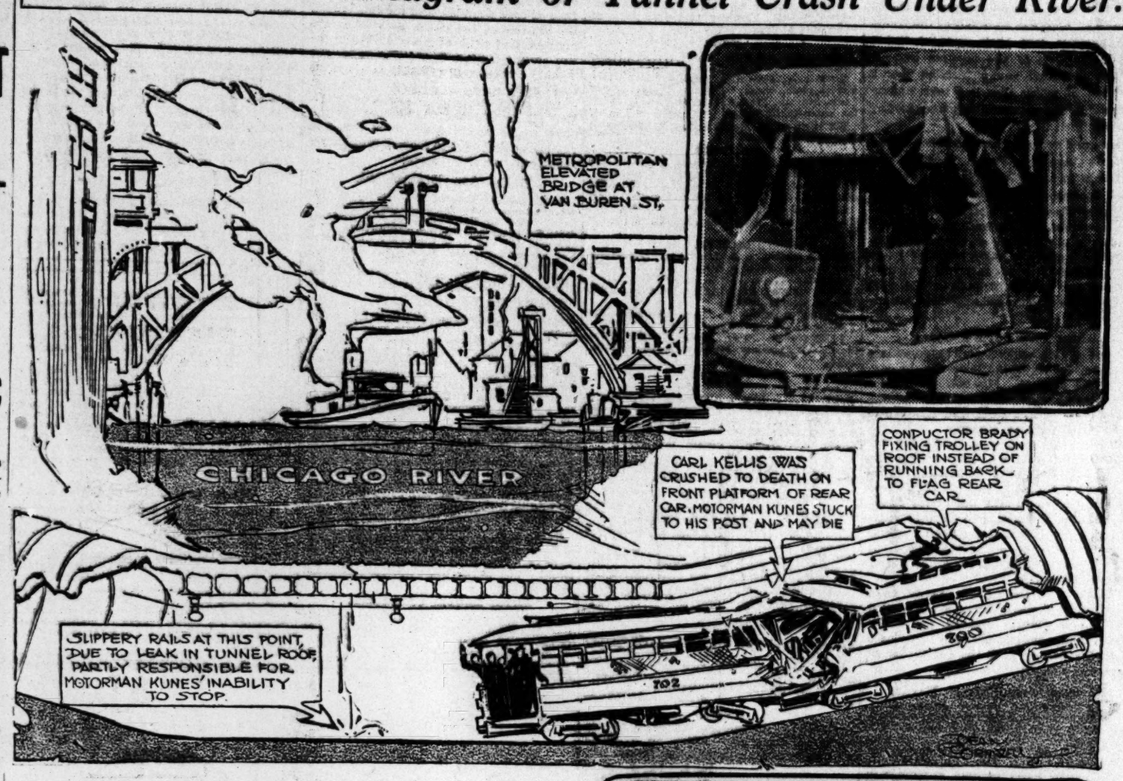

Traffic in the La Salle street tunnel was tied up for nearly an hour when an automobile containing two men sped down the south incline and bumped into the side of the bore. The car was going west in Randolph street at high speed when it struck a pedestrian, spun him around, and sent him sprawling in the street.

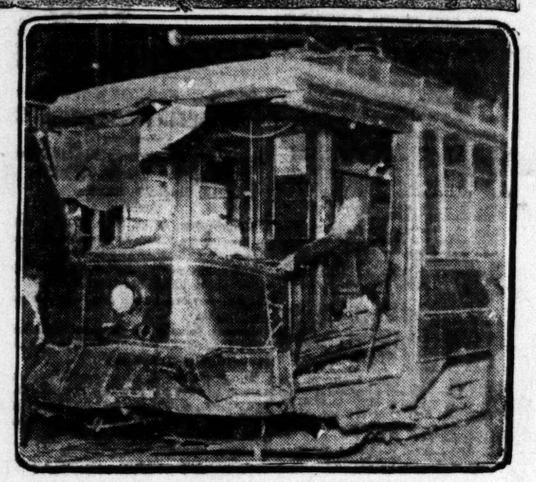

The driver of the car put on more power and turned north into La Salle street. The next instant the machine shot down into the tunnel. When it left the paving and bumped over the ties the driver lost control and it swerved into the wall.

Records showed that the license number was issued to James F. McGrath of 2831 West Monroe street. Over the telephone Mrs. McGrath said that her husband owned an automobile and had taken it out in the evening. McGrath was ordered to appear at the station today and offer an explanation.

SMALLPOX WAR GROWS IN ZION

Voliva Sends Warning to Gov. Dunne Not to Interfere.

"I'LL GIVE 'EM HE—."

Five guards were placed over the settlement last night by the officers of the state board of health under instructions from Secretary C. St. Clair Drake.

Voliva to Give 'Em H—l.

Meanwhile Voliva transmitted remarks to Gov. Dunne by wire. Voliva admitted thirty cases of smallpox in the city. The state officials found forty-six cases and seventy "contacts," making a total of 116 persons to watch.

"I'm going to give those who don't treat us with respect hell," said Voliva. "If they act as gentlemen we will cooperate with them."

Voliva's own official paper issued an extra denouncing the state authorities and the town was plastered with placards attacking "Drugs, Doctors, and the Devil."

Victim Walks In on Mayor.

The smallpox has spread northward. While Dr. St. Clair and the mayor of Waukegan were in conference yesterday in the office of the mayor, a dairyman's daughter, broken out with smallpox eruptions, walked into the office.

A vaccination proclamation was issued and 250 persons were vaccinated.

Humane Society Agent Who Investigates Child Mendicant Says He Finds Charity Is Not Needed.

A barefoot boy in tears ran about the stores in the neighborhood of Twelfth street and Milwaukee avenue. He begged for something to eat. Yesterday, Charles H. Brayne of the Illinois Humane society went out to help the small barefoot boy. Instead of the boy he found Miss Mary Chorba, a sister, at 1345 Milwaukee avenue. Miss Chorba required no assistance, she told him. Her small flat was neat and clean and prosperous looking. The mother of the family had died only the week before and the father was dead.

Mr. Brayne went to the Kosciusko school and found Julius Chorba, aged 9. The boy said that he was compelled to beg by his sister, who refused him food until he brought in cash. Mr. Brayne discovered that the sister was sending her little brother out to beg for money for her trousseau, he said. She promised never to send Julius on the streets again.

FIRE ROUTS EIGHT FAMILIES.

Four Story Building Attacked and Occupants Flee to Safety in Street.

Members of eight negro families were driven to the street when the four story double brick flat building at 3765-67 Rhodes avenue caught fire at the third floor last night. The fire is believed to have been caused by gas from a defective pipe.

CAVALRY HERE OFF TO RIOTS

Fort Sheridan Troops Rushed to Trouble Zone in Arkansas.

MINERS DEFY COURTS.

The first squadron of the Fifth United States cavalry, comprising troops A, B, C, and D, and a machine gun platoon were ordered from Fort Sheridan to Fort Smith, Ark., yesterday to maintain order in the Hartford valley coal strike district.

The order came from Secretary of War Garrison. It removes practically every available soldier at the post, since the garison was denuded of men when troops were moved to the Mexican border. The cavalry and machine gun platoon will entrain at the Northwestern depot at Fort Sheridan this afternoon.

Fort Root Troops Ready.

Troops at forts in the south also are being held in readiness for departure to the troubled region.

The force will be commanded by Maj. Nathaniel F. McClure, whose work in charge of the federal soldiers in the Colorado mine fields was commended by the war department. Capt. C. B. Taylor commands the Fort Sheridan contingent.

"We have reached the conclusion that it is impracticable to enforce the law and the orders of the United States court in Arkansas by any other means. The court had appointed a receiver for the coal mines.

Men Forcibly Released.

"The mines were blown up and the men arrested charged with the crime, were forcibly released from the custody of the United States marshal by their friends. The United States court was unable to enforce its processes.

"The troops will not undertake to serve and processes; they will confine themselves to making it possible for the civil officers to perform their functions."

JUDGE SEES END OF RIOTS.

Fort Smith, Ark., Nov. 3.—Federal Judge Frank Youmans said he believed the sending of federal troops into the Hartford valley would quell completely the disturbances among the miners that culminated last Thursday in the "shooting up" of the Bache-Denman mining camp at Prairie Creek and the destruction by fire of six houses.

R. B. Hull, special agent of the department of justice, who has been here several weeks making an investigation, said that following the battle and running off of special deputies and employés at the Prairie Creek mines last Thursday, and the forcible taking of prisoners from Deputy Marshal T. N. Black Saturday night, he had recommended to the department of justice the sending of federal troops.

ALLIES' WAR WITH OTTOMAN EMPIRE IS ON IN EARNEST

SERVIA JOINS IN STRIFE

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 3.—All hope of peace between the allies and Turkey appears to have vanished.

The British have bombarded and destroyed the Turkish barracks of Akabah, on the Turco-Egyptian frontier; 15,000 Turkish troops already are in Egypt; 200,000 more are marching on Russia and, according to a Constantinople dispatch, have engaged and repulsed some of the czar's soldiers.

Servia has severed diplomatic relations with Germany's new ally. The ambassador at Constantinople has asked for his passports and will leave for his home country immediately.

Russia to Expel Turks.

The Petrograd authorities have begun the registration and arrest of all Turkish subjects. This measure is taken previous to their expulsion, which will take place this week.

It is feared in some quarters that foreigners in Turkey may be roughly handled before being permitted to depart for home or neutral points.

Conservative Turks Fail.

All efforts of the grand vizier to prevent the young Turks from dragging their country into the war have failed.

Russia has replied to Turkey's apology for the raids of its navy in the Black sea with the fateful words, "Too late." So far as Russia is concerned, a state of war with Turkey actually exists.

With Great Britain's activities today and with France ready to aid, all hope here for peace has been abandoned.

Fall of Akabah Only Start.

The fall of Akabah marks the real beginning of the allies' war with Turkey. It was at this point that Turkish cavalry patrols were reported yesterday preparatory to moving into Egypt. The soldiers were under Germans serving as quasi-Turks, and, British officials say, there was no course but to open hostilities.

This engagement doubtless will be followed quickly by others in Egypt, while the former German cruisers, Goeben and Breslau, are likely soon to be heard from in the Black sea and elsewhere. Great Britain has long anticipated such a contingency and has made preparations to check an invasion of Egypt.

German Officers for Turkey.

Meanwhile it is announced that Germany has been pouring officers and men into Turkey. Many of them speak Turkish and will command Turkish detachments equipped with modern weapons, which the Germans are said to have supplied.

A dispatch reaching London today from Constantinople says that several hundred more German officers have just arrived, though a majority of them. It is asserted, are familiar with the Turkish army organization, having been employed at the Ottoman capital before.

Turk Troops on Move.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—Reports reaching Berlin from Athens declare that 15,000 Turkish troops already are in Egypt, and that the Turkish soldiers marching against Russia are alleged to number 800,000.

The foregoing information was given to the press in Berlin today.

The Mattino, published in Rome, says it has received reports from Egypt to the effect that the sentiment of the local population is strongly anti-British and that the Indian troops in Egypt sympathize with the natives.

Turkey has pledged its word not to attempt an Islamic movement in Libya, and therefore there is no cause for Italian uneasiness regarding Tripoli.

ALLIES' SUBJECTS DETAINED.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—The Turkish minister of war ordered detained a special train bearing British and French subjects from Turkey which Ambassador Morgenthau had arranged on Sunday to leave Constantinople.

The minister of war declared that until Turkish subjects in Egypt as well as England and France were given assurances of protection and permitted to leave the country, all British and French subjects would be held in Turkey.

Ambassador, Morgenthau cabled the American government that before the British ambassador left he had given Mr. Morgenthau assurances that all Turkish subjects in the British empire would be permitted to leave.

Two Turk Vessels Sunk.

Mr. Morgenthau's latest dispatch, dated 5 p. m. Sunday, said he had been informed by a member of the Ottoman cabinet of the sinking of two Turkish vessels by the British fleet in the port of Smyrna and of the crossing of Russian troops on the frontier.

The cablegram from the American ambassador revealed that the British, French, and Russian ambassadors finally got away from Constantinople on a special train at 12 o'clock midnight Sunday.

Summary of News in Day's Warfare.

The apology of Turkey for the assaults of its fleet on Russian ports on the Black sea has not accomplished its purpose. Both Russia and Great Britain have undertaken active military measures against Turkey and hostilities have begun on the Red sea.

Fighting is reported between Russian and Turkish troops near Trebizond; a British cruiser has shelled and occupied the Turkish fortified town of Akabah, on the Red sea, in Arabia; it is announced in a news dispatch that Emperor Nicholas has ordered his Caucasion army to cross the frontier and attack the Turks; the Turkish ambassador has left the Russian capital, and the Russian foreign minister has replied to the porte that negotiations are impossible.

A report from Valparaiso tells of a German sea victory off the Chilean coast. One British cruiser was sunk and two damaged, while five German cruisers escaped unscathed. The British admiralty reported the loss of a submarine in the North sea.

Flanders still shows a continuance of hard fighting, always attended with heavy losses on both sides, as the allies maintain their apparently successful resistance to the German efforts to advance toward French ports on the English channel.

The French official announcement said that the Germans evidently had abandoned the left bank of the Yser below Dixmude and that the allies had taken possession of points on the river where crossings could be made.

The North sea has been entirely closed to shipping. All vessels must now go through the English channel. "Americans and friendly aliens" may not board steamers at Queenstown. They must go instead to Liverpool. This may be an indication that the British authorities contemplate closing the southern entrance to the Irish sea.

The Mohammedans of Beluchistan in a meeting held at Quetta, India, have informed the British government that it can rely on their fidelity.

BRITONS SEIZE ARABIAN CITY

YANKEE AIDS GERMANS

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The fortified town of Akabah, in Arabia, on an arm of the Red sea, has been shelled and occupied by the British cruiser Minerva.

There was some loss to the troops holding the position, but no British casualties.

Statement Made by Admiralty.

The admiralty announced this occurrence as follows:

"Upon arriving at Akabah the cruiser Minerva, Capt. Percival Warleigh, found the place occupied by soldiers and armed natives. One of the soldiers had the appearance of a German officer.

"The Minerva then shelled the port and the troops. The town was evacuated, and landing parties from the Minerva proceeded to destroy the forts, the barracks, the postoffice, and the stores.

"There was some loss to the enemy, but no British casualties."

A telegram dated Nov. 2 was received today by the official press bureau from the British consul at Mohammerah, Persia, stating that the consul at Basra, Asiatic Turkey, and a number of British merchants were being detained by the Turks.

Yankees Guad German Consul.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—The German consul at Tabriz, Persia, was assaulted and took refuge in the American consulate with other German subjects, according to a message to the American government late today from Minister Caldwell at Teheran.

American Consul Paddock at Tabris is extending temporary refuge and protection to the German subjects, but the Russians in Persia are threatening to arrest and expel all Germans.

The Persian authorities have gathered up the archives of the Turkish consulate at Tabris and sent them to Petrograd.

STEWART-RICHARDSON HURT.

British Captain Who Is Husband of Famous Dancer Is Reported as Wounded.

London, Nov. 3—In a casualty list issued tonight Capt. Sir E. A. Stewart-Richardson of the Black Watch regiment and husband of Lady Constance MacKenzie Richardson, the dancer, is mentioned among the wounded.

BRUSH IN NORTH SEA.

BULLETIN.

DOVER, via London, Nov. 4, 12:35 a. m.—The report is being circulated that the German fleet has come out from its base. It is also reported from Dunkirk that four battleships and four cruisers have put to sea from Kiel.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The secretary of the admiralty announces that a combined British and French squadron bombarded the Dardanelles forts at long range at daybreak this morning.

The forts replied, but no ships were hit, only one shot falling alongside them.

The statement adds that the damage to the forts cannot be estimated, but that a great explosion, accompanied by dense volumes of black smoke, occurred at the Holles fort.

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Heavy firing was heard today off the Norfolk and Suffolk coasts. It lasted for half an hour and was clearly heard at Yarmouth, Lowestoft, Mundelsey, Golleston, and other coast villages. The firing apparently was at a distance of ten miles or more.

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

VALPARAISO, Chile, Nov. 3.—A squadron of five German warships, under command of Admiral Graf von Snee, on Sunday evening met a British flotilla of four ships, sunk one, set fire to another, badly damaged a third, and, due to darkness, was unable to prevent the escape of the fourth.

The Gneisenau, Scharnhorst, Nurnberg, Leipsic, and Dresden, which have been scouring the seas for merchantmen belonging to the allied nations, formed a junction when they learned the British warships were pursuing them.

Fight as Darkness Falls.

The rival warships met off Caronel on Sunday just before dusk. For half an hour the rival squadrons fought. The German marksmanship was deadly, and the cruiser Monmouth, with all on board, went down. The cruiser Good Hope was badly damaged and set on fire. Its fate is unknown.

The cruiser Glasgow, which was partially wrecked, took refuge in Caronel harbor and is now bottled up. The cruiser Otranto escaped.

Von Snee Tells of Battle.

"On Sunday, Nov. 1, between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening, during a heavy rain and rough weather off Coronel, we sighted the British men-of-war Good Hope, Monmouth, and Glasgow and the armored cruiser Otranto.

"An engagement ensued immediately. All the ships opened a brisk cannonade with all their guns. The Monmouth was sunk and the Good Hope, after a great explosion on board, took fire. Its subsequent fate is unknown owing to darkness having set in.

"The Glasgow and the Otranto also were damaged, but the darkness prevented our obtaining knowledge of the extent of it.

"Our ships were not damaged. The Gneisenau had six men wounded."

The German warships will take on board coal and provisions and leave tomorrow morning.

Under Craddock's Command.

The British cruisers Good Hope, Monmouth, Otranto, and Glasgow were under command of Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Craddock and had been searching the coast of South America for several weeks with the object of engaging the German cruisers which had been destroying British merchant vessels.

The British cruiser Monmouth was 440 feet long and 66 feet beam, and of 9,800 tons displacement. It carried fourteen 6 inch guns, eight 3 inch guns, three 3 pounders, and was fitted with two 18 inch

The Good Hope was the flagship of the squadron. It was 500 feet long, 71 feet beam, and displaced 14,100 tons. Its armament consisted of two 9.2 inch guns, sixteen 6 inch guns, fourteen 3 inch guns three 3 pounders, and two 18 inch torpedo tubes. It had a complement of 900. The Good Hope was built thirteen years ago.

The Glasgow was built in 1909, was 430 feet long, 47 feet beam, and displaced 4,280 tons. It had a complement of 376 men. Its armament consisted of two 6 inch guns and ten 4 inch guns. It was equipped with two 18 inch torpedo tubes.

German Cruisers Built in 1906.

The German armored cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau are sister ships of 11,600 tons. Both were built in 1906 and are 440 feet long on the water line. Each has a complement of 765 men. Each of the two vessels carries eight 8.2 inch and six 6 inch guns, twenty 24 pounders, and four machine guns. Each has four torpedo tubes.

The Nurnberg is a small cruiser of 3,540 tons and carries a complement of 295 men. It has ten 4.1 inch guns, eight 5 pounders, four machine guns, and two torpedo tubes.

The Dresden and the Leipsic are small cruisers. The Dresden is of 3,600 tons and the Leipsic of 3,250 tons. They have respectively complements of 321 and 286 men.

The Dresden carries ten 4.1 inch, eight 5 pounders, and four machine guns and two torpedo tubes, while the armament of the Leipsic consisted of ten 4.1 inch, ten 1 pounders, four machine guns, and two torpedo tubes.

Monmouth Crew Is Lost.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 3.—All hands are reported to have perished when the British cruiser Monmouth took its plunge beneath the sea after thirty minutes of fighting with the Germans of Coronel, according to advices received here.

The battle was terrific while it lasted. As darkness gathered the Good Hope seemed to be on fire following a terrific burst of flame, which seemed to indicate that an explosion had occurred on board.

The Glasgow is reported to have arrived in a bad condition in Coronel bay. The Otranto escaped to Puerto Montt.

British Submarine Sunk.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The British submarine D-5 was sunk in the North sea early this morning by a mine which was thrown out by a German cruiser retreating before British cruisers. Two officers and two men of the sixty on board were saved.

The admiralty report says a German squadron fired on the British gunboat Halcyon, which was patrolling, wounding one man.

"Various naval movements were made," the report continues, "as a result of which the Germans retreated rapidly, and although shadowed by the light cruisers, they could not be brought into a sea action.

"The rearmost German cruiser in its retirement threw out a number of mines, and the submarine was sunk by one of these."

Von Bernstorff Gets News.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, announced at midnight the receipt of a message from the German minister to Chile saying that with the loss of only three men five German cruisers fought a battle last Sunday off Coronel, Chile, with four British ships. The British embassy had received no report of the battle.

RUSSIANS HOLD POSITIONS INSIDE EAST PRUSSIA LINE.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The news from the eastern arena of war today indicates that the Russian right wing, which rests on the frontier of East Prussia, has been sustaining determined attacks from the Germans.

The Star publishes a dispatch from its Petrograd correspondent, dated Nov. 3, in which he says that the Russians are now securely established inside the East Prussian frontier.

Meanwhile the Austrians, hundreds of miles away, still threaten the Russian left wing. Reports of the fall of Przemysl are declared by Petrograd to be premature and due to the capture of 4,000 men of the Przemysl garrison, together with a large amount of arms and equipment, when a sortie was attempted.

FIND GERM WHICH SPREADS GANGRENE ON BATTLEFIELD

PARIS, Nov. 3.—A microbe causing gangrene to develop in bullet and shrapnel wounds has been discovered by Drs. James Scarlett and Georges Desjardins of the American ambulance service.

Previously initial cultures all were impure, leading to the belief of scientists that the disease was caused not by a single germ, but by a combination of germs. After much research and experimentation on horses and guinea pigs a single bacillus has been discovered and isolated and the serum is now being prepared by Dr. Henri Weisberg of the Pasteur institute.

The discovery is expected in medical circles to have world-wide importance. The serum is being injected into patients on the battlefields in the early stages of infection, obviating amputations and preventing a great loss of life.

KING ALBERT AND POINCARE GERMAN AVIATOR'S TARGET.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—A Central News dispatch from northern France under date of Monday says that a German airman, skimming 5,000 feet above the Belgian town of Furnes, apparently with the knowledge that King Albert and President Poincare were going to review the cavalry drawn up before the Hotel de Villa, dropped several bombs, which, however, missed the square and did but slight damage a short distance away.

The king of Belgium and the president of France arrived on the scene after the craft had disappeared.

Starts for U. S.; Dies of Joy.

Butler, Pa., Nov. 3.—Overjoyed when he was able to get passage back to the United States after having been marooned in the European war zone for months, Joseph Schlicht, 75, a local business man, died on shipboard at Rotterdam on Oct. 16, according to a cable received here yesterday. Heart trouble was the cause.

GERMANS DRIVEN FROM POSITIONS UPON YSER RIVER

Left Bank of Stream to South of Dixmude Reported Cleared of All Enemies.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—The Germans resumed their bombardment of Reims with great violence on Sunday and Monday, according to a dispatch to the Temps from Bordeaux.

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The German troops which for weeks have been attempting to break the line of the allies drawn up on the west bank of the Yser river in Belgium seem to have failed of their purpose.

Official statements issued by the French and Belgian war chiefs today said the whole of the left bank of the Yser to the south of Dixmude has been cleared of the enemy. The allied troops have advanced and prepared for crossing the river at many points.

The Belgian statement says that the allies have found evidence that the retreat of the Germans was precipitate. The Germans were forced, this statement says, to abandon many dead and wounded.

Says Germans Lost 30,000.

"The enemy has fallen back toward the east, abandoning his dead and wounded. Our advance forces, which moved toward the Yser, are finding everywhere signs of a precipitate retreat.

"A German officer confesses that the enemy lost 30,000 men, of whom 10,000 were killed.

"Our troops have delivered attacks between Dixmude and Noordschoote. Between Dixschoote and Zonnebeke the situation is unchanged.

"After violent fighting between Zonnebeke and the Lys the allies maintained their positions except in the environs of Massines, and at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon successfully resumed the offensive. To the south of the River Lys no important fighting is reported."

Other Successes Reported.

Other advances made by the allies are described in the French official statement as follows:

"In the region to the north of the Lys, in spite of determined attacks by the Germans in considerable force, our front was everywhere maintained or reëstablished by the end of the day.

"Fresh attacks by the Germans on the environs of Arras and against Lihons and Le Quesnoy-en-Santerre resulted in failures.

"On the center, in the region of the Aisne, to the east of the forest of Aigue, we have made some progress. To the east of Vailly, according to the latest news, those of our troops who held the positions on the slopes of the plateaus to the north of the villages of Chavonne and Soupir, had been compelled to draw back into the valley to the east of this location. We have maintained our positions at Amont on the right bank of the river.

"Further efforts on the part of the Germans in the forest of Argonne have been checked. We have continued to make progress to the northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, and on our right wing there have been some engagements favorable to our arms along the river Seille."

Will Attack Further South.

The tumult of battle has rolled back from the Belgium coast, and, after the apparent failure of their fierce assault on the English and Belgian lines around Ypres, the Germans evidently are diverting their attack toward a more southerly point.

Much activity on the part of the German mobile columns is reported from Belgium, and there is evidence that the invaders have not yet exhausted all the resources which are being brought to bear in the campaign to cut their way through to Calais.

The tremendous German assault at Ypres is believed by London observers to have been repulsed decisively. But this has been at terrible cost to the flower of the British army, which apparently has suffered as severely as did the Belgian forces which bore the first brunt of the seacoast battle.

Must Reach Decision Soon.

The fighting wall of West Flanders now has assumed a stage where the invaders, military observers say, soon must begin to fall back on intrenched positions unless some progress be made. No man, however, can predict how many more troops the German emperor's commanders stand ready yet to sacrifice in an endeavor to accomplish what is said to be his majesty's supreme wish—to get to Calais.

Some dispatches say that the emperor himself has been with the troops recently in their assaults in the vicinity of Ypres. Others say he is coming soon. Whichever is correct, both the Berlin and Paris official communications reflect the extremities to which the opposing forces have gone in their battle for the coast.

DUNNE CHEERS LAME GIRL.

Sends Money and Name of Physician Who Operated on Governor's Afflicted Daughter.

A letter containing money for fruit and flowers and the name of the surgeon who performed a remarkable operation on Jeanette Dunne, daughter of Gov. Dunne, is on its way to a little crippled girl in Kansas City, Mo. The letter was sent yesterday by Gov. Dunne in answer to a letter from the girl.

"I cry every day cause I can't walk and can't go outside like other little girls," the letter read. "But I pray every day, too. I am not as fortunate as your little girl, because I haven't got a good papa. My papa don't like me and, what is more, I have no friends. Not one that really and tuly cares for me. If you please, Mr. Governor, won't you please send me the name of the doctor that cured your little girl and where I can see him? Maybe he can help me, too."

Gov. Dunne told her that his own little girl is not yet entirely cured, but gave her many helpful suggestions to cheer her.

BRITONS PRAISE VALOR OF ENEMY

DEPICTS BIG BATTLE.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Another account from the battle front in France and Belgium, written as previously by Cole D. Swinton of the intelligence department of the British general staff, was given out today by the official press bureau. It bears the date of Oct. 26 and deals with the fighting on the Franco-Belgian border.

"On Wednesday, Oct. 21, the new German formations again pressed forward in force vigorously all along our line," the statement says. "On our right, south of the Lys, an attack on our lines was repulsed with loss to the assailants. On the other hand, we were driven from some ground to the north, but regained it by a counter attack.

"Still further to the north the Germans gained and retained some points. Their casualties to the southeast of Armentieres were estimated at 6,000.

Fighting at La Gheir.

"On the north of the Lys, in our center, a fiercely contested action took place near La Gheir, which village was captured in the morning by the enemy and then retaken by us. In this direction the German casualties were extremely heavy. They came on with the greatest bravery in swarms, only to be swept away by our fire. One battalion of their One Hundred and Fourth regiment was practically wiped out, some 400 dead being picked up by us in our lines alone.

"Incidentally by our counter attack we took 130 prisoners and released some forty of our men who had been captured. It is agreeable to record that our men were well treated by their captors, who were Saxons, being placed in cellars for protection from the bombardment of our guns.

"On our left our troops advanced against the German Twenty-sixth reserve corps near Paaschendaele and were met by a determined counter offensive, which was driven back with great losses.

Ruse by Germans Fails.

"At night the Germans renewed their efforts unsuccessfully in this quarter. At one point they tried a ruse which no longer is new. As they came up in a solid line two deep they shouted out: 'Don't fire, we are the Coldstream Guards.' Our men, however, are getting used to tricks of this kind and the only result was that they allowed the enemy's infantry to approach quite close before they swept them down with magazine fire.

"Apart from the 400 dead found near our lines in the center, our patrols afterwards discovered some 300 dead further out in front of our left, killed by our artillery.

"Thursday, the 22d, saw a renewal of the pressure against us. We succeeded, however, in holding our ground in nearly every quarter. South of the Lys the enemy attacked from La Bassee and gained at Violainos and at another point, but their efforts against a third village were repulsed by artillery fire alone, the French and British guns working together effectively.

Retreating Force Wiped Out.

"On our left the 23d was a bad day for the Germans. Advancing in our turn we drove them from some of the trenches out of which they had turned us on the previous evening and captured 150 prisoners and released some of our men whom they had taken. As the Germans retreated our guns did great execution. They afterwards made five desperate assaults on our trenches, advancing in mass and singing 'Die Wacht am Rhein,' as they came on.

"Each assault was easily beaten back, our troops waiting until the enemy came within close range before they opened fire with their rifles and Maxims, causing terrible havoc in the solid masses.

"During the fighting in this quarter on the night of the 22d and the 23d, the German losses again were extremely heavy. We made over 600 prisoners and picked up 1,500 dead, killed on the latter day alone.

Lack of Training Shown.

"The troops to suffer so severely were of the Twenty-third corps, one of their new formations. Certainly the way their advance was conducted showed a lack of training and faults in leading which this almost superhuman bravery of the soldiers could not counterbalance. It was a holocaust.

"The spectacle of these devoted men chanting a national song as they marched to certain death was inspiring. It was at the same time pitiable, and if any proof be needed that untrained valor alone cannot gain the day in modern warfare the advance of the Twenty-third German corps on Oct. 23 most assuredly furnishes it.

"On Saturday, Oct. 24, the action on our right once more was confined to artillery except at night, when the Germans pressed on, only to be repulsed. In the center, near Armentieres, our troops withstood three separate attempts of the enemy to push forward, our guns coming into play with good effect. Against our left the German Twenty-seventh corps made a violent effort, but with no success.

British Take the Offensive.

"On Sunday, Oct. 25, it was our turn to take the offensive. This was carried out by a portion of our left wing, which advanced, gained some ground, and took two guns and eighty prisoners. In the center fighting was severe, though generally undecisive in result, and the troops in some places were engaged in hand to hand combat. Towards evening we captured 200 prisoners.

"Up to the night of Oct. 25, therefore, not only have we maintained our position against a great effort on the part of the enemy to break through to the west or to force us back, which was started on the 20th, but we have on our left passed the offensive. These six days, as may be gathered, have been spent by us in repelling a succession of desperate onslaughts.

"The struggle has been of the most severe and sanguinary nature. Though we have undoubtedly inflicted immense loss upon the enemy, they so far have been able to fill up the gaps in their ranks and to return to the charge, and we have suffered heavily ourselves."

Unconscious in Gas Filled Room.

Henry Rithus of 442 Sherman street, a metal polisher, was found unconscious in a gas filled room at his rooming house yesterday. A jet was opened, it is believed, accidentally.

Fall from Window Fatal.

Charles Schmidt, said to have relatives or friends in Oak Park, yesterday fell from a second story window at 418 North Lincoln street and was killed.

Live stock trade at Chicago yesterday showed almost complete recovery from the effects of quarantine orders issued Monday. Shippers were out of the trade, but packers lent their support and a good clearance of the receipts was effected, although buyers insisted upon a revision of prices that had been unduly inflated by the preceding day's conflicting reports.

Cows and heifers, which had been forced sharply higher by small packers and butchers laboring under the impression that receipts of live stock were to be stopped, were reduced largely 50c a hundred pounds. Bulls were also revised, selling at a reduction of 50c from Monday's best prices. Only a few beef steers were included in the arrivals and they cleared on a steady basis, while veal calves were unchanged at $9.65@10.00 for the bulk.

Hogs Lose Former Gains.

Hogs lost the appreciation enforced late Monday, selling 5@20c lower for the day, with tops at $7.55. Pigs felt the absence of eastern buying support more than any other class of live stock and sold 50c to $1.00 lower than on Monday.

Receipts of sheep and lambs fell far short of expectations and firmer prices were made, in spite of the fact that country buyers of feeding and breeding sheep and lambs had to stay out of the trade. Prime fat wethers reached $6.25 and yearlings sold up to $7.50. Lambs sold to packers at $8.50@8.60, prices that were 25c higher than big killers were willing to pay the preceding day.

Certain sections of the yards were closed to the trade while an army of government inspectors cleaned and disinfected them. Other portions will be closed from day to day until the entire district has been cleaned.

Movement at Chicago Yards.

Hog purchases for the day: Armour & Co., 5,100; Swift & Co., 3,500; Sulzberger & Sons, 600; Morris & Co., 800; Anglo-American, 2,000; Hammond, 2,200; Boyd-Lunham, 1,200; Roberts & Oake, 300; Western Packing company, 1,200; Miller & Hart, 700; Independent Packing company, 2,100; Brennan Packing company, 300; butchers, 1,000; total, 21,000; left over, 2,500.

Receipts were 4,500 cattle, 23,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep. There were no shipments, as stock cannot be sent out during the quarantine.

Receipts for Nov. 4 were estimated at 14,000 cattle, 22,000 hogs, and 20,000 sheep, against actual arrivals of 18,263 cattle, 30,769 hogs, and 41,493 sheep for Wednesday, Nov. 5, 1913.

WOMEN HEAR ADDRESS BY RED CROSS HEAD.

John J. O'Connor Impresses Upon Auditors Need for Immediate Aid for War Organization.

Seventy-five women leaders of the war relief organization, headed by Mrs. Arthur Atwell Small of 32 East Division street, were addressed yesterday by John J. O'Connor, director of the central division of the Red Cross, with headquarters in Chicago. The organization comprises 900 women, who sew clothing, hospital garments and bandages for the destitute women and children and the wounded men of the European war zone.

One of these leaders has a corps of sixteen Smith college girls, who are sewing on Red Cross work. She superintends them and furnishes them all the material.

Another of the leaders has engaged, out of her own means, a number of sewing women whom she keeps constantly busy on bandages and garments.

EX-CONVICT AT IT AGAIN.

Paroled Prisoner Caught After Chase When Leaving House with Supposed Loot.

Edward Marks, said by the police to be a paroled convict, was arrested yesterday by Motorcycle Policeman Henry Rauscher after a chase, in which the patrolman fired four shots at him. He is held for robbery.

Marks, the police said, had robbed the home of Otto Zabel, 1525 Diversey parkway, and was leaving the house with $100 worth of clothing and jewelry when he was seen by the policeman.

Suspecting the man was a burglar, Policeman Rauscher followed Marks on his motorcycle. At Green View avenue Rauscher abandoned the machine, pursued Marks through several yards to an alley, and captured him.

POULTRY ON FIRMER BASIS

Live Turkeys and Ducks Rise; Other Classes Unchanged.

BUTTER AND EGGS STEADY

Live turkeys sold at an advance of 1c a pound at Chicago yesterday and ducks were ½c higher. Other descriptions of live and iced poultry sold at former prices. Receipts were 4 cars and 1,275 coops, and an active trade was consummated.

Firmness pervaded the market for butter and eggs and recently advanced prices were rigidly enforced. Receipts were 7,727 tubs of butter and 5,986 cases of eggs. The demand was of general character and included fresh and cold storage products.

Potato receipts of 75 cars found an outlet at unchanged prices. Quality again averaged poor and the bulk of the day's business was transacted at 30@35c a bushel, with fancy potatoes selling up to 42c.

Fruits and green vegetables met with a moderate demand. There were liberal offerings and prices averaged lower.

URGES CLEARING HOUSES TO RETIRE CERTIFICATES.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Controller of the Currency Williams has undertaken to urge the clearing house associations of the larger cities of the country to retire all clearing house certificates before the federal reserve banks open for business on Nov. 16.

Recent reports to the controller indicate that about $50,000,000 of these certificates are outstanding.

Minneapolis reported certificates reduced to $200,000 and Chicago less than $15,000,000, but expressed the hope that these will be retired before the new system starts.

GARMENT FIRM INSOLVENT.

Creditors of Rosenblum & Lutz File Bankruptcy Petition—Liabilities Exceed $40,000.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States District court yesterday afternoon against Rosenblum & Lutz, 1236 South Halsted street, dealers in women's garments. Three creditors are named in the petition and their claims aggregate $2,202. The liabilities of the firm are said to be in excess of $40,000, while the assets amount to approximately $10,000. Judge Landis appointed the Central Trust company receiver for the concern.

HEAVY BUYING BY EXPORTERS

Grain Trade Accustomed to This Great Factor and Its Relation to Values.

COARSE GRAINS FIRMER.

Heavy buying of wheat by exporters continues to be the principal factor with which the trade has to deal and it is this influence which has most to do with the shaping of prices. Regardless of whether or not the receipts at primary points are steadily increasing and supplies at other sources appear to be growing larger, this buying on the part of foreign nations goes on and the amount of the grain purchased has now reached an enormous total.

The enlargement of the war zone in Europe therefore appears to shift more responsibilities on the United States as a base of food supplies, and for this reason the experts in the trade, as well as the laymen, find little consolation in the entire situation when they try to figure out what the price level will be a few months from now.

It is still to be demonstrated, however, that the developments in eastern Europe have made the situation more acute in the sense that it is to place a greater responsibility on this country.

Bulls Are Dissatisfied.

It is pointed out that exports from that section have been a missing quantity for some time owing to the closing of the passages from the Black sea, and the leading authorities say that it looks as if the new complications had put off for a long time any prospect of a resumption of exports from this important section of the world. Still, the possible developments of the near future may settle the status of the Dardanelles.

Bullishly inclined speculators, however, have manifested considerable dissatisfaction owing to the failure of the futures to show any positive responsiveness to Turkey's entrance into the war, a fact which has given the trade another fresh factor to consider, and thus far has been construed as an influence making for firmer prices. The action of the market on Monday reflected this by the sharp recovery in the face of a number of important contending influences.

Some close observers of conditions say that it can no longer be called a war wheat market. They say that prices are high, and will be higher, as a result of conditions brought about by the war, but the influences which ordinarily make prices are again dormant. Export takings continue enormous, but, as an illustration of how the trade can accustom itself to almost anything, the export sales of 1,000,000 bu a day bring little excitements, whereas, under ordinary circumstances, export takings of such an amount would cause a sharp bulge. There have been frequent days when prices have declined when export purchases have exceeded that amount.

Price Levels Uncertain.

As to how much grain and grain products this country eventually will be called on to furnish other countries as a result of the war, no one can do much more than guess at this time, as the censors have not been liberal with their information concerning the extent of damage done in the war zone. It can be assumed, nevertheless, that it has been enormous, not taking into consideration the tremendous loss of life, which deprives the agricultural districts of the chance of extensive rehabilitation for a long time to come.

It is estimated that France will find the necessity of importing at least 50,000,000 bu, Denmark will be compelled to import heavily of grain and feeding stuffs, and Germany and Austria will doubtless import huge quantities, their shortage being indicated by the fact that wheat is selling around $2.00 per bu in both countries. Australia will not be able to help England because of its short crop on account of drought.

Other Grains Sympathize.

In corn and oats the action of prices has been similar to that in wheat, with sentiment and underlying conditions much the same. A leading authority estimates the corn crop to be 2,706,000,000 bu, basing his conclusions on 3,000 replies to inquiries covering the corn states, indicating a total gain of about 30,000,000 bu.

Farm reserves are found to be light, as they refer to old corn, and it is the consensus of opinion that interior holders will not sell freely. Exporters are active buyers in both of these grains, with no sign of a curtailment of their operations.

Winnipeg was the only grain market open yesterday, but the trade was quiet, with prices steady to a shade lower. Wheat receipts were 409 cars, as compared with 868 last year. Receipts of oats were 155 cars, as compared with 189 a year ago. This market received 32 cars of barley against 51 a year ago, and 29 cars of flax, against 83 for the same day of 1914.

Answers to inquiries are based upon information which The Tribune believes reliable, fair, and unprejudiced, but beyond the exercise of care in securing such information The Tribune assumes no responsibility.

Inquiries must bear the signature and address of writer in order to receive attention. Answers thought to be of public interest will be published. If an answer is not of general interest it will be mailed provided stamp is inclosed for that purpose.

Bankers Life Assessment Policies.

F. W.: While reports of the Bankers Life company of Des Moines, published in insurance manuals, indicate that the old assessment policies will be kept in a class by themselves, which ultimately would necessitate an advance in rates, a letter from the auditor's department of the state of Iowa says that this is not the case. The letter says, "The old policyholders are not put in a class by themselves." It explains that many of these old policies will lapse and others will be exchanged for the new legal reserve policies, and that the great fund back of the decreasing number of old policies will furnish sufficient reserve for many years. Finally, "for the remaining few (if such exist) proper provision has been made by the new company." This means that when an increase in rates would become inevitable the remaining assessment policies will be carried at the expense of the legal reserve branch of the company instead of being compelled to carry themselves. According to this you are perfectly safe in continuing your old policies.

Wisconsin Farm Land Project.

L. A. H.: The Wisconsin Dairy and Agricultural company has obtained control of 22,000 acres of hardwood land in northern Wisconsin and plans to sell farms to settlers. The company has an authorized capital stock of $1,050,000, of which $350,000 is 6 per cent cumulative preferred. The stock is to be sold to finance the deal. The plan is to retire the preferred stock as the land is gradually paid for by settlers, finally leaving the common stockholders in possession of unsold lands and of mineral rights in the entire tract. This is a business venture rather than a savings investment.

Imperial Rolling Stock.

N. W.: The Imperial rolling stock bonds are car trust obligations guaranteed by the Canadian Northern railway. In the United States such securities usually rank ahead of mortgage bonds in practice, though not as a matter of legal right. The Imperial rolling stock bonds are 4½s and they formerly sold at par. There are nominal quotations for them at present on a 6 per cent basis. This would give prices from 90 down to 91½ for the issue of 1911, according to the maturity of the bonds, some being payable annually till 1921.

Brief Answers to Correspondents.

H. G. G., Aurora, Ill.: The Marquette Fire Insurance company has sold stock to the amount of $300,000 and has $800,000 surplus paid in. It will begin business as soon as the Illinois insurance department completes the examination of its records and issues a license. A purchase of shares would be a business venture, not a savings investment.

J. W.: Go to two or three reliable bond houses and ask them for their best bargains in gilt edged bonds. We will review their offerings if you wish.

THE POLICY OF THE CHICAGO TITLE AND TRUST COMPANY

in adhering to first mortgages on improved Chicago real estate as the safest investment for trust funds has been justified by the fall in price of other classes of securities.

It is worth the trouble of inspecting and valuating real estate to be assured that no impairment of the principal of trust funds can occur in troublous times.

It is worth while to have investments that fall due in three or five years so that frequent reviews of the security and general business situation may be made to determine whether it is best to collect and reinvest or extend time of payment.

Help Wanted with Investment.

ARE YOU THE MAN?

A corporation is about to be formed to manufacture and market by a new principle recently patented, a meritorious device for which there is a big demand, its durability being greater and cost of manufacturing much less than the present principle of manufacture. We can show that sufficient profitable orders can be had warranting such an enterprise.

We want to acquire the services of a man with brains, ability, and experience to act as Treasurer, who can invest $5,000 to $10,000. Also a practical electrician or electrical engineer, with manufacturing experience, qualified to manage and take full charge of the manufacturing department. Must be able to invest a like amount.

We can show the man who can measure up to the requirements who wants to connect with a worth while proposition, a real opportunity with a lucrative salary. All replies will be treated confidential. Dreamers, triflers, and curiosity seekers, don't answer. Address O 351, Tribune.

BUILDING MATERIAL.

USE FLEX-A-TILE SHINGLES OF Weather-Proof Asphalt if you want a roof that will lastingly resist the wear and tear of the elements and always retain its original beauty. A Flex-a-Tile roof is really inexpensive, when you consider its durability and the fact that it requires fewer shingles. You'll find the owner of every Flex-a-Tile roofed home entirely satisfied in every way. Flex-a-Tiles are built for satisfactory service because we doubly safeguard their quality by our own rigorous factory tests. All the materials used—the wool, the asphalt, the slate and gravel—are the finest procurable. Our facilities for manufacturing high grade roofing are unequaled—we know how because we have been at it for years and years. If you cannot obtain Flex-a-Tile Asphalt Shingles let us know. Phone Kedzie 2365. THE HEPPES CO., 1041 S. Kilbourne-av.

The Romance of Pussy Willow.

While the fleeting fancy of a Queen or famous beauty may sometimes make a fashion, yet occasionally a fabric is produced that wins leadership in Style and at the same time creates an entirely new field for its use. Such is Pussy Willow. It is adorable for dress, waist, lining or underwear.

This lovely Silk was primarily woven as a dress silk, and many were the beautiful designs in which it appeared.

Then the idea was conceived of making certain patterns typical of various countries. So the famous Mexican designs appeared, with their symbolic birds, flowers, the birds, the sun, the moon, and all the strange hieroglyphic devices so often associated with the early inhabitants of America—the Aztecs. Extremely clever adaptations of Chinese motifs were eventually added. One clever pattern after another was included, and it was certain the taste of every woman could be satisfied.

Patterns for Pussy Willow Garments.

In conjunction with this sale of Pussy Willow Taffeta, we are showing Ladies' Home Journal and McCall Patterns of Suits, Costumes, Dance Dresses, Waists and Skirts to be made of Pussy Willow Taffeta. So you can estimate the EXACT cost of your garment at the SAME TIME you buy the material.

Dainty in the Home.

In Vogue for Sashes.

Just the thing for Furs.

Beautiful Afternoon Costumes.

Results of two extra special transactions merged in a sale that brings savings of ⅓ to ½

After obtaining a wholesaler's surplus of fine domestic and imported fabrics, laces and trimmings, we arranged with our principal costume maker to convert these specially bought materials into garments of the latest styles. Since his season was practically at an end, the maker, also, quoted us a big price advantage—and we perfected most remarkable values in women's and misses'

Danse Frocks and Evening Gowns At $40 and $45

A LIMITED number of charming danse frocks and restaurant and evening gowns has just been received to be sold at these very special prices.

From the standpoint of original fashioning they are exceptional—from the standpoint of excellent workmanship they are more so.

Included are frocks and gowns of lovely diaphanous fabrics in black or white or in exquisite pastel colorings—frocks of Georgette crepes, silks and satins combined with chiffons and silken net—frocks with iridescent paillettes, opal colored beads, fringes or jet glitter—while others are of the airy fabrics weighted by bands of fur.

At the right is sketched a frock of satin veiled in Georgette crepe, which is threaded in gold. The surpliced sash is defined by a narrow band of fur, and a perfectly blended garland of roses is set at one side. The most delightfully original danse frock imaginable. $45.

Remember, these are but two of several original fashions in danse frocks and evening gowns in these groups priced at $40 and $45—offered simply to represent the many charming modes and the most unusual values at each price.

Fourth Floor, North Room.
